Mrs. Myri Linn is recuperating from her surgery and is expected to return home this week.

tend the wedding of a nephew in Walla Walla, Wash. last Sunday, and from there on to Bend for the grange session. They plan to return home Sat. In the meantime Winnie and Johnny are holding down the fort, and taking care of Gilbert. Winnie attended the Youth Presbytery in Portland Monday eve.

A builder who was awarded contract to build a poultry house for the big Erving hatchery in Winlock, Wash. came down last Saturday to take pictures and look over the single cage laying house at Dymtryk's poultry farm. They were very impressed with the efficiency of this operation, which of course made Jack none the less proud.

Joe Guttridge is attending State Grange meetings in his capacity of State Grange Deputy. Wilma left Tuesday with all of her boys intact, and planned to come home Thursday. That in case you'd like to know, is Nerve. Jessie Wilber rode along with Wilma as far as Madras where she stopped to visit with her sister.

The local National Guardsmen are making ready to leave early Saturday morning for two weeks summer camp at Fort Lewis, Wash.

PGE men have started surveying through here for a power line to extend from the new dam to Oregon City. Wonder what that will do to our TV reception it's purty close.

Jean and Elwin Shibley have deposited their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, with Jean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCluskey in Portland and are taking their son Jimmy with them on a fast trip to Bend Wednesday. It seems that Elwin has an afternoon session to attend so they are going to get it all over with in one day.

Quite a few of the local farmers had the misfortune to lose their hay by way of rainstorms this past week. Strictly on the Q.T. it could be blamed on Charlie Stiter, cause even he admits that if he so much as gets the mower out of the shed it starts clouding up. All kidding aside, we are sorry. Charlie had quite a lot of hay, down in this last storm.

Among the guests were members of the Kelso Church of God.

Soft ball, races and a water balloon catch ended an enjoyable afternoon.
