LINN CLAN HOLD THEIR TENTH ANNUAL PICNIC

ONE HUNDRED FORTY PRESENT INCLUDING THREE WHO ARRIVED HERE IN '65

The Linn family held their tenth annual reunion and picnic at Dinty Moore's park on Eagle Creek, Sunday August 5. There were 140 descendants of the family present, three of the family who crossed the plains in 1865 being among them. At the present time there are but five left of the original family of 32 who came to Oregon in 1865.

Some of those from a distance attending the picnic were Mrs. George Harding of Detroit, Mrs. E. Smith of Peoria, Ill., Mrs. Nellie Farrier, John May and wife and William May and wife of Aberdeen, Wash., Mr. Farrier of Raymond, Wash.

Mrs. Charles Burr of Brownsville, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Oral Palmateer of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Linn of Ostrander, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Martin of Willard, Wash.

Robertus Looney and family of Salem, Mrs. Blanche Brower and children of Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. William Bullard of Alpha, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Roseco Gard of Mulino, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones of Parkplace, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Gard of Meilino and H. W. Gard of Madras.

Those from Portland were Miss Edna Gard, Mrs. Essie Taylor and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Shankland, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shankland, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling May and son, Mrs. B. Thygerson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Linn.

Mrs. M. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Walter River, Miss Winnie Palmateer, and Mrs. Nora Miller, Lula G. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Linn of Milwaukie.

The rest of the company were from near Estacada. A number of invited guests were also present and the occasion was greatly enjoyed.

MILLION PEOPLE IN NEW VIDOR PICTURE

One of the big pictures is billed for the Liberty Theatre here Sunday and Monday, next, "The Crowd."

It was not until after Director King Vidor had filmed more than a million people in the congested manufacturing and commercial centers of the eastern states that he believed he had caught the proper spirit of "The Crowd," his new twelve-reel special for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Most of these people were filmed at a time they were utterly unconscious of the fact they were appearing in a motion picture.

With masked batteries of cameras Vidor caught the immense theatre crowds of New York's Broadway. He filmed the noon day crowds of Fifth avenue and Broadway, the exclusive shopping districts of New York, the great financial district, the docks and water fronts.

He got the exits of the towering skyscrapers as they discharged their tens of thousands of employees for the night and from barges in the harbor "shot" the magnificent skyline of the busiest city in the world.

At Pittsburg, Pa., he used the thousands of employees of the world's greatest steel mills and at Rochester worked against a background of the great kodak factories and the Eastman laboratories.

Coney Island furnished its great crowds of merry makers and Niagara Falls was used as a location where he filmed the honeymoon sequence, much of it against the scenic backgrounds of the falls that have been visited by countless honeymooners for more than a century.

The great automobile factories of Detroit furnished their quotas of human beings to impress upon screen audiences the futility of one man's puny struggles against the world.

"The Crowd" is Vidor's first all-American story since "The Big Parade" and was written by himself. Eleanor Boardman and James Murray have the principal dramatic roles in the greatest human interest tale ever screened.

EMPEROR OF FRANCE KIDNAPPED BY EAGLE

"Napoleon kidnaped! Imagine what a furor this news would have created had it been flashed across France in the early eighteen hundreds.

This occurs in "The Fighting Eagle," a screen version of Conan Doyle's "Adventures of Gerard." Rod La Rocque, in the title role, is a swashbuckling young officer in Napoleon's army. Circumstances have brought about the unjust sentence—death at the hands of a firing squad.

La Rocque, whose bravery and daring are conspicuous even in his death cell, is willing to die, but feels that the most should be made of his execution. To have his emperor present, in La Rocque's eyes, would make the event an important affair.

With the help of a beautiful and clever countess, portrayed by Phyllis Haver, he escapes from his cell, and jumps astride a waiting horse and gallops madly away to intercept the coach of Napoleon. He is successful in his attempt, and after overpowering the postilion of the coach, dons his uniform and drives the coach at breakneck speed to the scene of his execution.

This series of events leads to a tensely dramatic climax in which Napoleon plays no small part. Donald Crisp directed "The Fighting Eagle" which comes to the Liberty Theatre on Wednesday and will be shown for two days. The cast includes, in addition Rod La Rocque and Miss Haver: Max Barwyn, Sam DeGrasse, Julia Faye, Sally Rand, Clarence Burton and Alphonse Ether.

Visits in Portland
Miss Maude Sturgeon left for Portland Monday and visited friends until Thursday noon. She intended to stay all the week, but developed a severe cold and was obliged to come home.
