SPECIAL AWARDS PLANNED FOR FAIR

Mrs. A. H. Knight in Charge of Floral Department

Not only will there be special prizes offered in the livestock, poultry, Boys' and Girls' departments at the 1927 Clackamas County fair, but also in the domestic science and floral departments.

The superintendents of the domestic science and floral departments, Mrs. A. H. Knight of Canby, and Avon Jesse of Barlow, have succeeded in securing special prizes that will be the means of interesting many to exhibit this year.

The Canby State bank is to give a cash prize for the best individual exhibit of preserves.

For the best canned vegetables the Canby First National bank will give a cash prize of $2.00.

For the best four jars of canned fish Carlton & Rosenkrans Company, of Canby, will give an aluminum dish. For the best canned fruit exhibit J. R. Vineyard's store at Canby will give a dozen quart jars, winner to select the jars.

The Northwest Nurseries Company will give a bulb valued at $2.50 for the best assortment of Jellies and Jams, six each, no two alike.

This company will also give tulip bulbs, valued at $2.50 for the best assortment of preserves, at least six varieties, winner's choice.

There will be a prize of $5. for the best canned fruit display, the second prize being $2.50. Other prizes are offered in this department for canned fruit, jellies, fish, bread, butter, cakes, pies and cookies.

According to Mr. Jesse the floral display this year will be given better and larger than that of last year and added space will be necessary. This is to be provided by the flooring of the opening heretofore used as skylight for the first floor. New lights are to be installed on that floor so that the needed space is provided for the floor and other booths on the second floor.

This year it will be necessary that all flowers, to be entered for prizes be in their places by midnight preceding the fair, and that all exhibitors must grow the flowers themselves, which they are to enter.

A special prize of $7.50 will be given to the garden club in the county for the best exhibit of flowers, not less than 30 named varieties, the second prize to be $5.00.

The first prize for the best display of cut flowers by an amateur will be $5.; second, $3.; and third, $2.

There will be a special prize for the best display of gladioli to be made by a florist or commercial grower. This will be $7.50, the second prize to be $5.

Other special prizes will be given in this department.

There will be many new attractions at the county fair this year. Among these will be polo games between the Portland Hunt club and the Seventh United States Infantry team of Vancouver Barracks, two of the outstanding polo teams of the Northwest.

Another new attraction will be the whippet races on the race track.

Portland day will be one of the days scheduled, and on that day there will be the whippet race and polo game, although there will be these features on other days of the fair.—Oregon City Courier.

FORMER RESIDENTS OF NORTH DAKOTA TO PICNIC AUG. 14

The fourth annual gathering of former residents of North Dakota will be held at Silverton again this year Sunday, August 14. A record attendance is expected at the number present last year was approximately seven hundred.

The Silverton city park is an ideal place for the gathering, as there is plenty of room, lots of shade trees and tables upon which to spread the picnic lunches. There is also a splendid swimming place and a life guard is on hand to look after the safety of the swimmers. This feature is a great attraction to the young people.

A short program has been arranged, but most of the time will be spent in renewing old acquaintanceships and in making new friends.

All former residents of North Dakota are invited and urged to come and they should bring well filled baskets and be prepared to have a good time. Hot coffee in abundance will be served by a committee from the state organization.

Weekly County Agent News

By John J. Inskeep, County Agent

C. L. Long, Extension Horticulturist of the Oregon Agricultural College will direct dusting demonstrations in the prune orchards of John Davis, Carus and A. W. Botkin, Estacada, August 9th and 10th respectively.

These meetings are called for 6 a. m. At this hour the air is still and the dust more easily applied. One-half acre in each orchard in the Davis and Botkin orchard will be dusted with sulphur for control of brown rot in the prune crops. These treated plots will later be compared with trees receiving no dust.

A Clackamas County poultry raiser recently remarked that he could stay in the poultry business only so long as he could raise pullets. This was a logical conclusion. 1st. Complaints are now coming to the county agent's office of troubles with the 1927 pullet crop.

Many poultry raisers in order to keep early hatched pullets from coming into production too early, cut down on the amount of feed given to the birds. The most successful poultry raisers insist that the pullets enter the winter months in a fat thrifty condition, the fatter the better. Cutting down on the feed causes the birds to become thin and light and detracts from future usefulness.

