Make Your Windows Shine

The word window is said to be derived from "wind-eye" which describes its two functions—to let in light and air and allow those on the inside to look out. For this, it's necessary for windows to be shining clean no matter whether your view is a lovely woodland scene or just the building next door.

The types of windows in a house are usually keyed to climate and architectural periods. The five most common types are illustrated here.

No matter what type of window you have, cleaning should be done regularly before too much dust and grime settle on panes and sills. First, clean the window frames. Then it won't take long to clean the glass, particularly with the new formula Windex. It either sprays or is rubbed on with a spray bottle or handy bottle with sprayer. It loosens dirt in seconds and wipes dry quickly. By spraying with one hand and wiping with the other, the job is done in a jiffy. Some windows are easier to clean than others. Small panes are more difficult than a large expanse of glass. But even these are easy with the blue cleaner that sprays all the corners and leaves no dirt-catching film. Use it on the outside, too. Hands never get wet so there's no danger of chapping. In fact, you can do it with gloves on in cold weather.

This Person & That
By C. T. E.
The masterpiece of the week by Ruth Bennett Keeton: I approve of children having pets to me its right and fine. When pets start having children That's where I draw the line

At the Library silence is golden. To this Mrs. Dayton, the able librarian will testify. A few days ago a couple of fellows met in front of the library. Both were hard of hearing. "I saw the picture Ten Commandments and it was great" one of them shouted to the other and the other yelled back: "No I didn't see the picture, but I read the book."

The conundrum man has been around again and wants to know if a car run over a dog, what would stop a waggin." Anybody knows that the dog's tail would stop waggin."

Grandma was telling a group of women the other day that she had always been happy but she had always carried two burdens during her life and that was Pa and the kitchen stove. Every-time I look at one the other goes out."

An Estacada gentleman tells this story of his boyhood days. He would permit the use of his name but his wife would not stand for it. While the folks were away one time he and his kid brother took the clock apart to see 'what made it tick.' After examining every part they put the clock together again. In the night the clock struck 28 times without stopping. Dad called to mother excitedly: 'you had better get up. Its later than I ever knew it to be.'

They are giving lessons in back seat driving throughout the country. It is not believed that there will be class in Estacada for as far as is known there is not a back seat driver in the community. Their efficiency cannot be better known than by the woman in the back seat who shouted to her husband: 'Don't drive so fast. There is a policeman in a car behind who can't get by.'

A health specialist from this department recently got a glimpse of Otto Kiggins wiping his feet on the back porch of his home as all good husbands should. Otto was born with good looks, a good disposition and a good chance to become a city councilman or what have you. Retha Ames found him out several years ago, married him and made him the happiest man in the world.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the sympathy and assistance of friends and neighbors at the death of our beloved husband and father and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Allen

As you go to bed tonight join in singing the latest cradle song: Hush little corner lot, don't you cry. You'll be a filling station by and by.'

2,600 Year Tradition Broken

TOKYO—Accompanied by her father, Hidesaburo Shoda, and mother, Fumiko (center), Michiko Shoda, 24-year-old Japanese girl, leave their home here enroute to the palace to meet Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako after it was announced that she would wed Japan's Crown Prince Akihito. Prince Akihito is the first member of the ruling family to marry a commoner in 2,600 years. The Imperial household selected Michiko from a list of qualified girls that was said to number over 1,000.
