policy ing republicans of the United States, and the number of from 5,000 to 10,000 be assembled at that convention, Oregon should be fully represented.
State is entitled to six delegates at and four from each congressional district, making 14 to be elected. The president and secretary of the state club, national vice president for Oregon, the national executive committee-WATER for Oregon are delegates ex officio, making a total of 18.
These delegates are urged to attend the meeting, so that the meeting shall be representative of the republican movement of the state. Special rates have been secured on the railroads for delegates.
The state club is composed of clubs represented in proportion to their actual membership. Every republican club in the state, being permanently organized, with a constitution and by-laws, is entitled to representation in the state club, whether on the club's present official list or not. Clubs are entitled to one representative at large and one for each 25 members or fraction thereof greater than 15. Secretaries of clubs are requested to fill out the enclosed certificate of membership and list of delegates chosen to represent the club and return it to the secretary of the state club as early as possible. By doing so the work of organizing the convention will be greatly facilitated, and delegates will not be subjected to inconvenience or possible loss of their seats because of irregularity or uncertainty as to the number of delegates to which their clubs are entitled. All credentials must be signed by the president or vice-president and secretary, and all proxies must be in writing.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Republican Club, called by the president, held at Portland, March 9, 1895, it was decided to call a special meeting of the state club, to be held at Portland,

The objects of the meeting are to elect delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Republican League of the United States, to be held at Cleveland, O., June 19, 1895; to consider the advisability of changing the name of the state organization to "The Republican League of Oregon," in order to conform to the title generally used by state clubs belonging to the National League; to devise a means of revenue for maintaining and extending the state organization, and to further in any other way the interests of the republican party in the state of Oregon.

Oregon has never been adequately represented at the National League conventions, and should this year be present with the entire 18 delegates to which she is entitled. This will be the most important meeting of the league since its organization, and will be the first great gathering of republicans preparatory to the presidential campaign of 1896. The Church Music.

Prof. Thomas Nickolson says, "It is about time we rescued such sweet toned instruments as the violin, piccolo, the bass viol and the cornet from Satan's service and procure both them and the men who have a taste for their music for the service of God and the church."