If the flock is commencing to lay, the amount of animal protein in the mash may be diminished but in no case should the future layers be starved. There the protein is taken from the mash, bone meal prepared for chickens should be added. In some cases as high as 10% bone meal in the mash is desirable.

Many poultry flocks suffer from lack of green feed during July and August. Green feed is as essential in summer as in winter and birds forced to go without a sufficient amount are subject to colds, fail to gain in weight and are subject to diseases.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Canby are using grass for summer green feed. This crop furnished succulent green shoots during the hottest weather and in addition furnishes shade.

Twelve cows in the Clackamas Cow Testing Association were found to be unprofitable and disposed of and one cream separator was displaced by a new one according to the June report of A. M. Barger, tester and Clyde Ringo, secretary of the association.

Five hundred and twenty-nine cows representing twenty-five herds in Clackamas and Multnomah counties are under supervision of Mr. Barger. Each herd is visited once a month and the milk weighed and tested for one day. The other days the owner weighs the milk.

Members of the association receive valuable information from the association tester who recommends proper and economical rations for each herd according to the feed the owner has on hand.

The three high purebred herds for June were Jerseys belonging to W. F. Fischer, Boring, J. C. Kraft, Jr. Their herds produced an average of 42.7, 40.1, and 39.2 pounds of butter fat for each cow.

High grade herds belonged to Christ Kraft, Jerseys with 42 pounds fat; Be Nelson, Holsteins, 42 pounds fat and John Kraus, Holsteins with 39.3 pounds fat.

ENVYING THE LUCKY MAN

By Edgar A. Guest.

Had I worked as hard as he
Just as rich I now might be.
I had books I could have read
But I chose to play instead.
When in school I couldn't see
What my lessons meant to me,
But I wish I'd studied now
When the sweat is on my brow.

I could never rest content
Till my money all was spent.
Had I saved the same as he
Just as rich I now might be.
He went plodding on his way
Working hard from day to day.
Now I wish, as he rides by
That as nicely fixed were I.

It is useless to complain,
And to envy him is vain.
For the self-same chance which he
Found on earth was given to me—
What he studied hard to learn
I refused that way to earn.
Now it's very plainly seen
What he is, I might have been.

Call him lucky? Well, it's true,
Luck was ready for me, too.
But back then I couldn't see
Just what work would do for me,
Had I made it my concern
All I could in life to learn.
Had I worked and saved, then I
Might have caught luck's smiling eye.

LOGANBERRY GROWERS DISAPPOINTED

Juice Manufacturers Fail to Open Receiving Station; Ray Mailing Closes Until Pear Season

The negotiation with the juice manufacture company and the loganberry growers to establish a berry receiving station in Oregon City will not be carried out. The juice manufacturers can purchase berries that have laid over from last year cheaper.

Since the Ray Mailing canning company have stopped taking loganberries from the growers a great loss has been caused. The growers are disappointed and dissatisfied, thinking that it is not right that the market should be shut off.

Some berry growers immediately established business relations with the Libby, McNeil & Libby cannery in Portland that is taking all the berries. These growers are furnishing berries that were picked at the right time. Other berries that are too ripe are not taken by the cannery.

Those berry patches near Oregon City and on the highway are being picked by individuals and in that way the growers are selling what is left of their crop.

There will be a big demand for pears when that season opens the latter part of August as reported by people who are watching the fruit market. There seems to be a pear shortage in Washington and California and a great demand for Oregon pears. This will help to bring the fruit market up again.

Ray Mailing cannery will re-open its receiving station at Farr Bros. feed store at the beginning of the pear season in August.

Demonstration teams chosen by each club, will compete in their demonstration work to determine the best demonstration team in the county.

Entertainments of stunts are also being planned by the 4 H clubs to interest other children in their work.

A special girls' booth will be shown this year under the supervision of Mr. J. A. Humphrys. The girls will give demonstrations of sewing, cooking and canning.

During the entire four days the county boys and girls clubs will have booths and demonstrations in the big pavilion.

