TUNE TO KGW TV 1:00 PM FRI.

Friday, July 19, at 1:00 P.M. on Portland's KGW-TV on the New Horizons program, Estacada's civic achievements will be outlined by the above panel of local citizens, left to right: R. R. Cooke, City Recorder and Municipal Judge; L. J. Anderson the publisher of Estacada's Clackamas County News; Ray Hayden, original Planning Commission member pinch-hitting for Dr. Allyn M. Price, Planning Commission president; David Horner, City Council president and the Hon. Robert Weinrich, Estacada's mayor.

This wonderful opportunity has been afforded Estacada by Station KGW-TV as a result of the outstanding record that has been attained in Estacada improvements in the last three years.

The program as presented on TV has been prepared under the supervision of Dr. Allyn M. Price with the material assembled by the panel members. A dress rehearsal and timing of the program was well received at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club luncheon.

R. R. Cooke has been delegated to act as program moderator.

Eberhardt Pleads Guilty on Reckless Driving Charge

Upon advice of his attorney, Alex Nichols Eberhardt, pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless driving in Judge Cooke's Court and was fined $250, 90 day jail sentence suspended, and the recommendation that his driver's license be suspended for 90 days.

FOOD SALE SATURDAY AT NEWS OFFICE

The ladies of the Methodist Church are sponsoring a Cooked Food Sale at the Clackamas County News Office this Saturday, July 20th.

Harbert Bros. Get Contract

Harbert Brothers, Estacada, Friday submitted a bid of $253,898 to be low of six bidders when bids were opened by Portland District, Corps of Engineers, for construction of 77-100ths of a mile of relocated state highway No. 58 at Lookout Point Reservoir on the Middle Fork Willamette River, one mile south of the project. Bids ranged as high as $690,668. Government estimate for the work was $359,737. The work must be completed by November 30th.

Fred Bates has been receiving treatment for a heart ailment in a Portland hospital. He is expected home soon.

Executive Heads Hold Meeting

The Executive Committee of the Estacada Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Doolley Monday, July 15, and passed on the schedule for the fall flower show, September 7 and 8. The theme of the show is "September Song." The invitational class to Garden Clubs will be Autumn Flame, featuring the theme of he show for visiting Garden Clubs. The show will be held in the primary basement of the Estacada Grade School. The general chairman is Mss. Adolph Still and the junior chairman is Mrs. Guy Keller.

Eagle Creek Has Heavy Wind Blast

While most of us were aware of high winds last weekend few of us would compare it to a hurricane. However, some residents of upper Eagle Creek last Thursday afternoon witnessed a little tornado passing across their ridge, whipping up piles of hay and transporting other light objects from fields and farm-yards.

NAVY RECRUITER HERE ON MONDAYS

Petty Officer Jack Davis, USN, Navy recruiter for this area, will be at the postoffice in Estacada every Monday from 11:30 to 12 noon to interview applicants for enlistment in the Navy.

Garfield Grange will have a pot luck supper July 27 at 7 P. M. 50c charge. Ice cream will be served by the grange. Social evening to follow supper. Instead of a picnic it was decided to have a work day to finish the kitchen on August 18. Pot luck at noon.

This Person & That

By C.T.R.

The largest industrial institution in Estacada is the Park Lumber Co., with Glen E. Park president. It was started in 1946 and now occupies a number of contiguous acres west of Estacada where just a short time back it was a wooded thicket on which the boys hunted rabbits. The fact that the mill is there at all is due principally to one man, namely Glen E. Park. The title of "captain of industry" is used in every section of the country to bestow upon those worthy of such a showing of leadership, and as for the honor in the Estacada district there is no question as to who the captain of industry is here — Glen E. Park. A great job, Mr. Park. He employs 80 men and all of them speak very well of him. Millions of feet of lumber are piled about the plant, the cutting length being 6 to 36 feet and the planer size 20 by 30 inches. All of this is from old growth fir lumber, delivered within a 30-mile area with an additional charge for over that distance. There is on the mill grounds an attractive and well equipped office with four capable women employed there. Glen E. Park is not just an ordinary woodsman, he is a genius, and has a number of worthy deeds to his credit.

