San Francisco, Nov. 17.-Lucien Basia Collecting a Large cigalupi, a totally blind lad, has acci. terday morning the British ship Lardentally found out that he can see objects by the use of the cathode ray. Such is the assertion of Dr. Waverly Clark, who is overjeyed over the discovery of the new use of the mysterious

The discovery that at least beams. some of the blind can see by the rays came about by a careless remark made by Dr. Clark, an enthusiastic student of the cathode ray. Bacigalupi had been a pupil at the institution for the deaf and blind at Berkley for several years.

Friday last he came to this city, with a dozen unfortunate lads from the same place. They went to the Baldwin theater. Afterward Bacigalupi stepped into his father's phonograph and "X" ray parlors, under the Baldwin hotel. Dr. Clark joined in conversation with Peter Bacigalupi, and his son, and as a sudden thought came to him, he said: 'Lucien, step into the "X"-ray room and find out if you can see anything. Bacigalupi started the apparatus and handed his son the fluoroscope. As Lucien adjusted it to his eyes and turned it toward the rays, he shouted: "Papa, I can see light."

All three became excited. The overjoyed father placed a solid block of wood, on the back of which were a key, a screw and some nails, in front of the green light and asked his son if he could see anything. Lucien immediately replied:

"Yes, I can see a key and some things that look like nails."

Physician, father and son were now greatly excited, and another test was made. A purse, half-bound with steel, and in which a key had been placed. was put before the light in a folded magazine. Lucien was asked what he saw, and replied that there was a key inside of a dark rectangular piece of metal of some kind. The test was considered complete, and Dr. Clark and Peter Bacigalupi have been busily engaged telling the story over and over again to their friends. It has set the medical men to thinking, and a large number of other similar experiments will be made. A study will be made of the matter, and it is believed wonderful results can be obtained.

THE WHOLE FAMILY CRAZY.

An Extraordinary Case of Religious Mania.

Boomanville, Ont., Nov. 17 .- A most extraordinary case of religious mania is reported from a farmhouse near the Long Sault. There, for a number of years, resided Elijah Rice, his wife and fifteen children. The eldest son, Louis, 22 years old, recently became insane, and announced himself as the "prince of the sandhills," and declared that Christ had appointed him to reform the world.

The mania extended to the father, mother and the other children, who neglected the farm and spent their time in singing and praying. Recently the father conceived the idea that Louis was pursued by the devil, and that it must be beaten out of him. Louis was knocked down with a leg of a chair, and Mr. and Mrs. Rice and two sons pounded him into insensibil-When this was done, they were ity. satisfied the devil was driven out.

Their next move was to celebrate the Feast of the Passover, and one of the little children was to be sacrificed as the "pascal lamb." One of the sons, a mere boy, told this to a clergyman, who informed the police. On visiting the farm, they found Rice and his son Louis suffering from intense mania, and had them removed to the Kingston insane asylum. The doctors say the other members of the family will recover.

MASSING HER TROOPS A BLIND LAD SAW. A CLIPPER'S MISHAP. The "X" Rays Enabled Him to Dis- The Ship Larnaca Run Down by Another Vessel

> naca arrived off the port from Valpar-Bigo. She was met outside the heads by a pilot who carried orders for her to proceed to Portland. Her captain once changed his course and headed his vessel with the westerly wind to clear Point Reyes, on a tack out to the open

The big vessel was slowly moving along under the light breeze when suddenly came a confused shouting of orders off to starboard, and the next instant a vessel under full sail crashed into the Larnaca, just forward of the main rigging. For a moment the two vessels hung together, then ground into each other as they swung apart. Their tangled rigging was torn from aloft and came crashing to the decks of the vessels, driving the scared sailors under the timbers of the forecastle head to escape the falling blocks and cordage.

The vessel that ran into the British ship was the Pierre Cornielle, bound in from Newcastle. Pilot Miller had boarded her some hours before and was directing the bark's course, leaving the crew to keep a lookont ahead. The vessel had all her sails set to catch the light wind and she was going almost dead before it. The pilot on the poopdeck was unable to see anything befor him except a big spread of canvas and he was not aware of the danger until the two vessels were together. The men on the lookout forward had become engaged in other work and neglected to keep watch. The night was clear and the master and crew of each vessel blames the other for the disaster.

The Larnaca had her starboard bulwarks crushed in, the rail torn away and two plates in her hull above the water line were out through. The Pierre Cornielle lost her jib-boom, and with it went most of her headgear. Some of her forward plates were started by the force of the collision. After they had been separated the British ship turned her bows for port, and will be repaired before proceeding on her voyage to Porltand.

INSPECTION OF FOOD.

Four Stations Have Been Established in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 16 .- San Francisco has something among the cities from Dublin, Ireland, a letter from a which makes her distinctive. She has four food inspection stations, planned after the fashion of a custom-house or the taxing stations of the old walled towns of continental Europe-clearinghorses must be without mark or blemhouses to which the milk and meat and vegetables of the city must come. not be received. There are four of these stations, one