FARMERS HOLD MEETING AT GRESHAM

Blackberry Harvest is Now On; Farmers Busy

Blackberry harvest is now under way in the fields in this vicinity. A meeting was held at the canery in Gresham last Saturday by the growers to study the details of how to best handle the berries to get the best results, when the following conclusions were reached and instructions sent to all the growers:

"Pick over ripe berries in cannery crates for barreling. Pick in double-deck shipping crates only berries that are first class and not very ripe. Keep crates with fully ripe berries in separate stacks and mark on both ends of the crate above the hand hole F. R. and your scale number, also put your scale number, on all shipping crates. These crates that are marked F. R. for fully ripe will be used in local shipments as they will not carry in the long haul in eastern shipments. This is very important. Also be sure to fill the hallecks evenly and fill the crates to not less than 18 lbs. of berries. This is also very important and it was also decided to do the picking in the cool of the day, starting at 4:30 a. m. and if possible get the berries all picked by noon and delivered as soon as possible to the cannery. By doing this the berries will be cool and this will help them to keep longer in shipping.

"Be sure to keep the berries in the shade as soon as picked as they turned red if exposed to the sun. Use only four nails in a cover, one in each corner of the cover. Be sure to put the clients on the outside. Handle very carefully, and if you follow these instructions you will have done your part towards making a success of the shipping, and you will get a better price for your berries.—Gresham Outlook.

The twenty-first annual Multnomah County Fair opened at Gresham on August 2nd and will close the 7th. This year's fair should be the banner one of the entire twenty-one years. Ground improvements have been made to the extent of several thousands of dollars. Another new building, known as the Boys and Girls club building has been erected at a cost of $20,000. A grandstand has been placed on top of this building which will seat several thousand people and the race track has been entirely reconstructed and horsemen who tried out the track in conditioning their horses pronounced it one of the fastest tracks in the Northwest. Here is a chance to see some of the best races of the season.

$30,000 in premiums have been offered by the fair management to be divided among many exhibitors, including the livestock division with its horses, cattle, swine, goats and other entries in this section. This amount of premiums will bring best there is in the state out and one should not pass up the opportunity of seeing these entries. There are only three days left of the fair and they are the best days so let all go over and spend one day seeing the things that are worth seeing all collected in a mass and we are sure that everyone is going to get his moneys worth.

Edwin Bates attend the Annual Old Settlers Picnic held at Sandy last Sunday. Re meet a few people that he had not seen for about 46 years.

Mr. Pace buys his furniture direct from the factory and he therefore cuts out the middle mans profit. He received a shipment last Wednesday and we saw some mighty good furniture that can be bought at the right price.

THE EASTERN CLACKAMAS NEWS IS SOLD

THE NEWS, WHICH HAS CHANGED PUBLISHERS A NUMBER OF TIMES IN PAST 3 YEARS, WAS PURCHASED BY FRED L. HAYNES

After publishing the Eastern Clackamas News for the past three weeks for H. B. Snyder, of The Peoples Store, am proud to say that we have completed a deal whereby we have taken over Mr. Snyder's interest in the News and will have complete control of the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul, who have been publishing this paper for the past three months have returned to their former home in Seattle, Washington. They intend taking a months vacation on the sound where Mr. Paul's father has a camp and some time in September Mr. Paul will enter the airplane business where he will help assemble the machines.

Our predecessors have all published good newspapers but we are going to endeavor to publish a better one if it is possible to do so. We can have the best small town newspaper in the state if everyone that knows any news will tell it to us or call us on the phone and let us print it. We want country correspondents in every neighborhood around Estacada and will send them the paper free, and furnish them with paper and stamped envelopes to send their news in. If there is not a correspondent in your locality please call at this office and let us make arrangements to have you send us the news each week. This paper already has a good live bunch of neighborhood news gathers and we are proud of them and want them to continue as they have been doing.

It also takes a good deal of money to keep the paper going and the editor eating so we will have to have the support of every business man in Estacada and will help them to write an ad that has the best pulling power because we are vitally interested in this town now and want to see it grow and see its business men prosper. So let us get together and pull together and we are sure to forge ahead. The Newspaper needs your help and you need its help.

Of course we are in need of money at all times but at this time we are very badly in need of it as it is going to be hard for us to get started and make both ends meet and if there is anyone knowing themselves indebted to the paper will they please call and settle the same and let us get acquainted with you at the same time.

The Eastern Clackamas News will be known as a strictly Independent Newspaper giving every thing and everybody a fair and square deal and if at any time you think that we are not doing this tell us and explain why you think we are not and we will make it right.

You are welcome to come in and visit us and watch the machinery run at any time and we will do all that is in our power to make you feel at home and explain the workings of the machinery. We are

Yours Truly,
FRED L. HAYNES
Editor and Publisher.
