Let's all celebrate at Estacada this year—let's all ask them to join us next year in a big blowout on July Fourth.

Next Sunday will be a big day at Government Camp. The annual climb of the Mazamas and the Cascadia hikers will be held. Last year there were 100 Mazamas in the climb. The American Legion ascent is also dated for Sunday.

High school directors elected Monday were V. D. Butler, Hans Bergseth and Anton Malar. The new board will organize at once and take up plans for bringing the finances to a cash basis next year and thus eliminate the large sum of interest required at present. The budget was unanimously adopted.

Main street was lined on both sides to hear the Estacada band Monday night, the crowd hanging around until 9:30. No band appeared, but there was no doubt a "reason."

Fred Junker is another local young man to make good. Fred has just carried off a sheepskin from Oregon University, specializing in journalism. Four years spent in a "U" course gives a background for life's best endeavor. The same time sent in jazz life gives—what?

Spending Vacation in Portland

Mrs. Caroline Vaeretti is spending six weeks of her vacation in the city taking university extension work. Miss Vaeretti has been re-elected to her position in the Salem schools and will probably teach there next year. Miss Vaeretti came to the M. Klige! home to spend the week end.

ASK COURT TO PUT IN CRIBBING ON SANDY RIVER

At Brightwood the swift current on the Sandy river is cutting its way through the bank from three to four feet per month, and is endangering homes. When the winter freshets were on it was like a raging torrent and the bridge was in danger. About all the cribbing put in by J. T. McIntyre was washed out. It seems the river is gradually changing its course and when the snow melts more difficulty is expected. A petition was circulated some time ago, and a plea is being made to the county court to furnish funds for cribbing.

Return From Fishing Trip

M. J. Faubian and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Welch have been to Eastern Oregon on a fishing trip and were expected home Saturday. Mrs. Thos. Brown is now keeping house for her father, Mr. Faubian, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and children recently moving to the Faubian home.

ELECTRIC LINE BEING BUILT ALONG LOOP HIGHWAY

Residents along the highway are much interested in the new line under construction by the Mt. Hood Loop Electric company. Many summer home folks are not only eager for the lights, but also want to install electric stoves as fuel is a problem, and juice is also needed for radios and washers. The line will be completed within a few weeks as far as Alder creek.