Forty-three years ago this newspaper thanked its regular correspondents and named them as follows: Mrs. B. B. Gibson of Eagle Creek, Miss Echo Githens of Alsbough, Mrs. M.L. Sevier of Viola, Miss Caroline Wiederhold of Bissell, the Misses Flora Johnson and Gladys Joyner of George, Miss Viola DeShazer of Firwood, Mrs. Della Vallen of Elwood, E. S. Wooster, Rev. Aue and Earl Kilgore of Springwater, Mrs. E. T. Saling of Currinsville, Mrs. S. J. Devine of Barton, Mrs. A. O. Whitcomb, Mrs. H. A. LeBarre, Mrs. A. W. Botkin and R. C. Denning of Garfield. At about this same time William Shearer of Garfield was operated on for appendicitis and lived to tell about it and Ruth Myers and Stanford Cox got married and set up housekeeping in Estacada in the Adix house near the Methodist church.

Here is a cute trick to practice on a friend:

1. Ask him to write down 12,345,679. (Note the number eight is omitted.)
2. Now ask him which number of all these he likes the least. When he gives you his answer, tell him to place an "x" above the number he selected.
3. At this point, instruct him to multiply the original 12,345,679 by a number which you suggest.
4. Once he multiplies as directed, he will find that every figure in his total corresponds to the number above which he put the "x."

Example:

|-------------|----|
| | x |
| 12,345,679 | 45 |
| ----- | |
| 61,728,395 | |
| 493,827,16 | |
| 555,555,555 | |

Explanation: It really doesn't matter what number your friend selects. Merely multiply that number by 9. Thus, in the case above, you multiply 5 x 9 and get 45. Once you have this total, multiply 12,345,679 by it,

Tom W. Gerber, who is mighty good with the pencil and helps out wonderfully on the Canby Herald recently had something left him which razzle-dazzled not only Tom, but everybody in Canby with him. "When one doctor doctors another doctor, does the doctor doctor the other doctor the way the doctor being doctor'd wants to be doctor'd?"

Back in those times when Tom was a pup and had no responsibilities put on him, there was a dog around somewhere who had a paroxysm which he wrote for all papers. (This is continued on Page 2)

Pioneer Plant Demolished for Progress

Tuesday, July 9, saw the demolition of one of our area's spots landmarks—the transformer house which once served the Faraday power plant. It is making way for Portland General Electric's new switching yard that will serve the new North Fork dam and Faraday unit. The Cazadero Dam and Faraday Plant were built in 1905-6 and was the third electricity generating plant in Oregon. The transformer house outlived its usefulness in 1925 and since has been used for dead storage. It was built of Estacada Lark in a yard where the Union Oil Co. now has its plant. (Correct me?)

The Estacada Working Co. has the removal with Robert Denny of Portland in charge. Just how the work was taken, the north wall had been taken down. The pictures show the center brick partition 150 feet long which is shown buckling in various places. It was pulled over by a Col. The demolition was completed in one day.

WEATHER SPOILS TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Underwood, Judy, Norman and Lena Underwood have just returned from a trip east. The party reached Rapid City, S.D., and were turned back by electric storms and were unable to go east as they had planned. They were equipped for camping out but spent only two nights in their tent because of storm conditions. On the way back they visited Yellowstone Park and found weather conditions perfect. All in all the trip was lovely. Ann reports.

Buy Purebred Shorthorn Milkers

Floyd and Estella Beebe, Estacada route one, have purchased Hawthorne General 4th, a bull calf, from C.R. and C.U. Leddy, Oregon City. The new animal is a purebred Milking Shorthorn and the record of the transfer of ownership has been made by the American Milking Shorthorn Society at Springfield, Mo.

Virgil Parker has gone to the Veterans Hospital in Portland and expects to be back in a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hills spent Sunday in Jasper, Oregon, at the annual Hills reunion, where they spent the day with over 100 relatives and a few close friends. The Hills spent the 4th in Bend with Mr. Hill's sister, Mrs. Paul Ray enjoying the water pageant and the rock show which Mrs. Hills reports was very lovely.

Texaco Super Service Opens

Al Larson is announcing the opening of his new Estacada Texaco Super Service station in today's issue of this newspaper. This entirely new super service station has recently been completed on the site of the former R. M. Wade Service Station at the corner of Main St. and the Estacada-Portland highway opposite the Estacada High School.

Mr. Larson states he will make the announcement of the grand opening of this new business in the near future.

Meta Kiggins is in the Oregon City hospital for observation. She has been in ill health the past several months.

