Salem will be host to the annual encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, June 21 to 24.

Bandon is to have a new cheese factory. It will be able to handle 15,000 pounds of milk daily.

Machines in the new $1,000,000 addition to the Oregon Pulp & Paper company's plant at Salem were put in operation last week.

J. F. Cramer, principal of the high school at Coquille, was elected to the superintendency of the Bandon schools and will take charge in September.

The state land board turned over $118,865.08 to the state treasurer during March, according to a report by George G. Brown, clerk of the board.

Fire which destroyed the girls' dormitory building at Klamath agency last week threatened to raze a large section of the Indian reservation settlement.

Marion county growers are reported gratified as a result of contracts already executed covering their loganberry and strawberry crops for the next two seasons.

Governor Patterson, in a proclamation issued in Salem, has urged the citizens of Oregon to co-operate in observing American Forest week, April 24 to 30, inclusive.

The season's first crate of asparagus was forwarded to Portland last (Continued on page 8)

INCREASING INTEREST IN NEW FORESTS

The national forestry department claims good progress is being made in providing for production of future crops of timber for lumber, paper, and pulp industries, but its campaign is being hindered by unstable forest policies in many timbered states. Many counties in the timbered states that desire to have tax-reverted lands put on the assessors' rolls are also partly responsible.

New York and Pennsylvania lead all eastern states with over three million acres under reforestation, and are adding to the areas devoted to growing new timber crops.

Several western states are acquiring units of timberland in exchange for scattered school lands in national forests, and growing solid blocks of new timber, covering thousands of square miles.

In all the states there is increasing interest in renewing forest growth by federal, state, and private activities, and promotion of public measures, sound policies and removal of undue obstacles and handicaps.

Equitable taxation of timberland which taxes timber as a crop when harvested, instead of loading it with an annual tax, which in the aggregate confiscates the value of the trees, is being adopted in many states, and is an indispensable part of any permanent reforestation policy.

WILL PUT ON LATE SHOW

There will be a late show tomorrow night at the Liberty theatre after the Minstrel show at the high school. This has been arranged by manager Marchbank to accommodate those who want to attend both shows.

DRESS REHEARSAL NIGHT

This is dress rehearsal night for the Minstrel show to be given tomorrow night at the high school auditorium. If it goes as well as other practices the show will be well received. The heavy part of the interlocutor is taken by Fred Leihammer, local manager for the Standard Oil company. They say he is cut out for the part.

Bob Cooke, who is to put on a solo skit wants it understood that he does not sing and isn't going to try to.

The proceeds of the show will go to several community enterprises.

Animal 25%, Showmanship 25% Herdsmanship 25%, Record Book 25%.

The above award will be subject to the following conditions:

Competition is open to grade or purebred Jersey females. Purebred animals must be registered in the name of the club member showing, with the American Jersey Cattle Club, at least 30 days prior to the opening of the State Fair. All fitting and caring for the animal both prior to and during the State Fair must be done by the club member and violations of this rule will disqualify members from competition. He is putting in a stock of harness repair parts and will be able to handle any kind of leather mending.

Needham will make a valuable addition to the Estacada band, which he has entered. He is an accomplished musician, having played with the seventh infantry band for two years.

PARKER PROVES RUN-OUT

The red hot match promised between W. E. Parker and Bill Thornton went sizzling into cold water, when, after the fans had been assembled and the preliminaries were on, Manager Marchbank found out by phone that the strong man of the LaDee camp wouldn't come down off the hill. Bennie Blaisdell of Eagle Creek volunteered to stop the gap, and succeeded in pleasing the fans with an exhibition bout.

Bill Thornton was in good shape. He wanted action. Blaisdell was not able to give him enough so he included the referee in his embrace a couple of times and had two men down. He looked as though he could have made it three just as well.

But at that there was a red hot match pulled in the preliminaries. Two incogs, one from Portland and the other from Oregon City, put on a thirty minute draw that was a hum-dinger.

A challenge by letter has been received from Wild Bill Donovan, who bested Thornton two weeks ago at the Liberty. He will train down to 180 pounds and will meet Thornton who claimed that Donovan defeated him through weight and because Thornton was out of condition that night. The match has been arranged by Mr. Marchbank for Tuesday, April 19.

This is a water power and irrigation picture and is said to be very fine. Co-operation, such as is offered by Mr. Marchbank is very much appreciated by members of the forest service.

Walt Van Curen has a small crew out on maintenance of trails and telephones. The work is heavier than usual, owing to the heavy winds last fall throwing many trees and snags across the trails.

HELEN PERRY WINS SECOND FOR ESTACADA

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, April 7—An account of the Oregon Agricultural College educational exposition written by Helen Perry, of Estacada and printed in the Eastern Clackamas News, has placed second in the contest for the best news story written by a delegate.

First place in the contest, conducted by the Oregon State chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, was accorded a story by W. F. Turnbow, Jr., published in the Tech Pep of the Benson Polytechnic school, Portland. He wins a silver loving cup given by the Corvallis Chamber of Commerce.

More and better stories of the exposition appeared this year than ever before since the contest was started, according to the judges. The winning story and several others were equal in most respects to many written by professionals, they said. Judgment was based on the ability of the writer to give an accurate and readable account of the exposition and the city of Corvallis, without regard to his views of the event.

Gets Chance at League Ball

EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT
AT OAK GROVE NOT WELL ATTENDED

The meeting of the Greater Union of clubs of Clackamas County, held at Oak Grove last Thursday evening, while not so largely attended as usual, was nevertheless an interesting one.

The chief speaker was Judge Jacob Kanzler of Portland, who spoke on co-operation. He scored the "organized force" which was responsible for the run on the Northwestern National bank which brought about its ruin. He pointed out the success of the union of clubs in bringing about a friendly feeling between the country and city populations of this county.

The proposed permit submitted to the Portland Electric Power company by the federal power commission and the forest service was read. A committee to study its provisions was appointed, of which A. G. Ames of Estacada, is chairman.

A rerouting of rural mail service in some sections of the county was proposed.

A splendid meal and entertainment was furnished by the Oak Grove folks. A feature of the evening was the music by the Parkplace orchestra.

The Eastern Clackamas Club invited the organization to meet at Estacada for the annual meeting July 10.

TO BOOST THE CLACKAMAS RIVER

The committee appointed by Paul Mumpower, chairman, met last night at Carver to consider ways and means of effecting a permanent organization for promoting the interest of the people in the Clackamas river valley. The groundwork for a very constructive program was laid and plans for a public meeting for April 22nd, were made. Portland newspaper men were present and promised co-operation in securing Sunday supplement news advertising the attractions of the valley for summer tourists. The meeting indicated that the men behind the movement are out to accomplish some substantial results.

Ames will conduct his plumbing and sheet metal business as usual from the new location.

PLANT SALE APRIL 15

The Clackamas Valley Garden Club will have a plant sale the afternoon of April 16 at the Broadway Garage. The plants will be sold very reasonable, thus giving everyone a chance to get new varieties at a small cost.

Anyone having a surplus of any kind of plant, and who wants to help the Garden club can do so by leaving their plants at the garage any time during the Friday before the sale or Saturday morning.

The Clackamas Journal, of Salem, will soon erect a modern business block at the corner of Liberty and Chemeketa Streets.
