Eagle Creek

By Margaret Ross
More than 80 people partook of the Chinese dinner at Eagle Creek church last Sunday night. Following the dinner was a short musical program, with a girls' choir of Westminster Fellowship, directed by Steve Lins, and solos by Mrs. David Bell, of Sandy. A worship service was presented by the youth group and led by Patty Stephens. Following this, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Steward, of Corvallis, told of their thirty years in Nanking, China, illustrating their experiences with colored slides. The church hall was attractively decorated with flowers and Chinese objects many of these brought by the Stewards.

Eagle Creek Ladies Aid, meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the home of Ethel Mae Burnett, decided to hold its annual bazaar and dinner Friday night, Nov. 21, at the church. The November meeting will be held a week earlier, to allow for advance planning.

The Westminster Fellowship young people plan to hold the annual "trick or treat for overseas relief" on the nights before and after Halloween, instead of the 31st itself. They will cruise around George district on Thurs., Oct. 30, and in Eagle Creek on Sat., Nov. 1.

Many local children and families expect to attend the annual Halloween Carnival at Eagle Creek School on Fri., Oct. 31, beginning at 8 P.M. The public is invited to attend this affair, sponsored by the Mothers' Club. Proceeds are used for needed school equipment.

Mrs. Nola Williams, of Pasadena, a former Eagle Creek resident, arrived here last Sunday to visit at the home of Mrs. Maude Burnett. On Sunday she was a guest of the Homer Glovers, along with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Glover, of Portland.

Weekend guests of the Earl Wilsons were Mrs. Wilson's aunt, Mrs. Carrie Strom and her daughter Wilma Strom, from Seattle. They were accompanied by Bud White, Mrs. Wilson's brother, whose Navy ship docked in Seattle, giving him his first leave to come home since re-enlisting on Sept. 1 of this year. He stayed with his mother, Mrs. Gertrude White. Other Sunday visitors of the Wilsons were Ed and Katie Larson, former E. C. residents now of Milwaukie, and their new baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rush recently returned from a week of fishing on the beach at Yachats, accompanied by Mrs. Dustin Lake.

The stork is a busy fellow around Eagle Creek this fall, and will continue to be, we understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark last Sunday morning, Oct. 19, heralded the birth of their 3rd boy, weighing 8 lb. 10 oz. at Emanuel hospital. Harry and Leo have named the new baby Robert George. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clester, also of Eagle Creek.

Another Eagle Creek baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Fisher, Jr., on Fri. P.M., Oct. 17, at Portland Osteopathic Hosp., weighing 7 lbs. He was named Michael Scott. The Fishers have two other boys and a girl. Grand parents are Boyd Fisher, of Orient, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews, of Portland. Mrs. Matthews is here caring for the family at present.

Remember the time when a fellow came into the community and proposed to build a furniture factory on a spot near where the Taylor store is now located. He canvassed the neighborhood and arranged for a public meeting to finance the project. Nobody came but Attorney Bartlett who told him that evidently everybody had all the furniture they wanted and nobody figured on buying even a chair or rocker in the next ten years. The promoter left town on the next street car.

At the Springwater Grange the other day a woman was saying: "My grandchildren call worms 'squirms.' 'That's nothing' said another woman. 'My grandchildren eat the worms.'"
