

Eagle Creek

By Margaret Ross
They grow 'em big in Eagle Creek! Most of Eagle Creek's recent newborn babies have been little heavy-weights. The newest arrival to set the record is on 11 lb. 10 oz. baby boy who first greeted the world last Sunday evening, Dec. 7 at Emmanuel Hospital. Proud parents of this latest contender are Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lensch. The Lensch's have six girls, ranging from a small toddler to two high school graduates, and one older boy who is now in the U.S. Marines. They have long awaited the addition of a second boy to the family circle.
An 11 lb. 2 oz. baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wymore (Patty Clevinger) of Eagle Creek, on Tuesday A. M., Dec. 2. The husky newcomer, named Richard Martin, their second child. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clevinger and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wymore, of Barton. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Lavina Wymore of Portland and Mrs. Dorma Rouse, of Ft. Collins, Colo.

Fifteen members of Bethel No. 54 of Jobs Daughters attended Eagle Creek Church on an official go-to-church visit last Sunday. That afternoon the girls went on a bowling and skating party.