JOHN LEE WINS SCHOLARSHIP AT OSC

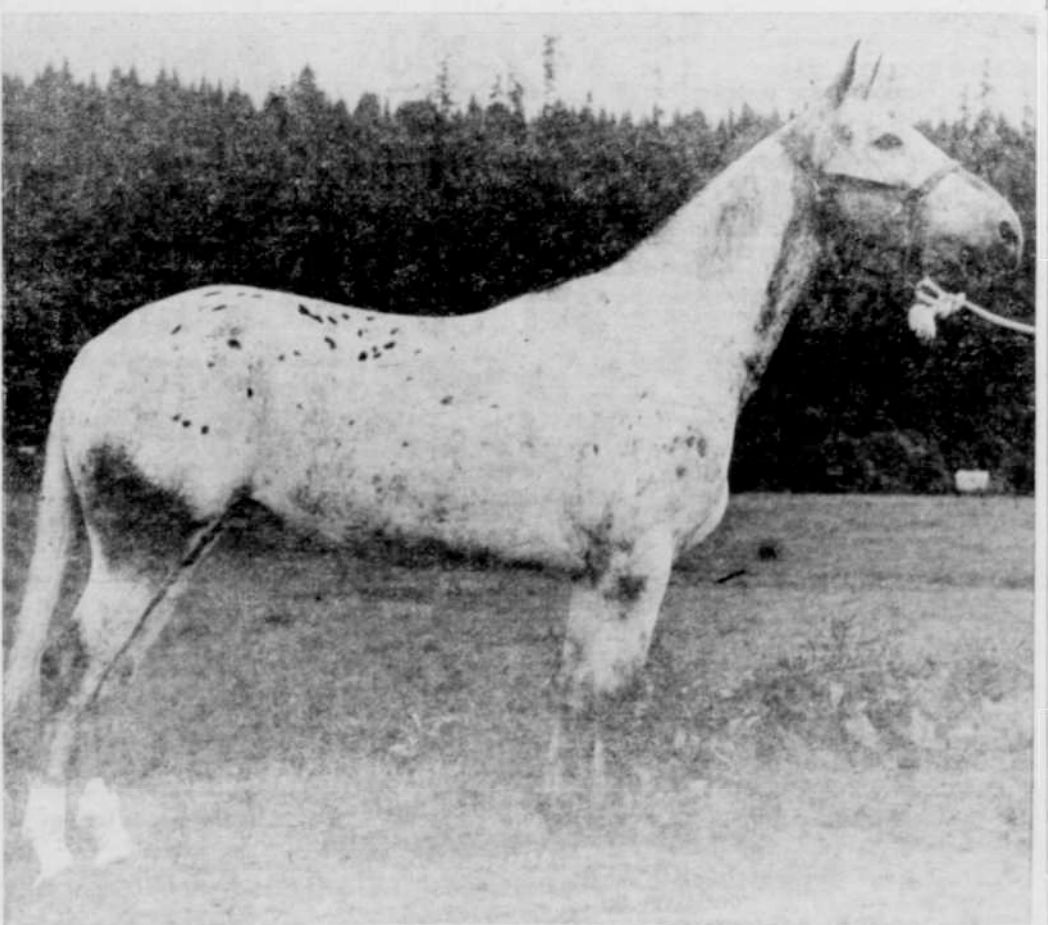

John Lee of Estacada has been named winner of a scholarship for 1957-58 at OSC.

He was one of 18 OSC students awarded $133 scholarships under sponsorship of the state system of higher education. The state scholarships are awarded each year to a limited number of outstanding students enrolled in Oregon colleges and universities and to promising young men various high schools of the state.

Lee will be a junior on business and technology. A 1953 graduate of Estacada Union High School he is the son of Mrs. Jackie Lee of R. 2, Estacada.

Appaloosa Horses to be at County Fair

The Tenth Annual national show of the Appaloosa Horse Club, Inc. will be a feature of the last two days of the 1957 Clackamas County Fair at Canby August 16 and 17. Approximately 150 specimens of the distinctive breed from all parts of the United States will be shown in action. Appaloosas come in a variety of colors but are usually distinguished by dapples on the hind quarters. They are all-purpose horses, especially good on the trail, sturdy and intelligent with quick reflexes. Their ancestors were highly prized by the hard-riding Nez Percés and
