

Keep Your Butter Uniform and Hold Your Customers

Don't wait for your customers to complain about the variable color of your butter. Keep your butter that golden June color everybody likes by putting a few drops of Dandelion Butter Color into the churn. It is purely vegetable, wholesome and absolutely tasteless. It meets all State and National Food laws. All large creameries have used Dandelion Butter Color for years. It does not color or buttermilk. You can get the large bottles for 35c from all drug or grocery stores.

Chinese Wrecking Truck

The Chinese, say scholars, have contributed much to the ancient and modern world of art. Particularly have their dragons in gold and green and varied colors, embellished paintings and decorative motifs. But it remained for an East New York street garage owner, as far as could be ascertained, to place the Chinese dragon to practical use first. He has named his great, green wrecking truck, "The Green Dragon."

Slowing Up? You Can't Feel Well When Kidneys Act Sluggishly.

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, put extra burdens on the kidneys. When the kidneys slow up, impurities remain in the blood and are apt to make one languid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness and often nagging backache. A common warning is scanty or burning secretions. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

MICAH CHAMPIONS THE OPPRESSED

LESSON TEXT—Micah, chs. 2, 3 and 6. GOLDEN TEXT—What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God. PRIMARY TOPIC—What God Wants Us to Do. JUNIOR TOPIC—What God Requires of Us. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What God Requires of Us. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Prophetic Interpretation of Religion.

Micah prophesied during the reign of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, in Judah, but his message largely concerned Israel. He is called the prophet of the poor. He proclaimed impending doom upon the workers of unrighteousness and heralded the coming of the Messiah.

1. Evil Workers Denounced (2:1-3). 1. How they worked (v. 1). Their evil work was not a matter of impulse, but of deliberate purpose. (1) It was conceived in their mind. They gave themselves to the devising of wicked schemes. (2) They worked evil upon their beds. They used the quiet hours of the night while honest people were sleeping for planning ways to work out their schemes. (3) They executed their plans in the morning light. Having power to carry out their schemes, they did what their wicked minds devised. 2. What they do (v. 2). (1) They covet fields (v. 2). In this they violated the tenth commandment. (2) They violently take fields and houses. A covetous spirit will eventuate in such deeds unless restrained. (3) They oppress a man and his house (v. 2). By house is meant a man's descendants, the inheritors of his property. 3. Their punishment (v. 3). Against such evil doers God is devising a righteous retribution which will fall upon them with such weight as to humble them.

II. Upon Whom Judgment Shall Fall (3:1-12). 1. The unfaithful rulers (vv. 1-4). Because of love for the evil and hatred for the good the rulers mercilessly destroyed the people. 2. The false prophets (vv. 5-8). They served for hire. As long as supplied with food, they prophesied to please the people. 3. The judgment which is to fall (vv. 9-12). Jerusalem was destroyed because of the sins of the people. Just as the righteous retribution fell then, we can be assured that there will be no escape from the coming judgment for those who destroy the people.

III. God's Controversy (6:1-13) Wicked men may go on to a certain time with their schemes, but eventually the Lord's requirements shall be met. 1. The hills and the mountains called to bear witness against Israel (v. 2). The people had turned a deaf ear to God so that inanimate creation was called upon to witness against them. 2. The guilty party left to state the case (v. 3). The King of the universe abdicates His rights and allows His sinning people to make charges against Him. 3. God recounts His mercies unto the people (vv. 4, 5). Having paused for the charge and none having been brought, the Lord thrust home upon their conscience the memory of His great mercies. (1) He brought them out of Egyptian bondage (v. 4). He has done even more for us who were under bondage to sin and Satan. (2) Sent before them a trio of leaders (v. 4). Moses, the lawgiver; Aaron, the high priest, and Miriam, the prophetess, were sent to bear witness. (3) Turned Balak's curse into a blessing through Balaam (v. 5). 4. God's requirements (vv. 6-13). (1) The great question, "Where will I come before the Lord?" The Jews could not deny the charge brought against them by the Almighty. (2) The complete answer (v. 8). a. "To do justly." Strict equity was to characterize all their dealings with their fellowmen. b. "To love mercy." The heart was to be diligently set to do good to our fellows. c. "To walk humbly with thy God." This means to recognize that we are sinners before God, with no claim upon Him except His pardoning love.

Spiritual Power

Spiritual power is developed in action, just as muscles are developed. The more we try to help others, the more firmly shall we be established and the more we shall grow.—D. L. Marvin.

To Regenerate the World

The only way to regenerate the world is to do the duty which lies nearest to us and not to hunt after grand, far-fetched ones for ourselves.—Charles Kingsley.

WHERE FLYERS ALIGHT AND CABLES RADIATE

The Azores Important Communication Center.

