PTA Board Meets Friday, Oct. 12

Mrs. Woody Miller, Estacada PTA president, announces an executive board meeting to be held Friday, October 12 at 10 A.M. in the grade school library.

The board will appoint a secretary to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Wanda Curry, who has moved from the district.

Plans will be completed for the next PTA meeting, which will be held Thursday, October 18 at 8 P.M. at the high school. "Back to School" will be the theme for the meeting, always a popular and well attended affair.

Fire Prevention Week; What a Fire Dept. Means to You!

Do you think: He's really a firebug! It's all he has to do? He gets a thrill seeing property go up in smoke? He's a menace to the quiet and serenity of our community? It's a snap getting out of bed at 3 a.m. in the winter? He's getting paid for the wear and tear on his car and clothes? He likes the possibility of injuries to himself and others while chasing a fire?

Or do you think: The volunteer firemen are a potent and established force of necessity—a group giving their undivided attention to those in need of their help—deserve freedom of the streets at the sound of the alarm—might save your home or business some day just because he was given a sporting chance to get to the scene of the fire at the right time?

As members of the Estacada Volunteer Fire Department, each man devotes approximately 200 hours of his own time early to drilling and learning better and more efficient methods of fire fighting and fire prevention, as well as training in related fields, such as first aid, salvage and rescue. In addition, there are the many, many hours spent fighting fires and answering other emergencies.

The only reimbursement received by the firemen is the thanks and a few cash donations to the fire department

Local Students to Sell Subscriptions

Estacada Grade School will hold its annual magazine and Estacada local newspaper sales drive starting Wednesday, October 10th and will end Wednesday, October 6th. Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grades will sell the magazines and the Clackamas County News, Estacada's own newspaper. The magazines are sold through the Curtis Publishing Company school program and the local newspaper through arrangements with the Clackamas County News publisher.

The school will receive fifty percent of the money on three magazines, Ladies Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post and Holiday magazine. On all other magazines sold; and new subscriptions to the Estacada newspaper, Clackamas County News the school will receive 30 percent for its school activities.

Students receive individual prizes for salesmanship. A wrist watch will be given for the top salesman and the second prize will be a radio; as well as many other prizes. The student body will carry on student activities with the amount earned. Anyone wishing to subscribe to any magazine or Clackamas County News, may contact the school. Phone 63-2 and a student will write up your order.

Andrew Hedlund

Mr. Andrew Hedlund, 70-year-old resident of Redland, died Friday afternoon after a long illness. His funeral was held Tuesday at Holman and Hankies in Oregon City, with Rev. Herman Boerman officiating. Interment followed at Mt. View cemetery. He leaves his widow Ethel, and five grown children, two brothers, and four sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Carter and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Thomas returned last week from a hunting trip near Twin Springs in the Ochoco mountains. Mr. Carter got a buck weighing around 240 pounds five minutes after arriving on the hunting grounds. Mrs. Carter shot at a big one but he got away. The Thomases on getting their deer later.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schmidt and daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Alexander and two children, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reels at Port Orford from Friday to Sunday. Reels is a brother of Mrs. Schmidt. They also visited the Doug Johnson family, formerly of Estacada, who live there. Johnson is recovering from a recent heart attack.

Kathy Armstrong's hunting dog, Coke, gave birth to ten pups Monday night and she is very much concerned whether there is room at the dinner table for all of them.

Construction crews of the Guy. Atkinson company are proceeding on schedule in completion of access roads and temporary transmission lines for Portland General Electric company's 50,000 kilowatt North Fork dam on the Clackamas river. The new transmission line will bring power from the PGE system to the North Fork construction area.

View of the site of PGE's proposed North Fork dam on the Clackamas river. The 190 foot concrete arch dam will cross the Clackamas river immediately above the foot bridge shown in the picture. Excavation and timber clearing for the left abutment of the dam is in progress. Main contractor for the 50,000-kilowatt project is G. Atkinson Co.

'No Parking' Sign Near Dr.'s Office

As a service to the community, the Estacada police department requested permission of the city council, to designate an emergency parking zone directly in front of Dr. Price's office, in order that this congested parking area be kept free for vehicles which must have quick access to the doctor's office. In like manner, the police found that Dr. Price often had to park his car a considerable distance from his office, making for delay in answering calls. The city council after investigation, approved both of these traffic markings, and they have been so designated.

