

A MONEY MAKER

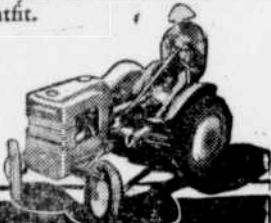

FOR SMALL POWER USERS

The John Deere Model "L" Tractor

When it comes to year 'round power at unusually low costs, you'll do better with a money-making John Deere Model "L" . . . the tractor designed for the small-power user. Actually, the small, powerful, gasoline-burning engine of the Model "L" burns only about 1/2 gallon of fuel per hour on most jobs.

Simple in design, easy to adjust, economical to maintain, the Model "L" has the working capacity of a 2- or 3-horse team. Because of its flexibility, short turning, easy handling, and adjustable rear-wheel tread, this tractor is especially adaptable to your row crop work. In addition, there's a complete line of integral equipment especially designed for the Model "L". Come in today and learn how little it will cost for you to own a complete John Deere power-farming outfit.

CHRYSLER DELIVERIES SET RECORD

Retail deliveries of Chrysler cars in the week ended March 1 were the largest of the current model year according to figures made public by Chas. L. Jacobson, vice president in charge of sales of the Chrysler Sales Division, Chrysler corporation This is interpreted by Mr. Jacobson to presage the early opening of the most active spring selling season in Chrysler's history stimulated by the growing popularity of Chrysler's Fluid Drive.

Deliveries for the week ended on March 1 also were with one exception the highest ever recorded in any week exceeded only by those for the final week of April, 1940 which incidentally marked the close of a nation wide sales contest.

Chrysler cars are sold locally by the Hessel Implement company of Gresham.
