

Quantity vs Quantity

We use the very best quality of materials in our breads, and, consequently cannot compete in price with the cheap breads. Our goods speak for themselves in flavor and wholesomeness.

EAGLE CREEK

The gathering of the walnut crop on the Dr. King place will be finished this week, according to Edward Grier, who is in charge of the place. Instead of being dried locally, as in former years, the walnuts are being hauled to Dayton, Oregon, and are being dried and sold there.

Last Sunday while going home from Sunda school, the auto being driven by Nola Clester turned turtle, the accident being due to a broken steering gear. Zola Clester was the most seriously injured. She is now in the Oregon City hospital. The other occupants of the car, Sylvia Spildie, Alice Weldy and Jackie, cousins of the Clesters, escaped unhurt. The Halloween social given Friday evening by the P. T. A. at the home of Mrs. Carl Rehberg, was a decided success. More than eighty persons were present to enjoy the games and social time, after which refreshments were served. Each guest was measured and paid according to their height, the proceeds to be used for hot lunches at school.

Another program will be given at the school Friday evening, November 9, to raise more for the piano fund. At that time Grandpa Bulger of Portland will furnish entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Colt of Portland were week end guests at the Homer Glover home. Mrs. Ida Clute of Portland visited over the week end with her daughter, Fern Clute.
