Here and There.

He sat at his door at noonday,
Lonely, glum and sad.
The flies were buzzing about him,
Led by a blue-winged gad.
Not a customer darkened his portal,
Not a sign of business was there;
But the flies kept on buzzing
About the old man's hair.
At last in misery he shouted:
"Great Scott! I'm covered with flies!"
And the zephyr that toyed with his whiskers said:
"WHY DON'T YOU ADVERTISE?"

"Shoot the Slangist."—An article has been extensively published in the press, each paper crediting some other town with the original. We do not know whether such a society has been organized here. However, we give our readers the benefit of the article: A number of girls met one evening last week for the purpose of organizing an anti-slang society. A leading society lady was elected president. Before taking her seat she said in a clear, calm, well modulated voice: "Really, girls, I am too much rattled by the honor conferred upon me to give you much of my gab. It is the first time that I have ever tumbled to anything of this kind and I hardly know how to catch on. However, I will try to be sufficiently up to snuff not to let any flies light on me while doing the president act of this society. I am with you in this move and we ought to extend an invitation to the married ladies. Let our motto be: "Shoot the Slangist."—Heppner Gazette.

Mrs. Rorer's Fruit Soup.

Fruit soups are more common abroad than here. They are served cold, of course, and are pleasant and easily prepared novelty for the company summer luncheon. Mrs. Rorer's receipt for cherry soup calls for one quart of cold water over the fire; when boiling add half a cup of sugar and press through colander and return to the fire. Moisten one tablespoonful of arrowroot; add it to the boiling mixture; cook a moment; add one tablespoonful lemon juice and turn out to cool. Serve cold in glasses with a little cracked ice.—Chicago Times-Herald.

JONES THE LIVERYMAN. Forest Grove.

The Main Object . . .

In keeping our drug store open is to put up prescriptions, and that keeps us fairly busy—with more business in sight. Our shop is often full, but we will make room for you long enough to take your order and will fill it from fresh material with the utmost care. Incidentally (and why not), we supply many people in this vicinity with toilet articles, perfumes and stationery, and they think a lot of the corner drug store.