The Marion Guild bake sale Saturday held at Mrs. Marie Fontana's shop brought them about $30.

Released Time For Religion Classes Has Big Enrollment

A record enrollment of pupils greeted teachers of released time classes for religious instruction Wednesday.

The Catholic classes, held at St. Aloysius church, 54 boys and girls were present to receive instructions from members of the local church. The teaching staff is made up of Mrs. James Allen, grades 1-2; Mrs. Joseph Marek, grade 3; Mrs. Richard Burke, grade 4; Mrs. Bill Ronayne, grade 5; and Rev. Norbert Fritz, grades 6-8.

In Protestant classes, 184 pupils attended the first classes, Wednesday at three churches near the school. Mrs. Carver and Mrs. Valentine teach grade 1. Grades 2, 3, and 4 are divided in two sections: 2A is taught by Mrs. Castile, and Miss Mildred Loucks; 2B by Mrs. Jim Moore and Mrs. M. Horge; 3A, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Harbert; 3B Mrs. Marion Ravan. Grade 4A taught by Mrs. E. Bontrager and Mrs. Mombert; 4B Rev. Marion Ravan and Rev. Vernon Ross. Grade 5 is in charge of Rev. Violet Boliger and Kenneth Babcock, who also works with Rev. Ross in class 6. Grades 7 and 8 are taught (at different hours) by Rev. Waldon Ackers and Rev. Jas. Moore.

Curriculum for the Protestant classes were selected by the Ministerial Association, and seeks to interpret a Christian's birth and growth in terms understandable to the boys and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Head and little daughters moved to Newport last week end. Also moving to Newport are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Curry and Frankie; both these men were employed here by Silver Tip Logging Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Colson and daughters were dinner guests last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Meade.

Mrs. Everett Kiggins wishes to thank all her friends and neighbors for their kindness and get well cards sent to her while she was in the hospital recently.

Mrs. Thema McAllister and infant daughter and Mrs. Larry Meade were Salem visitors last Tuesday.

McKay to Speak at Milwaukie Oct. 16

Harold E. Wooster, Estacada representative of the McKay for Senator committee, said today that Doug McKay is to speak at a public dinner in the Milwaukie high school cafeteria Tuesday, Oct. 16.

Wooster said McKay will tell his audience that the outcome of the election will determine whether you "have a representative in Washington who is responsive to your needs and desires or a man who blandly tells you what he thinks is good for you, regardless of what you want or need"

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Arbaugh from Wenatchee, Wash. visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Price over the week end. Saturday they took a trip up the Clackamas river.

Mrs. Virginia Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Carter returned Friday morning from a two weeks vacation trip to Honolulu, Hawaii. She reports an enjoyable trip, but says it is terribly hot in Hawaii this time of the year.

Candidates File for City Offices Open

When the time for filing for the local city offices expired, the following hats were in the ring:

For Mayor: Tom May and Bob Weinrich; Nettie Rickey unopposed for Treasurer and for the City Council: Del Norquist, Ray Curry, Marian Raven, Les Kiggins, Sam Haines and John Walcott.

Besides Mayor and Treasurer, there are two councilman to be elected. Bob Clayville, Dave Horner and John Geil will be the holdovers.

The first of the weekly Released Time Religious Education classes for the school year were held Wednesday at Redland Evergreen church. One hundred twenty children out of the school enrollment of 186 attended. More are expected to be enrolled as the year progresses. Rv. Hman Boerman, local pastor, is chairman of the Religious Education council and expects great things from the year's training under experienced and dedicated teachers.

Mt. Hood Plant Faces Temporary Work Shut-down

Completing a week of adverse publicity, because of the apprehension of the original promoters of the Mt. Hood Hardboard and Plywood Coop, the plant has temporarily suspended operation.

The News office contacted Pres. Elmer Hines of Portland who stated that contrary to general gossip, the plant is not in the process of liquidation, but because of the present disparity between the price of logs and veneer, it was economically necessary to suspend operations for a short time.

