

This Person & That

By C. T. E.

Below is the most unique article written in 1958. It was found posted on the wall of a liquor store:

"Why not start a saloon in your own home? Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $55 to buy a case of whiskey. There are 240 drinks in a case. Buy all your drinks from your wife at 60 cents a drink and in 12 days (When the case is gone) your wife will have $89 to put in the bank and $55 to buy another case. If you live ten years and continue to buy all your whiskey from your wife and then die in your boots, your widow will have $27,095.47 on deposit... enough to bring up your children, pay off the mortgage on the house, marry a decent man and forget she ever knew a bum like you.

The Old Timer was down on the streets the other day between showers and the subject of marriage came up. "Want to know how I proposed to my wife?" he asked those about him. "One evening as we sat by the stove I said to her 'What about getting married?' She said 'when' and I said tomorrow and we did." His wife is one of the sweetest and nicest women in Estacada and the Old Timer made no mistake in proposing to her.

"Cops when speaking of cops never call cops cops" Most cops are fine fellows. Recently a woman went to a police station in a nearby town and asked: "Is this the place where you get police dogs free?" They told her to come back Saturday. When that day arrived she was right there and they presented her with a police dog free and police dogs cost money.

A minister in this section presented his friends with a copy of the sermon on the mount this last Christmas which was a good deed to do. He was not this minister however, who while making pastoral calls around said to boy: "Son, come and tell me how old you are, my little man?" "Well if that aint the limit" said the boy "why you are the one who baptised me."

Grandma was saying at Grange the other day that she remembers several years back at Grange meetin g that an outside speaker to emphasize a point he was making declared that "you cannot get eggs without chickens." From a back seat a boy shouted: "My mother did". She kept ducks. Grandma went on to say that she was over to a neighbors recently and a little girl told her "two legs are noe enough on a chicken when three are three of us."

The conundrum fellow was around this week and wanted to 6 ft. 4 inches tall. The first time you meet up with this high school teacher ask him if he ever heard of the two janitors in as office building who were broom mates and even swept together."

Some of the Estacada women might not like to qualify. "An optimist is a woman who leaves the evening dishes because she will feel more like washing them in the evening."

John and Anne Marchbank were married in the last century, went through all kinds of everything, and came through the same old John and Anne well satisfied with each other. Everybody is glad that everything came out just as planned and hoped for and wished for them another 60 years of the same.

An Estacada business man took his 'sister' up an the high school steps one night recently and found a young couple already there and the girl was anxiously asking her male admirer: "You wouldnt marry me for money, would you dear?" and she was supremely happy when he replied: "No, I wouldnt marry you for all the money in the world."

This is the masterpiece of the week from the Uplift:

Always somewhere in the world it is midnight. The shadows are as deep as death. Where darkness is, fear reigns. Even so, on a sundial on a pier at Brighton, England, "Tis always morning somewhere in the world." This hopeful suggestion is worthy of our remembrance. It is always morning somewhere, and it is going to be morning everywhere, some day.

Leila found a blue iris recently and presented it to Florence who called on her that day to remind her of Spring. On March 21 when it is also true that, as it is written Florence calls again Leila will present her with a bouquet of blue iris si she will know for sure that Spring has arrived.
