Local Firemen in Drill Practice

The Estacada Volunteer Firemen under the direction of Chief Rudy Sagner conducted a series of pumper, hose and radio drills last Monday evening. The men practiced pumping operations through one of the trucks and reviewed the necessary steps to obtain the proper results. Each man was assigned certain positions and assignments to carry out and later switched with each other so that all could know the procedures.

Later a detail was sent out on the truck to certain areas of the city to practice receiving and sending calls to the new operator, Peggy Clayville, who along with her husband will be taking over the operation of all emergency calls.

Members participating in the drill included: Sagner, Joe and Sam Barr, Vern Castile, Glenn Hartwig, Ralph and Wayne Wade, Baer Widerhold and Herb Williams. Al Coop, prospective member, attended and observed all the operations. Final communique for the spring, no more reports from this reporter until September.

Professional foresters are learning to do this. It will not be long until the common run of us forest farmers learn a thin gor two from them. This "Plus" tree was first sighted by Kenneth Clark who heads Crown Zellerbachs tree farm operations in the mountains, east of Molalla. His headquarters are located at Dicky Prairie.
