AMERICAN.

Well worthy of consideration are the words of Supreme Chancellor Ritchie in his address to the Supreme Lodge of Knights of Pythias, at the session in Cleveland last week. It is in reference to lodges having seceded because the Supreme lodge refused to allow rituals for use in America to be printed in foreign languages.

"The statement was made that our order was opposed to foreigners. This I resented with all the force at my command. Our order is American; it stands for country and for order, but believes in loyalty to flag and tongue. It welcomes those who come to us from foreign shores, desiring to be Americans, knowing our language, observing our laws and aiding in the prosperity of our country.

"Our order stands for Americanism. It says to those coming to our country not caring to know our laws, not caring to observe our customs, thrice welcome will be the ship that shall bear you back to the land from whence you came. This order in this country desires no man a member who does not wish to know its tongue and does not care to familiarize himself with its laws and has not a proper regard for its customs and institutions. Our order is better off, our country is better off, without those who care not for its tongue, its laws and its customs."

It is reassuring that on this plain platform ninety-five per cent. of the foreign-born membership of the order remained loyal. From those not native to this country have come many of our most distinguished men in all lines. They were not born here but they adapted themselves, were naturalized in fact as well as in form, and became more truly Americans than thousands whose ancestors for generations had made this country their home, but whose affections and longings were towards other lands. Such pitiable creatures are now seen in our Duchesses of Marlborough, Waldorf Astors, our Bayards and our Draytons. An American is made not by fate of birth or form of law, but in the heart.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

No other article of human food has ever received such emphatic commendation for purity, strength and wholesomeness, from the most eminent authorities, as the Royal Baking Powder.

THE FAVORITE PRUNE.

The blessing concealed in the hard times for fruit is beginning to reveal itself to the growers. A large firm of Eastern fruit dealers writes: "The low prices at which evaporated Italian prunes have been sold in all Eastern markets during the past couple of years, while a big sacrifice on the part of the growers and shippers, have been the means of introducing them quite thoroughly and wiping out the existing prejudice against this fine prune. Jobbers who had to be forced into buying them in the past, are now already inquiring for Italian prunes." Glad news this is to those who have so patiently and persistently pinned their faith to the belief that there was money in good prunes.

Oregon's Italian prune has proven its superiority in flavor, substance and shipping qualities. Unfortunately this year there are few or no Italian prunes to market and unscrupulous dealers are writing in to growers to ship any kind and brand them "Italian" to satisfy the demand. Thus quickly the eminence to which the Oregon fruit has attained would be lost and the favor with which it has met be turned away.

The people of Oregon should see that no such imposition be allowed to undo the work that has been done to gain a market and reputation for the Italian prunes.

COLLEGE AND COUNTY.

One lesson taught by the close times has been that improved farm property is far better security on which to loan money than business blocks in cities. Pacific University has invested its endowment funds largely in Portland with the result that it has had considerable money tied up.

Here in Washington county farmers have been mortgaging their land for safe sums to outside parties. Every cent of the college endowment could find secure investment in this county, bringing the institution into closer touch with the people at home upon whom it is dependent for its prosperity. The people of Washington county have given liberally towards the endowment of Pacific University, and it would be a fit recognition of their interest as well as sound business policy to have the school thus reciprocate. There is no good reason why the college funds should not be handled at Forest Grove, and many a reason why they should.

ALL POPULISTS NOW.

There are today in Oregon but two parties, the republican and the populist. A week ago Tuesday the democratic party officially went out of existence, the Bryan-Sewall banner was pulled down and one inscribed "Bryan and Watson" hoisted in its stead. This leaves the democrats free to choose whom they will support, and bound by no party ties. Under these circumstances the populist platform becomes the only rule of faith and conduct for Bryan men.

The tiger and the lamb have lain down together, but, wonderful to relate, the tiger is inside of the lamb.

A WOULD-BE SUCCESSOR TO WASHINGTON.

"The news has been sent out that a partial canvas of Mr. Bryan's home town, Lincoln, and the county of Lancaster, in which it is situated has been made. The county committee distributed blanks and sought to secure an accurate canvass. In two precincts reported the result was: McKinley 219; Bryan 44. The poll of University place, a leading center, was: McKinley 126; Bryan 14; prohibition 19; uncertain 22. It is claimed that while the returns are incomplete, they establish a general character of the whole. One of Bryan's townsmen says of him: "Oratorically, he is a sky-rocket. Mentally he is a stick. As a lawyer he is not even in the fourth-class and that he has no business capacity at all, was not a success as an editor and got into congress by a 'fluke.'" And this superficial accident and political trimmer is aiming at the presidency in a financial campaign."—Vernon County Censor.

THE CROWER NOW CROW-EATING.

It is interesting to observe the Hillsboro Argus whose editor is now a man without a party. Hood's wounded sailor wept, "A cut in one place is enough, but I've been cut in two." So thinks the Argus. The cut of Bryan still appears at the editorial masthead, but the ticket has been cut in two.

August 20 it was "Our Candidates," August 27 it was "Our Candidate" and the name of Arthur Sewall of Maine will no longer be known to fame through the medium of the Argus columns. On the 6th the Argus published as its creed the democratic platform. Now that platform no longer is represented in Oregon, and it remains for the Argus to determine whether it will continue to cherish the ghost of its lost cause or will become reconciled to the principles of Cyclone Davis, Coxey, Sandford, Watson and Bryan.

YATES AND LONG.

At the request of Editor Long and because the HATCHET would do no man injustice the Argus editorial on ex-Representative Yates letter is herewith given:

This was not published by The Argus for the reason Mr. Yates does not answer the query, which is plainly seen to be a direct one, and in no way should be answered except unqualifiedly. Yet, had Mr. Yates, said that he preferred the "gold standard and protection" to bi-metalism and a democratic revenue plank, his response would have been published. As the answer is irrelevant to the directness of the query, it was not published. Mr. Yates personal statements have been that he was opposed to the gold standard and this attitude defeated his re-nomination at last spring's county convention. Very likely Mr. Yates thought of this at the moment he wrote the above in his reply: "[and myself in particular]." Indeed this paraphrase by itself is so purely personal and explanatory of Mr. Yates' position as to almost cause one to deem the answer not for publication.

In characteristic words the editor of the Headlight bids farewell to Tillamook and his readers whom he has served so faithfully and so interestingly: "There isn't room in Oregon for Harvey Scott and us. The field is limited for both of us, and we shall probably go to a larger field—California. Harvey came to Oregon first and we hate to crowd him out.—Yours, etc., W. F. D. Jones" Oregon loses a good newspaper man.

Not one of these democrats but lately boasting of Bryan and Sewall will vote for their candidates. They can't—if they stay in Oregon.

"Boys will be boys," but you can't afford to lose any of them. Be ready for the green apple season by having DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure in the house. J. C. Clark, druggist.
