ROADS ARE IMPROVED

Eastern Clackamas county roads are being put in good shape for the winter. The different road districts and the county have spent a large sum in repair work and in building new roads during the last few months.

No one thing can speed up the development of this great country more than good roads. Scenic drives are enjoyed by all, but the roads that make it possible for farmers to get in and out—to market their products—means far more to the county as a whole.

One road proposition that means more, possibly, than any other to this immediate section is the Colton-Springwater highway. O. M. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, recognized this fact and made mention of it in an ad he paid for in the Springwater fair book. The Molalla Pioneer last week, speaking of this highway, says:

"There is one main project which should come in attention at once. That is the Colton-Springwater road. This is one of the biggest county projects. This involves the opening of a short piece of new road between Colton and Springwater. This will open a highway which will connect the east and south ends of Clackamas county and unlock unlimited resources now tied up on account of having no transportation.

The right-of-way has been purchased and the clearing done. There is approximately $10,000 set aside for special work in the districts most concerned.

"Arrangements should be made now for putting the steam shovel at work early next spring and keep it going until the whole new grade is made.

"H. C. Stephens of Estacada is chairman of a committee composed of citizens all along the line. It would be a good plan to call a meeting at once and get after this project for next summer's work."

REASONS FOR COMING TO OREGON

A farmer residing in Orange county, Kansas, writes to the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce: "I am trying to sell my property here—165 acres. I may not get to come out there before next summer or fall, but I am coming. The one clause, 'No Cyclones or Destructive Storms' is bringing me. I lost over $4,000 in a cyclone here July 16, last year. Everything I had was destroyed in three or four minutes."

The only reason there are not thousands of other folks in the Pacific Northwest is because they do not know of the wonderful climate, soil and opportunities. It is only a matter of a few years until the population of this section will be several times what it is today. Real estate values will mount as the country is developed. No better investment can be made than Oregon real estate.

FINE FAIR AT SPRINGWATER

Those who attended the Springwater fair last week have a better idea than ever of the productiveness of the soil of this section, and the progressiveness of the people of Springwater community. The county fair is bigger, but no better. The News is pleased to congratulate the Springwater folks, and also hopes that their example will be followed by other communities of the county next year.

The income from one acre of strawberries in the Dover section this year was more than the total income from many an entire farm in one southern state, according to a visitor here last week. And there are thousands and thousands of acres in the county that will in time produce as much as the Dover people produced—land that is now producing nothing.

A Pennsylvania paper relates, in connection with a larceny trial that "the accused came from very good people and was drunk when he came."

North Dakota has a law requiring the Ten Commandments be posted in every school room.

A community auction sale is suggested to be held in Sandy at some near future date. The News will list any articles that may be offered for sale. If there is sufficient property offered, it can be held at an early date.

SPRINGWATER

A quiet wedding took place at the Springwater church Wednesday evening when Miss Alberta Cromer, a charming young lady of the Springwater neighborhood, and Arthur York, a young farmer of Antelope, were married by the Rev. T. I. Kirkwood, with only close relatives present. But if the wedding was quiet, the crowd which gathered at the Frank Wheeler home, where the young couple were spending the evening, was anything but quiet as they crowded in on them with guns roaring and bells and tin pans ringing, in an old fashioned charivari, taking the couple entirely by surprise before they could slip away as they had hoped to do. After wishing the happy couple the best of good luck and enjoying the refreshments provided, the company went to their homes. Mr. and Mrs. York are spending a few days at the beach and then expect to go to Bend for a time. Their future plans were not fully decided.

Mrs. O. J. Skaggs has been visiting her daughter and family at Vancouver, Wash., for a week.

Mrs. Rose Wilcox was down from Antelope to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Clossner for a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cromer and daughter Ruth visited Mrs. Cromer's mother, Mrs. Sarah Lewellen, in Oregon City Sunday.

Gilbert Lewellen was down from Hood River where he is working in the apple orchards, to spend the week end with his father, E. E. Lewellen.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Portland spent the week end at the R. S. Guttridge home.

Frank Madden has been spending the past week with his daughters, and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McDonald at Whitson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Guttridge entertained a number of relatives from Portland Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bard spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moger.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Howell visited Mr. and Mrs. Claude Van Hoy Sunday afternoon. Mr. Van Hoy is improving but is not yet able to walk.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bridge enjoyed a visit with relatives from Portland during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Howell and daughters were visiting relatives in Portland Sunday.

Miss Maud Madden visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moger Monday afternoon.

Mary Lou, Ruth, Ann and Richard Guttridge spent Sunday afternoon visiting the Van Hoy children.
