COM. WRIGHT APPEALS TO VOTERS ON HIS RECORD

(Molalla Pioneer)
Commissioner R. A. Wright is a candidate for re-nomination and reelection as county commissioner. Mr. Wright has given excellent service during his term of office.

He is not sectional and gets a county-wide view point of all questions before the court. Mr. Wright is a good road enthusiast. He believes that maintenance is as important as construction. Long before he thought of being a commissioner, he dragged a piece of road on which he lives at his own expense just to show the value of taking care of the road. The result was that when the rest of the road, with the same construction, had gone to pieces, where he had dragged it the road was in fine shape.

As a financier he has been able to be successful in his own business of farming. He is a mathematician and the mastery of figures enables him to digest complicated financial reports and gives him an understanding of county finances. This ability has enabled him to save the county many thousands of dollars. He is conservative and as careful of county finances as his own, yet he is progressive, has an unlimited faith in Clackamas county and Oregon.

The county will gain the advantage of his four years' study and experience by re-electing him. He is a farmer and business man and has an understanding of the problems of each. His friends expect his vote will equal that of the field against him.

THE MORNING ENTERPRISE of April 22nd says:
The voters will have their chance in May to determine who will be best to serve as representative for Multnomah and Clackamas counties. The selection should not be difficult. Select the candidate who evinces closest interest in Clackamas and who pays taxes as a property owner in this county; who has money in Oregon City banks; and who has been identified with Clackamas county interests for years. There are two candidates on the republican ticket.
One answers this description. His name is FRANK E. ANDREWS (Paid Adv.)