Washington.—When Miss Ruth Elder tried to fly across the Atlantic and dropped into the sea near the Azores she failed in her purpose but emphasized the increasing importance of the Azores as a mid-Atlantic communication center, says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"And within the Azores group Fayal is the most important so far as contact with the outside world is concerned. Sao Miguel is larger, and Angra, the capital on Terceira, is a better port than Horta, on Fayal. "But Fayal is the communication hub of the Atlantic, with spokes reaching out to Europe, the two Americas, and Africa. On Fayal Island there are four cable companies, two American, one English and one German. There are more than 150 young 'news pushers,' as the dispatching operators are called, and each group has its own mess. "Arriving at Fayal in the daytime one sees a ribbon of road around the island, and the whitewashed villages with a church for a pendant among this 35-mile circular tour. Out near some detached rocks near the west end there is a lighthouse which appears at first to be a minaret. From there to Horta, the town, is a steep declivity several hundred feet high so that the road has to sweep up to avoid washing itself to death in the glistening surf. "Amid smiling seas the Azores, from November to March, usually wear a cloud blanket so that the fine cone of Pico, which sounds like Orange Pekoe but simply means 'peak,' is hidden as an approaching ship swings to the north. Pico has a separate island to itself and since Pico is an active volcano, this is as it should be. "The 'Fairy Town of Horta.' "Twilight had fallen when the writer's vessel finally came alongside the fairy town of Horta, now made up of white blotches against a dark hillside with electric lights, hiding the details like the nun's candles during the change of scene in 'The Miracle.' Horta is not really a port, since it lacks a green light to complement the red one on the end of the single breakwater. So passengers land in a launch which tosses up and down in the swell and gives the folks a thrill for their money. "A Portuguese, with wide-brimmed fuzzy hat, V-neck white sweater and sideburns, ran the launch. He took a liking to us and showed us around the town which, like a certain flower, had folded itself up with the setting of the sun. "Horta's chief claim to fame seems to be that Mark Twain and the cable companies have honored it with their attention. Mark said something about a tiny fort here which would have to be taken back up the volcanic slopes in case of war. That was the days before the Azores were the alighting spot for transoceanic flights. "Horta greets one with a mosaic sidewalk in the Portuguese style, and many of its buildings are faced with glistening tile so that as one walks down the street at night he seems to be threading his way along some peculiar bathroom in an old Mogul palace or a Chicago boarding house. "The street, as we walked down it, and passed so many churches that Horta seemed to be the Bokhara of the Catholic world, was being used for sentimental purposes, for Horta has its nightly rehearsals of the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet. The balconies are narrow and long, looking like sample bits of steel fence hung up on display. "In a Horta 'Movie.' "Our side-burned mentor took us to a movie theater fronted with salmon tiles. We secured a box in the lower of three horseshoes around which the town was arranged. If the social strata maintained their same relative positions at home that they do in the theater, then the Horta palaces would be down near the sea and the lowlier and more grimy members of society up near the lava line above the main part of the town. "From June to September the whole island of Fayal is marked out with blue-and-white hydrangea hedges and is one of the loveliest spots on earth, with sometimes smoking Pico 'Fuji-yamaing' in the background. "The Azores are certainly the result of tremendous volcanic eruptions that have continued to change their physical aspect ever since their discovery in the Fifteenth century. On every hand are evidences of former upheavals, from the gray lava stones that are used in the construction of houses and the building of roads to the underlying streaks of ashes that are visible in places where the surface soil has washed away, and the many cup-shaped craters and beautiful lakes on the tops of the mountains. "Violent earthquakes have disturbed the Azores during the centuries since their discovery. The annals of the island vie with those of Italy in graphic accounts of the ever-interesting and terrible volcanic phenomena. Cities were buried, mountains disappeared and sent their ashes to unbelievable distances; islands hundreds of feet high suddenly appeared and as suddenly disappeared, and flames of fire illuminated whole islands and their intervening waters."

ANCIENT TEMPLES BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Excavators in Palestine Make Rich Find.

Alexandria, Egypt.—Further important discoveries have been made by the Palestine expedition of the University museum of Philadelphia under Alan Rowe which is excavating at Beisan, the Bethshan of the Bible. Two new Canaanite temples of 1500 B. C. have been unearthed. In one of them among the other objects of value and interest there have been found a bronze figurine, covered with goldfol, representing a god seated, with his right arm raised and a beautiful lapislazuli scarab with a cartouche of sesostris. On a level previously identified with Rameses II, a door jamb has been discovered showing for the first time the actual figure of the builder of the Temple of Dagon, mentioned in the first book of Chronicles, together with an inscription supplying missing titles. Here also have been found scarabs of Rameses II, and Thotmes IV, and a curious stone, having at the top the head of a deity with a figure holding a captive whose legs are kicking the air and below a stand with four human-shaped legs. The identity of this deity and the significance of the stone are unknown. Other discoveries include a fine Egyptian falcon finger ring, bearing the sacred eye. Further proof of Cretan and Cypriot influences in this area 2,000 years ago is revealed in the shape of the handle of a pottery vessel with two groups of linear signs, similar in part to Cretan linear writing and in part to the Cypriot Archaic alphabet. There also have been unearthed a finely made figure of a bull, a child's rattle of pottery with a couple of small stones inside it, a very unusual pot with a strainer spout and a movable disk-like strainer fitting its mouth, a beautifully made bronze axehead and two buckles of Isis. The expedition has been working at Tell-El-Hesi, which means mounds of fortress—where eight levels have been identified as existing from before the time of Amenophis III to that of the crusades, covering 33 centuries. Most of the treasures, whereof those mentioned are only a part were, except where otherwise stated, made at the earliest levels. The expedition is now engaged on the lowest level which promises to yield rich deposits.

