Weather—During the past week or 10 days a decided change has taken place in the weather conditions which marks a distinct line between the summer and fall weather. Compared with the week ending on the 7th inst., the temperature of the past week has averaged 10 degrees cooler daily. There have been chilly and foggy mornings since Tuesday, and so low has the temperature fallen in some sections that frost was avoided only through the presence of cloudiness and smoke. In the Willamette valley the temperature fell as low as 44 and 46 degrees, while in the Umpqua and Rogue river valleys the minimum temperature fell to 42 degrees on four mornings of the week. In Southern Oregon a light frost occurred on the morning of the 9th, and it is the first report of the occurrence of frost in Western Oregon this fall. On the same morning traces of frost were noted in some portions of the Willamette valley. In the northern portions of the Willamette valley and along the Columbia to the coast, light rain fell Saturday night and Sunday morning. The weather has been generally cloudy and the clouds have materially lessened the density of the smoke. At present there are indications of light occasional showers.

Crops—Activity in the harvest fields having ceased owing to all the grain except very late-sown having been secured and threshed, farmers and threshing hands have turned their attention to hop picking. For several years there has been an over-production of hops, causing the price to fall so that many growers have neglected their yards. Throughout the hop-growing sections many yards uncultivated hops can be observed. Other growers have expended the usual amount of attention of time and labor on their hops; the comparison shows a marked difference in the cultivated and uncultivated hop. The cultivated hop is superior in size and quality to the best produced last year. Necessarily the hop yield will be light this year. The cultivated hop will, as a rule, be picked, but few of the others will be saved. A correspondent at Gales creek states that only a few yards of hops will be picked in this section. Another correspondent at Woodburn, Marion county, states that picking is progressing, but many yards will be left unpicked. The hops are of good quality in Washington county. The damp and foggy mornings have been bad on hops, causing mold to set in quite thick in places, especially in low ground and in places where the growth of leaves has been heavy.

All harvesting and threshing have been done except late-sown oats. Farmers are well advanced with their work. All crops are approaching maturity rapidly. The potato crop has about made its growth, having received undoubted benefit from the early August rains, yet the crop will not be an average. The vines are changing color.

Corn is a good crop. This has been an exceptionally good year for the growth of corn, owing to the greater number of warm nights; the ears are filling well and the grain becoming hard, showing that it will be ready to harvest in about a month. Much corn in the Willamette valley is still in the roasting ear.

The frost which occurred on the mornings of the 9th and 10th was sufficiently heavy to kill cucumber and squash vines in some localities. Crops are so far advanced that frost can do but little damage. All kinds of fruit are making good progress in ripening. Bartlett pears are ripe, and what few remain are delicious. It seems that the frosts of the spring left enough fruit for home consumption. Orchardists are looking carefully after their orchards, with the hope of good results next year. There will be an abundance of grapes if the frosts do not come too early.

Seeding of grain for the next year's crop has begun. Most all of the summer fallow has been seeded. A rain is needed to soften the ground for the plum. It is expected that a very large crop of grain will be sown this fall, probably larger than the average.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill. was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at the Miller pharmacy. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

The Quadrant Case.

The Quadrant case through Senator Mitchell's efforts has been advanced on the Supreme court docket so that it will be taken up in October or November instead of three or four years hence as it would have been had it followed the regular course.

This is as great a favor as could be obtained for after Mr. Mitchell's return from his visit here last year, true to his promise, he at once took up the matter with the attorney-general and the case was put at the head of the list but several others had been advanced too and it had to follow them. The senator also brought the situation before Mr. Huntington of the Southern Pacific system and urged him to investigate, telling him of the numerous settlers and the comfortable homes they had made for themselves. If the railway officials could go over the large region and see the great improvements which have been made by years of saving and hardest work they would be less than human were they to deprive them of all the wages of their long labor. Some compromise would surely effected.

With a righteous cause to be decided by the highest court of justice, with the government morally bound to make good the loss by improvements which have been made through confidence in the patents which it has issued and with the Oregon members of congress pledged to see that the government does right the wrong, it seems as though the quadrant settlers who have suffered so much are at last beginning to see the sunlight breaking through the dark clouds which have been threatening them.

