

Miscellaneous.

A letter from John T. Bailey of Burns, of Jan 15, says that the snow at that place had been 30 inches deep but had disappeared by a chinook. Stock were poor but that he had yet about 200 tons of hay which he thought would take him through the winter.

Here in the upper Willamette, for the past week we have had the most delightful weather imaginable. To every sportsman it has been more like April than January. Grass is growing and fields are covered with a green coat. It is feared by some that the weather will cause a premature advance of fruit bloom which the frosts will kill. But if this occurs it will be unusual.

We notice with some surprise and disappointment that Representative Gray, of Lane county, voted against Fiagg's resolution providing for the return of supplies to the secretary of state at the close of the session, such as ink stands, manila envelopes, waste paper baskets, spittoons etc. Mr Gray was elected by the union organization of Lane county which was largely made up of Democrats.

Diagonally, but the man who voted for Beach, Haddock, Stratton, Cline, Jones, Donnelly, Fiagg, Fowley, Jones, Mettison, Reeder, Sherwin, Smith, Stump, Thompson, of Clackamas, Wilson, of Douglas, Warrant, of Douglas, Souaker, March, of Is. Absent, Conn. Hill, Carter, Ross—4.

Bodies of two men have been found murdered near Hackberry, Arizona. The bodies had been exposed for three days. Their throats were cut and heads beaten to a jelly. The remains have been identified as those of James Dowd, a miner, and John Blake, a Mormon teamster from Utah. Three Mexicans are supposed to have murdered the men.

Grippe

Just as we sometimes see a tree or pole apparently strong and sound come crashing down because of some undetected process of decay, so no matter how good an appearance a woman may present, if she is subject to any hidden weakness, gradually creeping away and undermining her vitality, some day her entire constitution will give way and leave her a prostrate physical wreck.

The average doctor gives a little something for the headache and still another thing for the nerves and so on, never once reaching the hidden weakness in the distinctly feminine organism.

The vast experience and special practice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Inval. H. Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., in treating women's diseases, enables him to understand and cope successfully with these particular ailments. Any woman may feel the utmost confidence in consulting him by mail. She will receive, free of cost, sound professional advice, whereby her health may in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, be promptly and permanently restored.

Writing in Canton, Ohio, Mrs. W. S. Swartz writes: "I had female troubles for nearly three years. Had no appetite, and above my hips and back I had a burning, itching, and stinging pain. I had to lie in bed for a week. I had much pain at night, but I could not sleep. I had to get up and walk about, and was very pale and weak. I took Dr. Pierce's Pink Pills for Pale People, and soon I felt a different person. My appetite returned, and I could do all the work for several months and one child, an infant in fact, I feel that through your mercy and your wonderful medicine that I am cured."

Genuine. Mrs. Parvess—That picture in the corner is by an old master.

Mrs. Swartz—Indeed, I would never have guessed it.

Mrs. Parvess—Yes, the man I bought it from gave me a written guarantee that the picture was past 75 before he drew a stroke on it.—Chicago News.

In Use. Mamma (at the breakfast table)—You always ought to use your napkin, Georgie.

Georgie—I am not, mamma. I've got the dog tied to the leg of the table with it.—Chicago Tribune.

Much of the artificial coloring of foods is traditional and not meant to deceive. These candies are colored onions.

Goat Hunting in Alaska. "They have a queer way of hunting mountain goats up in the mountainside of Chagany," said D. J. McKinney, the "mayor of Chagany." "The boys at one of the camps told me one day that they had seen some goats up in the hills, and they asked me if I wanted to go along to hunt them. Of course I did, and we were soon climbing high up on the mountainside, away above the altitude that I thought any living creature would live. Still up and up we went. The boys were trying to get above a place where they had seen the goats a few days before. When they had located the proper point, they selected a huge boulder and got me to help them tip it over. It took the combined strength of three of us to get the rock started. When it did get to going, the havoc it caused on its way down to the valley was something fearful. Then the boys told me to get ready for a surprise. We all got our rifles ready and waited. It was only a short time until we saw emerging from the scrubby growth below us three fine goats. They came toward us, bounding from crag to crag and apparently heedless of the danger they were falling into. They came to within 60 yards of us, and we brought down all three.

