$1.50 A YEAR.

The HATCHET has now been in existence for a year, long enough for its aims and methods to become known to the public. The one dollar a year subscription rate which it has maintained during these twelve months is too low for a good newspaper. The paper as it comes to us costs one-third of that and the obtaining of news, the printing and delivering, leave no margin, it does not even cover expenses. For this reason on and after May 16, thirty days from date, the subscription price of the HATCHET will be raised to one dollar and fifty cents a year, or with the Weekly Oregonian two dollars a year. Paid subscriptions up to that time will be received at the old rate, one dollar a year for the HATCHET or with the Weekly Oregonian one dollar and seventy-five cents.

This step means that the HATCHET for the coming year will be better than ever before. Its county news service now excels all competitors as does its foreign news, and that high rank will be maintained. Compare the HATCHET in quantity and quality with any other newspaper of the county and you will consider the best is the cheapest. An exciting political year is at hand and you want the paper that gives the news.
