GUNS SLATHERED WITH BUTTER

The old saying about having our cake and eating it too has taken on a new and deep significance.

There is no doubt whatever that military spending is due for a big jump—perhaps much bigger than the President indicated in his budget message. And, along with this, there is considerable doubt whether non-defense spending will be materially reduced in any direction.

Those who want the government to everlastingly take on more and more responsibilities, at everlastingly increasing costs, are mobilizing now. A last ditch fight will be made to get maximum appropriations for welfare, grants to states, social-welfare projects, greater farm subsidies, pork-barrels as usual, and all manner of hand-outs.

If this fight is successful, the nation will face two choices. One is higher taxes on top of already staggering taxes. The other is deficit financing and a further cheapening of the dollar -- that is more inflation.

This isn't a question of whether we shall have guns or butter. It is a question of whether vast gobs of political butter will be slathered onto the guns. Economic undermining of this country would serve the Soviets as surely as military undermining. Never did a Congress, an Administration or the people face plainer facts. Will they recognize them and act accordingly or will they continue on the road to bankruptcy via inflation.

The state of Oregon produced over-all income of slightly more than $3 billion last year. Of that sum the Oregon Voter reports $1,155,000,000 was absorbed in direct taxes, fees, licenses, contributions and other forms of compulsory or mandatory assessments, not including hidden taxes.

Henry Hazlitt writes in Newsweek: "What we must do, is to answer the Communists with truth and clarity on every intellectual level. We must point out that government ownership and operation are grossly inefficient; that socialism does not create wealth but impoverishment; that dialectic materialism is nonsense; that the whole class-struggle argument is false; that workers and managers, employees and employers, are essentially cooperators in production; that the whole system of private capitalism is a marvellous system of social cooperation."

A specialist on Soviet science and industry who is associated with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana says that Russian boys and girls even in the first 10 grades of school put in more than 35 percent of their time on science and mathematics. By way of contrast, columnist Jay Hayden states that during 1955 only 34.4 percent of all high school students took chemistry; 24.5 percent took physics; 9.2 percent took trigonometry, and 7.5 percent took solid geometry.

The Tax Foundation finds that in every year but one between 1945 and 1955 consumers spent more to support government than they spent for food.

Active in Cub Scouts, Little League baseball and folk dancing, Alex Greschok's leisure-time interests center around his family and community. He is typical of today's forest industry people. Like Alex, most are permanent homeowners and taxpayers who make valuable social and economic contributions to this area.

Today some 160,000 men and women work in the Washington and Oregon forest industry. Their earnings total about 750 million dollars a year. Most of this money is spent locally... spreading out into all channels of trade. These payroll dollars help support healthy community growth and prosperity.

Pay checks and other expenditures of the forestry industry are the basis for about one-half of our regional economy. Balanced timber growth and harvest sustain continuous plant operations... a major factor in the economic stability of our region.
