AN OLD-FASHIONED FOURTH

The plans are going forward for the celebration very satisfactory, and those in charge are determined that it will be a big success. Those who want to again see an old-fashioned observance of the day are invited to come to Estacada. There will be entertainment every minute of the day, from the opening gun in the morning until the last of the big free fireworks display and the street dance at night.

Molalla is staging their annual Buckaroo on the Fourth and they are going to have a show that will be worth seeing, and the News hopes the people of this section of the county will pay that city a visit during their three-day celebration. But make your visit the second or third of the month and visit Estacada on the Fourth.

The parade, speaking, sports, including a double-header baseball game, dancing, swimming and boating at Estacada Lake, street dance and the closing fireworks should make it an interesting day for all.

You will enjoy the Fourth this year in Estacada.

THE REDS AND THE PINKS

An insidious movement having for its object the overthrow of American institutions has been under way in this country for several years, fostered by radicals of various shades, from the red communist to the pink parlor socialist.

Since the World war the favorite strategy of these elements has been to further their ends through alleged "peace" societies, whose avowed object seems laudable enough, but whose real purpose is to weaken the nation and leave it a prey to sinister influences emanating from Soviet Russia.

It is well known to informed observers that many of our universities and schools, and even our churches, are honeycombed with doctrines which are subversive of the national welfare. Many of those who lend aid to the diffusion of these doctrines are unaware of their real purpose, being merely dupes of veiled propaganda put forth ostensibly in the interest of peace.

Every right thinking person favors sane and practical means for the prevention of war, but the world has not yet advanced to the point where any nation can safely abandon reasonable provisions for its own defense.

Any organization or group which teaches a doctrine of abject pacifism may well be looked upon with suspicion by all patriotic citizens.

As a long step toward clearing the ether the Radio commission might prohibit the broadcasting of 'Ramona.'

Just this convention, one more, and then the fireworks. Is Al. wet enough to drown it?

—oO—

Here is a method that is guaranteed to prevent drowning—one that never has known to fail: Keep away from the water.

Someone has figured out that there are 200,000 useless words in the English language. Probably most of them were used in Kansas City this week in the republican platform.

Old Mike Stubbins says he will not vote for Hoover or Al Smith either. Well, there's a socialist candidate he can vote for for president, but we haven't the least idea who he is.

—oO—

If about a dozen of the prominent (?) citizens of Estacada who have been advancing one reason after another the last ten days why the Fourth of July celebration is going to be a failure will change records and broadcast just one idea that will help make it a success, the celebration, without a doubt, will be the biggest thing that has ever been put over in Eastern Clackamas County.

THE RADIO IN POLITICS

For the first time in history, the people all over the country, in fact almost all over the world, may know just what is happening in the national conventions when the candidates for president are being nominated, by the means of the radio. Listening in on the convention is of as much interest as being present, and this fact no doubt has had considerable bearing on the way the republican convention has been conducted.

Without a doubt Herbert Hoover is the popular choice of the people as the republican nominee. Politicians who had an idea that they could "put something over" would think twice before starting something they thought there was a doubt about finishing, when they knew the folks at home were aware of their every move.

The radio is becoming more popular all the while, and fans will be pleased to know that immediate steps will be taken to reduce the number of inferior broadcasting stations in accordance with the new radio law. In a general order the Federal Radio commission has rescinded the licenses of 162 stations which must get off the air by August 1. In the meantime these stations will be given an opportunity to show cause why they should not be abolished.

While it will be impossible to carry out the plan of reducing the number of stations without dissatisfaction and possibly some injustice, the present situation must be relieved in the interests of thousands who have invested in radio sets and are entitled to protection for the jumble of sounds which now fill the air.

The reduction of stations should be followed by the elimination of many of the cheap programs and tiresome lectures which clutter up the ether and interfere with reception of worthwhile programs.

The radio, properly regulated will eventually mean cleaner politics, better government, and better citizenship.

BUCKAROO BIGGER AND BETTER, MANAGERS SAY

MOLALLA, June 14.—Plans for the annual Buckaroo under the auspices of the Molalla volunteer fire department and the Waldo Canfield post 1324 Veterans of Foreign Wars of Oregon City are going ahead as the day draws near for the big show.

The show will be bigger than ever. In addition to the regular buckaroo show each afternoon, there will be a night show, "The Spirit of the Trail," which will be in charge of James W. Evans. On the night of July 2, there will be a double pageant when "The Winning of the West" will be staged in flames. The greatest fireworks display ever attempted in this part of the country will be staged.

The Umatilla Indians and Ben Jory's string of horses and bucking broncs, bucking mules, bucking buffalo and wild horses will be on the grounds within a few days.

The show this year is attracting world famous performers who will be here to compete for cash prizes. The Buckaroo is the only show west of the Cascades that stage events in open competition.

The program as outlined for this year will start on July 2, when the parade starts at 11 o'clock. Afternoon show starts at 2 o'clock and a night show and dancing in the evening.

On Tuesday members of the two organizations will make a tour of the Willamette valley towns. They are taking the Oregon City drum corps with them.

GARFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Still were visiting with Mrs. W. L. Shriner last Friday evening.

Claude Shriner is helping his uncle, Richard Davis, build his new house on the main Estacada highway.

Mrs. George Hollister is home for the week end. She teaches at the Vernon school in Portland.

Mrs. W. C. Taylor went to McMinnville to spend Sunday with Mr. Taylor, who is a cable splicer for the Oregon Telephone company.

The Skip-a-Week club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Duncan on June 6. Eleven members and visitors were present. All enjoyed a fine luncheon with the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. O. Ballou on June 20.

Mrs. Mary Robertson is suffering from a severe sore foot making it necessary for her to consult a doctor. Noel Sarver visited at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Ellen Patterson, Sunday.

Dale Williams and family of Timber, Oregon, visited at the home of Mr. Williams' sister, Mrs. J. O. Botkin, Sunday.

The annual school meeting of the Garfield district will be held at the school house next Monday night. It is desired that everyone attend.

NORMANDY GIRLS TO PLAY FOR LEGION DANCE

The dance committee of the Carl Douglass post American Legion has secured as a special attraction for its dance at Eagle Creek Saturday night, June 30, the celebrated Normandy Girls orchestra, which will play on that one night only.

This is the orchestra which has been selected by the Rose Festival committee at Portland to furnish the music for the Queen of Rosario's reception and grand ball to be held at the Multnomah hotel on Friday evening, June 15.

Several of the Estacada people, who have heard the Normandy Girls play and have danced to their music have congratulated the Legion dance committee in their selection of this popular musical organization for the June 30 dance.
