

The Traffic Officer It's a safe bet that the cars which step-out with the "go" signal are equipped with Champions—the better spark plug. If every car owner used Champions there would be fewer traffic jams.

Champion is the better spark plug because of its double-ribbed sili-manite core—its two-piece construction and its special analysis electrodes.

"TH' POOR SAP, HE'S GOIN' TO LOSE A GOOD FRIEND IF HE MARRIES HER!"

Mother's Cook Book

Make us meet what is, or is to be. With fervid welcome, knowing it is sent To serve us in some way full excellent Though we discern it all belatedly. —James Whitcomb Riley.

SOMETHING WE LIKE

A SALAD is at all meals a welcome part of the menu after the breakfast of the day.

Tomato Aspic.

Take two cupsful of stewed tomato to which a slice of onion has been added, with seasoning of salt. Boil 20 minutes and strain. Add two table-spoonfuls of gelatin dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water and add to the tomato. Such seasonings as bay leaf, celery and cayenne may be added to the tomato while cooking. If desired mold and serve when chilled on leaf lettuce with a highly seasoned salad dressing to which a half cupful of nuts has been added.

Browned Carrots.

Parboil small even-sized carrots and lay them well drained around the roast of mutton; baste often from the fat in the pan. Serve around the roast.

Wisconsin Cherry Duff.

Take two tablespoonfuls of sugar one-fourth of a cupful of butter, one-half cupful of sweet milk, one egg one-half cupful of flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and one cupful of sweet canned cherries. Serve with Cherry Sauce.

Take one cupful of the cherry juice, thicken with one teaspoonful of corn-starch, add one-third of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and a table-spoonful of butter just before serving. Flavor with a few drops of almond after the sauce has been well cooked.

Peach Betty.

Take the soft crumbs from the center of the loaf of bread. Mix with one-half cupful of butter to three cupfuls of crumbs. Put a layer of the buttered crumbs into a baking dish and lay over them a layer of sliced peaches; sprinkle with sugar, a grating of orange peel and bake one hour. Cover the dish during the first half hour, then remove and brown. Serve hot with cream and sugar.

HARD-WORKING LOAFERS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

YOU find them in the city squares, You find them in the village streets; They are the workers unawares, They are the sort that thinks it cheats An age-old rule—but with the sweat Of honest toil mankind must earn His bed and board, his living get By giving something in return.

There are so many things to do, Good things to make, good ways to serve, So many things to fashion true, To run the line, to draw the curve; But they would seek some other way To make their bread, without the toil Of these who give an honest day To desk or counter, bench or soil.

How hard they work, these workless ones, The frauds, the fakes, the parasites; They are so wise, the simpletons, That they forget the sleepless nights, The bumping maybe over rails, The weariness of idleness— For so the loafer always falls His toll to measure or confess.

He works his ten or twenty hours And pities him who labors eight; But we come home to garden flow'rs, And children laughing at the gate, Yet still the foolish fondly cling To that illusion, that they shirk— For some will work at anything, However hard, that isn't work. WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—Rosina Galli Had Passed Her Career Troubles.

AT THE age of twenty-one I had already graduated from the ballet school of the Milan opera; I had been seen by Gatti-Casazza, the director general of the Metropolitan Opera house, and engaged by him. At twenty-one I was already dancing at the Metropolitan as the premiere danseuse. So you see at twenty-one there was no turning point in my life. That came when I was seven. Then I was sitting in a box with my parents during a children's dancing competition that took place in a theater in Milan and during an intermission I escaped the vigilance of my mother, got onto the stage, and gave a solo dance for the audience. My impromptu effort won me the mayor's prize and began my career.—Rosina Galli.

TODAY—Miss Galli is one of the greatest interpretative dancers in the world. She has been premiere danseuse of the Metropolitan Opera house for a number of years. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SAWS

FOR THE GOOSE—

THE women that seems to get the most out of their husbands is the ones that complain and whine and gotta have this and that. But the good sports is the only ones that holds the respect of their children.

Rumors are like coins—the ones having the least value has the biggest circulation.

If your husband wants to leave you he'll find some excuse.

FOR THE GANDER—

Always bend back a woman's head when you kiss her.

And if she parts her lips, don't believe you're the first that ever bent it back.

You don't have to teach a woman nothing. Even if she never rode in a taxicab before, a girl has an instinct about them things. (Copyright.)

Find Throws Light on Old Times and Customs

Kitchen utensils of the Greeks and Romans of the Fourth century B. C., have just come to light at Canopus, near one of the mouths of the Nile, according to Prof. Ralph Van Deman Magoffin, president of the Archeological Institute of America. Excavation at a temple near this site has yielded up mementos or offerings left by thousands of pilgrims that make clear many phases of life in antiquity. The collections include many kitchen utensils and a nearly complete set of Greek and Roman weights. Many of them are tokens vowed by soldiers who hoped for success in war. "Some are sling shots," explained Doctor Magoffin, "while many are tiny replicas of the soldiers themselves on elephant or horseback. Grain baskets and camels seem to have been the favorite gifts from merchants; weights from looms are found in considerable numbers. Many of the pieces are unique, and their publication and exhibition will add much more to our growing knowledge of ancient times."

The Rarer Sort

Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, said at the Army and Navy club in Washington the other day:

"Young Colonel Lindbergh is remarkable for the nonmercenary character of his ambition. He's ambitious to do better and better work, but he cares nothing about money.

"Now most of us are like Jones. A man said to Jones one day:

"Jones, what would you do if you had $1,000,000?"

"Do?" said Jones. "Why, I'd do the same as anybody else would do, of course, I'd overwork myself into dyspeptic neurasthenia trying to make it $2,000,000."

Does Weakness Detract From Your Good Looks?

San Francisco, Calif.—"About two years ago I was weak and rundown in health. I suffered so much with backache and pain in my side, and did not get any relief until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A few bottles of the 'Prescription' was a permanent benefit to me and I am glad to recommend it to others for I believe it will do for them what it did for me."—Mrs. E. Webb, 1103 Laguna St.

Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your druggist, or write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Early Caterpillar Train

A Hampstead correspondent recalls that nearly 70 years ago he saw in Hyde park a trial of a military train of wagons loaded with soldiers dressed in fatigue jackets and drawn by a steam engine bearing the name India. This engine, he says, had and raised its own track, each "slipper" being apparently about 4 feet long, mounted, and revolving on rollers much like the modern caterpillar movement. The experiment, according to the London Post, appeared to aim at improved military transport, and the men hauled would probably number about 200 in eight wagons.

HOW MRS. WEAVER WAS HELPED

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

As Mrs. Weaver herself says, "I was never very strong."

This is a mild statement describing her condition, for, according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill-health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it. "After three or four weeks," writes Mrs. Weaver, "I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. LAWRENCE WEAVER, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you knew that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial? In some families, the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
