RICHARD DIX STAR IN TALE OF BANDITRY

Forty-niners, the bold adventurers who rushed to California gold fields in the middle of the last century—figure in a new way in "The Gay Defender," Richard Dix' latest picture, coming to the Liberty Wednesday as the picture feature.

Heretofore treated as heroes in screen dramas, the gold seekers in "The Gay Defender" are played up as villains, while Dix, in the heroic role as a native Mexican, is driven to banditry by oppression of the unscrupulous prospectors. Thelma Todd is the heroine, while Fred Kohler heads the American desperadoes. Gregory La Cava directed. It is an original screen story by Grover Jones, adapted for the screen by Ray Harris, Sam Minz and Kenneth Raisbeck.

In addition to this feature, Rube Shaw presents the Chinese Girl orchestra and other features.

Don't Depend Upon the Mattress

Nearly every day we read of some unfortunate person who loses their savings of many years. Sometimes it is stolen, burned up along with the house, pickpockets get it, rats eat it up, or some one throws out an old vase that was serving as a family savings bank.

This is gross carelessness and never safe. Furthermore, it is costing you real money—for hidden, idle money earns no interest. Play safe and bring your savings to this bank—where integrity and safety have been the most important watchword for many years.
