About fifty relatives and friends of Miss Fredericksen attended. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and the honor guest received many lovely gifts. Many who were unable to attend the shower sent gifts.

Refreshments of angel food cake, jello and coffee were served. Miss Fredericksen will marry Don Looney of Currinsville at a ceremony in the Presbyterian Church at Eagle Creek on Saturday, October 25.

Rangers Too Much for Warrenton

Estacada Rangers defeated Warrenton 26 to 7 in Cowapa League play at Estacada Friday.

Warrenton took a 7 to 0 lead in the first quarter.

Then the Rangers got to rolling and took a 13-7 halftime lead on two Worley touchdowns in the second quarter. Beisell booted one of the extra points. Worley added touchdowns in each of the final quarters.

Worley's touchdowns came on runs of 53, two, one and two yards.

Worley picked up 136 yards rushing and Beisell gained 80-plus.

The Rangers face what is their toughest opponent this week when they tangle with the Seaside Gulls at Seaside.

Auxiliary Unit in Orphan Survey

The Carl Douglass Post No. 74, American Legion Auxiliary, will conduct a survey of war orphans in the Estacada Union, High School area this fall according to Mrs. Clyde Alexander. Mrs. Alexander is the chairman of Education and Scholarships for the Auxiliary.

Children of deceased war veterans are eligible for financial aid for college education. The purpose of the survey is to get information on scholarships to all eligible students.

A number of scholarships are available through the American Legion Auxiliary. Ten annual scholarships of $600.00 are given to outstanding daughters of deceased veterans. These awards are known as the National President's scholarships. The Department of Oregon gives two annual scholarships of $300.00 and $150.00 to daughters of deceased veterans. An annual nurses training scholarship is also given to the son or daughter of a veteran by the Department of Oregon.

Children of veterans who died during active service or as a result of injury or illness incurred in World Wars 1 or 11 or the Korean conflict are eligible for educational assistance from the Federal Government. Any person knowing the name and address of a war orphan is asked to contact Mrs. Clyde Alexander, Estacada, stating the name, birth date, address, the name of the deceased veteran parent, date and place of death. The name of the living parent or guardian.

CONSIGNOR'S SALE OF MILKING SHORTHORNS SET FOR McMINNVILLE

Catalogs for the Ninth Annual Milking Shorthorn Sale to be held at McMinnville on Saturday, October 25 are now being mailed to interested persons.

Listed are 30 registered females and four young service-age bulls, drawn from the herds of breeders in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

According to the sales manager, James Adams of Jefferson, Ore., the purpose of the sale, as in the past years, is to promote interest in Milking Shorthorns, a dual purpose breed, among the farmers and stockmen of the Northwest.

"We have never gotten fancy prices at our state sales," said Mr. Adams. "On the contrary, our biggest job has often been to convince the consignor that he will get as much at the sale as he might by selling privately. We have always tried to select animals that will be an asset to the breed if used as foundations for new herds."

"We need more Milking Shorthorn herds in the Northwest, and most of our breeders are willing to put their better animals in this sale as an investment."

The 34 head are consigned by 22 breeders, and will be sold at the Rice Auction Yards, starting at 1 o'clock.

Catalogs may be had for the asking by writing James C. Adams, Sale Chairman, Rt. 1, Jefferson, Oregon.

It Pays to Read Our Ads - They Have a $30.00 Message for Lucky Reader

Miss Mary Bell, popular Estacada High teacher did not find the error in the Estacada McCulloch ad last week. Because of the ribbing we know Miss Bell will take, we have withheld notice of her oversight so as not to interfere with her school duties. We are back at $30.00 - so start getting interested.

This week's error - without clues - is $30.00 and some observant person should find it. Our advertisers are happy to award you your prize of $30.00 - and you have to find it!

Remember, there is only one paper mailed with the intentional error. Any others do not qualify you for the contest prize.

A deliberate mistake of price or text, or both, has been placed in one paper or shopper which is then mailed or delivered at random. You'll have to check all the ads carefully to find the "planted" mistake. When you find what you think is the right mistake, take your paper to the firm in whose ad it appears and you may take advantage of the error in price if to your advantage. You will also receive your prize of $30.00 and two theatre tickets.

The mistake must be reported by 5 p.m. of the Saturday following the date of this paper. If the prize is not claimed, it will be added to the next week's prize. A duplicate paper showing the "mistake" will be posted in the News office window

RED CIRCLES?

We're happy with the response from you folks in bringing your subscriptions up to date. Those of you who are still getting the red circle, if we are in error let the office know - or come in with your renewal. If you do not feel you can afford to renew now, let us know, and we'll rid you of the circle and you may pick up your balance when convenient.

PROBLEMS OF OWNERS OF SMALL FOREST LAND TRACTS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Problems of the owners of small tracts of forest land under 5,000 acres and how these holdings may be better managed were discussed at a meeting which was held Oct. 13 at West Linn Inn, across the bridge from Oregon City.

Alvin L. Parker, Farm Forester, Oregon State Forestry Department, was coordinator for the meeting.

At this meeting discussions were led by Martin Syverson, Division of State and Private Forestry, Northwest Region, U. S. Forest Service, Portland, and Don Maus, Assistant State Forester, Oregon State Forestry Department, Salem. Small woodland owners and others interested from Lincoln, Tillamook, Clatsop, Columbia, Washington, Multnomah, Hood River, Wasco, Marion, Yamhill, and Clackamas Counties attended.

Parker stated that, "According to the recent Timber Resources Review, half of the 10,000,000 acres of privately owned commercial forest lands in Oregon are in small ownerships, and these are producing about half the timber they should. This involves over 36,000 owners. Within the above mentioned counties about 15,000 individuals own around 1,369,000 acres. In Clackamas County alone, over 3000 owners have about 236,000 acres. With these lands producing only about half of their capacity, it is a critical problem in Oregon, where the economy of the common wealth is so dependent upon the lumber industry."

"The primary purpose of the meeting, he said, is to take a critical and informative look at the problem, and analyze the importance of the small woodland to our economic setup. The suggestions and reactions of the owners and other interested parties are sought."

This was one of a series of meetings that are scheduled to be held throughout the state during the early part of October through the cooperation of the U. S. Forest Service and the state forestry department.

"A state wide meeting is to be held in Salem Nov. 6 at which time the various interested parties are urged to attend and express their views."
