Chinese Girls Coming To Liberty Theatre

For Wednesday night, May 1, at the Liberty Theatre, Manager Bill Perry has booked a stage attraction through the Shaw Amusement service, the nature of which is something entirely new, not only to Estacada, but to theatre goers—everywhere—a Chinese Girl band.

This is the only organization of the kind in the world. These Chinese girl musicians were developed in Portland, under the personal direction of Chuck Whitehead, and are said to be the equal of any girl band in the country.

They not only play saxophones, trombone, banjo, drums and other instruments but sing and entertain on the stage, as well. Their programs include the latest popular musical hits and their renditions are snappy and highly amusing.

The Chinese girl orchestra appears under the management of Rube Shaw, who has booked them for the coming season over the Eastern vaudeville circuits as a headline act.

In addition to the Chinese girls, Tom Connor, magician and monologist, will be presented in an act of legerdemain and magic. Connor's offering is one of mystifying skill rather than a presentation of mechanical tricks, and is the result of long practice in the art of puzzling his audiences.

There will be a special program of movies on the screen in addition to the stage performances, and as the exceptional features offered are expected to draw packed houses there will be two complete shows given at the Liberty Wednesday night, starting promptly at 7:30, the second show beginning at 9. The admission prices are only 35c and 15c.
