meet one of your forest industry neighbors...

Forest industry pay checks work for everyone. The average family spends $100 of income like this:

- Food..... $ 27
- Housing..... 17
- Clothing..... 9
- Autos and transportation..... 14
- Home furnishings..... 6
- Medical and personal care.... 7
- Taxes (income and property)... 7
- Recreation, savings, insurance, education, etc..... 13

$100

Estimated from U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Survey of Consumer Expenditures based on average wage earner family of 3.4 persons.

An active participant in church, sports and other local affairs, Fred Schellhorn is typical of the 160,000 men and women who work in the Pacific Northwest's forest industry. Like Fred, who has been with Weyerhaeuser 8 years, most are permanent tax-paying citizens of communities located near their work.

In total, forest industry people in Oregon and Washington earn about 700 million dollars a year, spending most of the money for necessities and luxuries. Their annual clothing purchases alone, for instance, amount to about 63 million dollars. This is but one example of how the industry's payroll dollars help stimulate almost every type of business in this area.

Today, the forest industry is the basis of about one-half of our regional economy. In the years ahead, its payrolls and many other local business expenditures will continue to contribute to economic stability and prosperity in the Pacific Northwest.
