Locker Storage Orders Face Pioneer Problems

Cold storage locker operators of the Pacific northwest will continue a tri-state organization including, Oregon, Washington and Idaho but will encourage district sub-organization. It was decided at the two day educational and business conference held at Oregon state college recently.

Need of a strong organization to protect the interest of this new industry in matters of legislation, education and regulation was emphasized at the conference. So many pitfalls are in the way of such a pioneer enterprise that the organization voted to encourage research in this field such as is being carried on by the food products industries department at Oregon state college and to publish for the benefit of their patrons a booklet which will contain latest facts for the guidance of users of individual food lockers.

Wires Held Heavy Load
In an ice storm, the set of telephone wires between two poles may be loaded down by as much as six tons of ice.

Cherry Fruit Fly Controlled
Almost complete control of the cherry fruit fly was obtained in the large Lamberta orchards, ten miles east of Salem following the spray recommendations worked out by the Oregon experiment station, according to reports made by the grower to S. C. Jones, assistant entomologist at OSC. The Lamberta orchards have approximately 200 acres of cherries probably the largest cherry orchard in the Willamette valley. Although three spray applications will ordinarily give control, five sprays were applied in these orchards to be on the safe side. The material used is a sweetened poison bait spray applied to the foliage to kill the adult flies just before the cherries ripen.

POPE IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

I am a candidate for the republican nomination for County Judge, the primary election to be held May 20. Having been a resident and taxpayer of Clackamas county since 1909 I have carefully studied the operations and problems of county government, especially as the taxpayers are affected.

I served as county assessor for eight years and in line with my duties I had a part in preparing county budgets. This task is one that requires fairness, good judgment and responsibility to all citizens of Clackamas county.

It is my aim if nominated and elected to practice strict economy in managing the county's business. I also aim to endeavor to create and maintain harmony within the county court, show no favors to any group or any section of the county; to improve and maintain county roads impartially and economically; also I will deal fairly with those in need.

The duties of the County Court, of which the County Judge is a member are numerous and the county's business is the taxpayers business as they pay the cost of all operations. Therefore it is important that the man you elect as county judge must be qualified, honest and fair. I believe that I can "fill the bill" and render good service to Clackamas county if elected County Judge.—E. L. Pope.—Paid Adv.

Double Bill at Esta This Week

"UNDER SUSPICION"

There is a big double bill at the Esta theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. The main feature of this bill is Jack Holt in "Under Suspicion". Here is a mystery story that stunned Liberty's five million readers and that will hold you spellbound from start to finish. It is a genuine thriller that will live in your memory for a long, long time. In addition there is the delightful comedy drama starring Barbara Stanwyck in "Breakfast for Two."

PORTLAND GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY
ELECTRIC BUILDING

FRANKLIN T. GRIFFITH
PRESIDENT

PORTLAND, OREGON
March 23, 1938

To the Voters of the Proposed Northwest Oregon Bonneville People's Utility District:

THE POSITION OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON DISTRIBUTION OF ELECTRIC POWER

Some of the sponsors of the public utility district have declared and are still claiming that President Roosevelt favors the formation of public utility districts and the establishment of public ownership for the distribution of electric power. On September 21, 1932, at Portland, Oregon, Mr. Roosevelt declared his position on this important matter in a speech which was reported in full in the Portland newspapers, from one of which, the Oregon Journal, we quote the words of Mr. Roosevelt as follows:

"I do not hold with those who advocate government ownership or government operation of all utilities. I state to you categorically that as a broad general rule the development of utilities should remain, with certain exceptions, a function for private initiative and private capital."

In the same speech having special reference to situations such as Bonneville Mr. Roosevelt said:

"State owned or federal owned power sites can and should properly be developed by government itself. When so developed, private capital should be given the first opportunity to transmit and distribute the power on the basis of the best service and the lowest rates to give a reasonable profit only."

There is no record of which we have knowledge that President Roosevelt has ever repudiated or changed the policy he then advocated.

Savings resulting from low cost electric energy generated as a by-product of Federal navigation projects can and will, as soon as available to us, be passed on to the consumers without destroying investment or losing tax revenues, thereby further reducing the low rates in this area which Mr. Roosevelt commended in his Portland speech.

A "NO" vote at the special election on April 8 would not only be in accord with the policy approved by President Roosevelt, but would also be in your own best interest.

Very truly yours,
Franklin T. Griffith