British Grant Beloit Permit for Research

Beloit, Wis.—Permission to do research work in British East Africa has been gained by Logan museum of Beloit college, according to an announcement by Dr. George L. Collie, curator, and the next few years may see the museum doing work there. The territory is rich in remains of Aurignacian man which, Doctor Collie says, was the first man here. He existed 25,000 years ago and rapidly spread all over the world, he says. Aurignacian remains have been found in France, Czechoslovakia, Algeria and in southern Africa. In British East Africa 60 skeletons have been uncovered in two years, while Europe has spent 100 years in uncovering 40 such skeletons. The college museum already has two skeletons, both from Algeria. One, the skeleton of a child, was found a year ago, while the other, of a mature man, was uncovered only a month ago and will soon be brought to the museum for permanent housing. Nature is the Art of God.—Browne.

Sacred Cat Keeps Eye Open for Four Months

Boston.—Dr. John A. O'Connell, Dorchester veterinarian, has a rajah's sacred cat which none of the doctor's family has seen lie down or close an eye in the four months the animal has been domiciled with the doctor. It is called Meesick, and a naval officer brought it from the interior of Siam. The cat is friendly, and Dr. O'Connell says its constant restlessness and apparent watchfulness are due to desire to communicate with persons. The cat's fame has been constantly growing and one offer of $300 was made and was promptly refused. Meesick has a yowl which is uncanny and his purr is like that of a tiger.

National Monuments Sought for Saratoga

Troy, N. Y.—Congress will be asked to appropriate more than $1,000,000 to establish two national memorials on the Saratoga battlefield, leaders in the observance of the battle's sesquicentennial assert. Burton D. Esmond, assembly man from Saratoga county, will ask the state legislature at its next session to authorize the purchase of the remaining 2,000 acres of the battlefield and also of additional land at Wallomans, where the Battle of Bennington was fought, and at Oriskany. George O. Slingerland, mayor of Mechanicville, has announced a movement to establish a museum of the Revolution in a great tower visible from Massachusetts and Vermont.

Young Divine Had Not Caught On to Signals

Bishop Dickey said in a witty after-dinner speech in Waco: "Church coughing is usually condemned, but I rather like it. "Perhaps you know the story of the theater owner who went to sleep while a play was being read to him, and when the playwright woke him up and said reproachfully that he had been reading his play in the expectation of some valuable criticism, the theater owner yawned and smiled and said sleep was a criticism. "By the same token, a young divine said irritably one Sunday to his sexton: "The congregation's coughing quite spoiled my sermon this morning. Such coughs! Such volleys of coughs! "Coughs? Coughed the old man. "Them wasn't coughs. They was time signals."

Nowadays

The late Francis Grierson, the distinguished writer who died destitute in Los Angeles, disapproved of post-war morals. "Morals are turned quite upside down nowadays," he said at a Los Angeles reception. "In a conversation with a beautiful movie star the other day I nodded towards an old man and said: "He's as ugly as sin, isn't he?" "No," said the beautiful young star; "he's as ugly as virtue."

Is It Your Nerves?

Bakersfield, Calif.—"I had a nervous breakdown, unable to leave my bed. I was under the care of a doctor, but was not getting along as well as I thought I should, so I started taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it is the tonic and nerve that restored me to health. Its soothing effect upon my nerves was wonderful while taking the first bottle, but I continued its use until I had taken five bottles and was then completely restored to health. I have never had a physical or a nervous breakdown since, which proves the thoroughness of the 'Prescription' in reaching the source of the trouble and then overcoming it."—Mrs. Gertrude Higley, 1224 Truxton Ave. All dealers.

Municipal Economy

A bob-haired, scantily clad flapper was making her application at the pearly gates, and St. Peter was putting her through her category. "What was your occupation?" he inquired. "Men called me a gold-digger," she tittered. "I'm sorry—but on account of the paving we can't let you in here."—American Legion Monthly.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her household work. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman." With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good. Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Making Safes Safer

A new safe that has an almost human power of giving warning should any attempt be made to rob it has been invented. Should burglars attempt to break it open by the usual methods of using heat, the material of which the safe is built gives off a series of loud reports. The new material is in the form of plates, one inch thick, applied inside the safe. Up to the present, no method has been found of melting, breaking or destroying the material. It takes from 85 to 150 days for salmon eggs to hatch, the time depending upon the temperature of the water in which they are deposited.