"I learned then that the goat always tries to get above rolling rocks, and that that is a favorite way of hunting them."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A Kitchen Aid. A double chopping knife should find its way into every well equipped kitchen. Upon the theory that time is money, how much it is wasted in chopping apples for the mince-pie, and for the pudding or ham for the sandwiches with a single bladed, old-fashioned chopper that will only do half the work of a double one in the same time?

Child and Parent. Nothing appears to us so beautiful in human experience as the reciprocal affection of parents and children. The child never grows old to a fond parent. It is always the dear child, and never so dear as when it keeps up the childish confidence and love of its earliest years.—Exchange.

Turning the Stock. A writer in The Dry Goods Chronicle says: "A good point for the retail merchant to remember is that it is not how much he does, but how many customers he attracts in the course of his business that indicates the success of his trade."

Smoking Lions. Among the Arabs, where the lion is hunted with success, the hunter studies his beast before engaging in battle. If he is very fat, there is little danger in pot shots. If he is lean and spiny, the Arab will maneuver for a coign of vantage from which he can pour in three or four shots before coming to close quarters.—Exchange.

Why He Thought So. Banker—Do you know if Clotber is quick in handling money? "I think so. He's been twice in Canada, I know."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Van-over, B. C., Jan 31.—News was received here at 6 o'clock this evening from Superintendent Marpole, at the scene of the disaster, of a fatal snow slide on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, at Rogers pass, on the summit of the Selkirk. The catastrophe occurred at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The roundhouse and station were swept away, and seven lives were lost and two persons injured.

The Grippe and Sulphur.

In my daily papers of December 22 I find that there are supposed to be something like 100,000 cases of grippe in New York City, and it is also prevailing largely in Washington, Philadelphia and other cities, and is now threatening Boston. It is a fact that when it was prevailing as an epidemic largely in our city a few years ago, I ascertained, by inquiry of my officers at "Byam's Match Factory," that of the forty-three persons employed there not one had been troubled by it. I have at various times told the press how many at Memphis, Tennessee, (including the agents of "The Howard Benevolent Association") escaped the terrible epidemic of yellow fever there (as they claimed) by wearing powdered sulphur in their shoes,—also the evidence of a distinguished German medical writer translated into English, that wearing sulphur in this way has proved a complete protection against cholera and other epidemic diseases,—also that those working the sulphur mines of Italy escape the malaria which prevails all about them,—also that sulphur in the shoes has cured various cases of rheumatism,—also that sulphur taken internally or worn in the shoes has sufficient power to pass through the body, the clothing and the pocket-book, blackening the silver there.—Geo. T. Angell, in "Our Dumb Animals."

Ed. Broad-Axe: Colter, Harwood, and I took the contract to pull the steamer Lillian up on the ways so that she could be overhauled. The first thing to be done was to clear the ways of lumber and tallow. Then we built a cradle, and at low tide slide it to the water and fastened it with dogs. Then at high tide floated the steamer on to gradle. Then attached our cable to a winch, and began hauling her up the ways. We will finish hauling her up today.

Last Friday night between 1 and 2 o'clock the Cushman steamsawmill at Acma caught fire and burned down. The fire destroyed about 50,000 feet of lumber. They had been running the mill to its fullest capacity to get a cargo of lumber for the Bella, which is on her way from San Francisco to this port. I understand there is a $2,000 insurance on the burned plant.

The postal department has made a change here at Glenada. They have discontinued the ocean beach route from here to Gardner, and extended the land route from Gardner to Glenada, with service twice a week. The steam tug Roberts came to Florence yesterday from Coos Bay. She had on quite a number of empty fish barrels. When she leaves she will go to the Yaquina.

We have established a cooperative reading club here at Glenada. The following are some of the papers we use in the club. Appeal to Reason, Industrial Freedom, Broad-Axe, Cincinnati Weekly, Enquirer, San Francisco Bulletin, besides such books as "Seven Financial Conspiracies," and "Ten Men of Money Island."

I received a letter from Bro. Wallace in regard to locating a colony here at Glenada. He informed me that the citizens of Monroe have offered him a bonus of $200,000, to locate there. They have secured both grist mills and the water right, besides 2,000 acres of land. Success to them say I. I am going to advocate the building of an electric line from Eugene to Glenada, and if I cannot wake the citizens of Lane county to undertake the job I will undertake it myself, and when I complete it, I won't let any Lane countyite ride so there now.

The weather here has been fine, and warm for the past few days, and every body healthy.