Sudden Death near Buxton.

Saturday evening Coroner Large was summoned to near Buxton where Joel Grandholm had been found dead on his homestead. A jury consisting of T. J. Harris, J. A. Thornburg, L. F. Carstens, C. Williams, Wm. Ingles and A. L. Stephens was secured and an investigation made resulting in a verdict that deceased came to his death on the 11th from heart failure. Dr. Ward made the examination and Messrs. Adam Simpson, C. A. Peterson, Frank Petrzilka, A. Bledsoe, A. J. Noyes and R. N. Varley appeared as witnesses. The body was buried in the Buxton cemetery.

Mr. Grandholm was a Swede, 24 years old, unmarried, and had no relatives except a sister in Massachusetts. He had a homestead claim and some personal property. His horse was entrusted to Mr. Carstens and coroner took charge of his effects. The property will all be turned over to the county treasurer but it will not cover the expense to the county.

Mitchell in the Grove.

Monday afternoon Senator Mitchell spoke in Forest Grove, but from early in the morning the wagons loaded with people were arriving and most of them spent the morning shopping as the numbers of bundles that were being carried testified. The Hillsboro delegation was accompanied by their band, and with the Grove band also playing, there was music galore.

The day was so chilly that it was thought best to have the speaking indoors, and the beautiful auditorium of Marsh hall was secured. The other rooms on the second floor opening into it were also occupied and fully 1100 found seats or stood in the hall during the addresses.

State Senator Sam Hughes introduced Senator Mitchell, who prefaced his remarks with a brief statement of the present condition of the quadrant case. This is given under that heading in another column. The body of the address urged united action of republicans against the party's old enemy, state's rights, for which the other platforms declared they denounced the president as exceeding his power when he enforced the law in a state whose governor was in sympathy with law breakers and refused to preserve order. This pernicious doctrine, that the states are superior to the general government, which Jackson repressed and Lincoln crushed, is again reasserting itself and to Senator Mitchell seems a danger so terrible that it overshadows money or tariff issues and should rally to the republican standard every lover of his country as in '61 it brought into the Union's grand army all the loyal of the nation. Mr. Mitchell disavowed that the money plank of the St. Louis convention declared for a single gold standard but held that its friendliness toward international bimetallism was more encouraging to silver men than the protestation of the democratic and populist platforms, for the possibility of independent bimetallism under free trade was as visionary as a railroad to the planet Mars. That the plank declared unreservedly for sound money could be objectionable to no one for everybody wants a financial system in which one dollar shall be as good as any other. Attention of the farmers was called to the fact that Mr. Bryan was the author of the tariff schedules on agricultural products in the Wilson-Gorman act. The speaker was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause.

At the close Congressman Tongue made a few remarks. A notable feature was that Hon. A. Hinman who has been the leader of the silver forces, was seated on the platform. Mr. Hinman is just as strong a silver man as ever, but believes that there is more real friendship for silver in the McKinley camp than in the Bryan combination. Monday was an eventful day in Washington county, and many a man who had been hesitating how to cast his ballot made up his mind to vote for the party that has so far helped the country out of all its troubles and under whose administration is has ever prospered. Nov. 3 will be a second Vermont in Washington county.

Boos & H. Assign.

Tuesday night the firm of Boos & Heitzhausen, general merchants, made a general assignment to R. L. Sabin of Portland for the benefit of all their creditors. The firm has been hard pressed for some time through having large property interests on which it was unable to realize and many uncollectable accounts. Last Thursday Sheriff Bradford served an attachment in favor of the Standard Oil Company, for $110 and $9 interest, which brought matters to a crisis. Justice Dolstrum was put in charge as a special deputy and business continued as usual but not enough was taken in to satisfy the claim so assignment became necessary. Mr. Worthmier, representing the assignee, arrived this morning and took charge.

The firm is made up of Geo. Boos and E. H. Heitzhausen who have been in business here many years and done much for the town's advancement. There is general regret at their misfortune and sympathy for them.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1.00 per bottle at the Miller pharmacy.
