motoring public has not yet ridden in the new six, the appearance of the new Chevrolet and the performance promise given by its specifications have been sufficient to draw thous Miss Mary Sharnke called on Vita ands of orders from Southern Cali Jones at the hospital Sunday. Vita fornia motorists. If the same ratio FORDSON TRACTOR; like new, has prevailed elsewhere in the United States, Chevrolet officials estimate that the company will enter the new year with a quarter of a million orders on its books for the new car.

Interest in the performance of the new six cylinder motor is keen among veterans of the automotive trade here as well as among motorists in general.

O. E. Hunt, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor company, who designed the new six, has a wide reputa tion in the automotive world. He has been connected with the Chevrole for five years, and for four of them he has worked continuously on the new six cylinder motor. In that time one hundred different designs were BIG PONTIAC REDUCTIONS-Call built and tested, before the present job was finally approved.

Probably no engineer ever worked with greater resources for experim entation than did Hunt and the results he obtained will be watched with the deepest interest by the motor trade.

The manner in which the Chevrolet organization has swung into produc tion on the new six is regarded as a truly remarkable industrial achieve ment. The sweeping changes in the new six from the four cylinder model which preceded it involved factory re-equipping with new tools, dies and machinery to an extent and at a cost | HEMSTITCHING-6 and 8 cents per hard for the average motorist to conceive.

To be able to place the new six cylinder models in the hands of all dealers in the brief space of time that has elapsed since the fours were being produced in enormous volume is good evidence of the surprising efficiency the Chevrolet factory organization has built up under the supervision of W. S. Knudsen, of Chev-

A production estimate for 1929 of 1,250,000 of the new sixes was given last week by President Knudsen, and preparations are being made on this basis at the fifteen huge Chevrolet CLACKAMAS CO. Materials by the train load have been pouring into the Chevrolet plant at Oakland where Chevrolets are assembled for the Pacific coast trade, and production will be increased as rapidly as possible up PLUMBING—pipe fitting; steel septo plant capacity.

Bob Marchbank, salesman for the Cascade Chevrolet company of Estacada, announces the sale of two of the new sixes, with many more prospects for new cars early after the first of the new year.