All members will be contacted directly and given a report on the Coop's activities.

The attitude of some local stockholders is that the present management of the Cooperative seems to fall into the pattern of practices used by preceding boards in that the inside business manipulations have not been made known to shareholders, nor have they been allowed to listen in on director's meetings. It is reported the board of directors did not welcome a committee from the plant who wished to discuss problems of operation, but were given a brief and unwelcome hearing after a considerable wait.

The committee was not happy with the attitude of the board, since their intentions as experienced operating personnel was toward seeking a satisfactory solution of the Coop's problems.

Council Meeting Okays Stop Sign On Broadway Hill

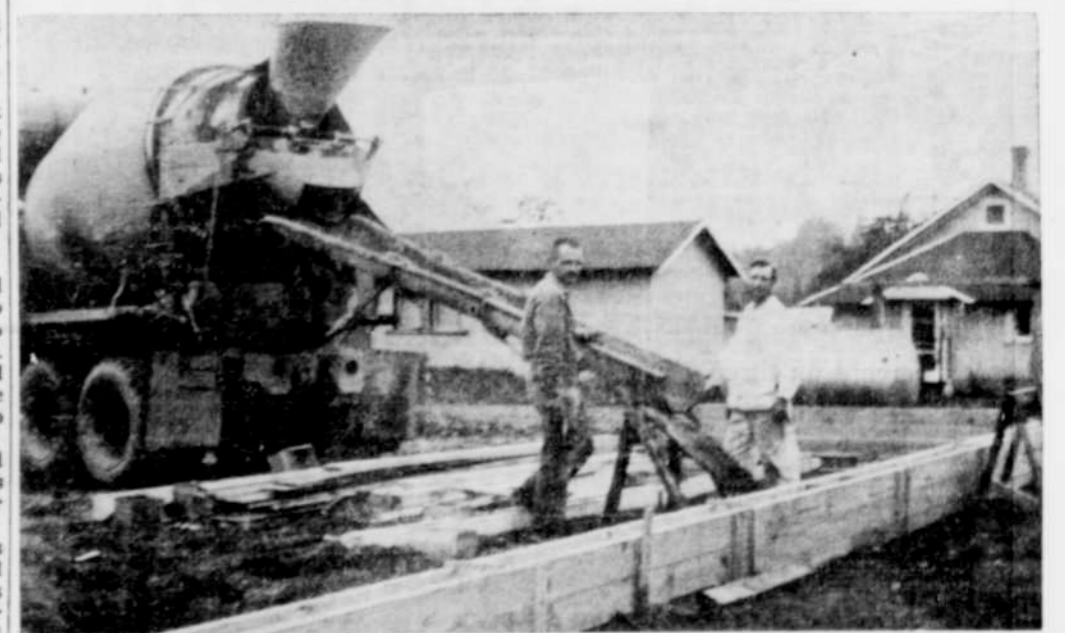

Watch for the new stop sign that will soon be posted at the N. W. corner of First Ave. and N. W. Broadway. This is at the north side of the top of the hill at Broadway. Because pedestrians use the street, a traffic hazard exists as cars and trucks coming over the hill travel at such a speed as to make it difficult to slow down or stop in reasonable time.

Two engineers and the state highway also consider that this stop sign would save the drag now placed on the road surface of the hill, by reducing speed of vehicles as they break over the crest. This will save on road repairs.

Larry Berentzen, of Berentzen Real Estate, offered to provide, at his expense, a new sign for the City hall. Councilman Horner was assigned the task of providing the sign. It is to be patterned after the street signs designed by Lawrence Espinosa.

Councilman Robert Clayville called attention to the progress being made by installation of water meters. Because of the many inquiries, he outlined again the meter installation program in effect. Meters are installed first to outside users, and new connections within the city, then the commercial establishments, and after that the residences.

Belated Picture Shows Start of Project

Al Collins makes the first pour on the foundation of Tom May's banquet room addition to his restaurant. This room is planned to accommodate gatherings of fair-sized groups of up to a hundred or more people and will fulfill a long-awaited need of the community for dinner gatherings. Heretofore, we have been fortunate to have the fine cooperation of the respective school boards and the use of their facilities has made possible dinner meetings.
