ORATORY AT NEWBERG.
The fifth meeting of the Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Association of Oregon convened at Newberg, Friday the 26th. Eight colleges, each with eight delegates and an orator were present. By 2:00 p. m. the delegations had all arrived and after being assigned their places of entertainment, all adjourned to the basement of the Friends' church where the good people of Newberg had prepared a sumptuous banquet. Toasts were responded to by representatives from McMinnville, Monmouth and Portland University. After the banquet the business meeting was held. Wright, of Albany, was elected president, Kaykendall, of Eugene, secretary, and Luelling, of Pacific University, treasurer. The time of holding the local contest was made one week earlier and the amendment to have two sets of judges was passed. By 7:30 p. m. the Friends church, where the contest was to take place, was crowded with eager spectators. Gaily colored banners of beautiful design were displayed in various quarters of the room but no outbursts of college spirit were given, quite in contrast to manifestations made at athletic contests.

At just eight o'clock eight nervous and uneasy looking performers marched through the long aisle up into the intellectual arena. An overture by the Newberg orchestra followed by an invocation by Rev. Thomas Newlin of Pacific College, and the first number of the program was given by the male quartette of P. U. which was heartily cheered. Miss Blanche George, of the State Normal School next delivered an oration entitled "Shadow of God on Earth." Miss George took for her theme the Armenian massacres and depicted in a dramatic way the awful carnage which the Sultan of Turkey was inflicting. The next oration "True Political Greatness" was delivered by Mr. C. P. Haight of Portland University. Mr. Haight pointed out the defects in the world's greatest politicians. He said the truly great statesman would ever place the welfare of the state above personal ambition and even allow his name to be sunk into oblivion and ignominy rather than gain immortal fame by causing a leak in the ship of state. Mr. Haight's oration showed familiarity with his subject but his composition was weak in places and his delivery strained. A highly appreciated piano duet was rendered by Misses Britt and Gordon of Pacific College. Miss Sadie L. Bond, of Pacific College, then delivered an oration on the "Birthright of Americans." Miss Bond dwelt at length on the material resources of the country but said our greatest inheritance was the freedom of thought and opinion and living in a land where the institutions are matured under the beneficent hand of Christianity. An oration on "America" was next delivered by S. P. Early of Willamette University. Mr. Early had a labored delivery which lacked force. This oration though on a somewhat trite subject, was presented in an original way, but lacked depth of thought. The audience was then favored by a number from the Ladies' quartette of P. U. The hearty encore tendered them could not be given as President Cox emphatically announced the length of the program would not admit of encores. Mr. Fred Fisk, of the U. of O., next delivered an oration on "Brotherhood." He treated his subject in an able manner, tracing the growth of altruism from the savage tribe to the consummate republic, refuting the idea that might is right and showing that equal rights to all was the only idea that could endure. This oration showed careful preparation, access to a good library and much hard labor, but the delivery was too studied. "Patriotism Our Present Need" was the title of an oration given by Mr. J. Sherman Wallace of McMinnville College. Mr. Wallace spoke of the great menaces to our commonwealth, enumerating the liquor traffic, Mammon worship, Catholicism and foreign immigration. The speaker was earnest and showed considerable natural oratorical ability but his delivery savored too much of political platform oratory and his composition lacked depth of thought and originality. Miss Glen, of Newberg, in a rich well trained contralto voice then sang "There, Little Girl Don't Cry." Mr. P. E. Bauer, of P. U., in his usual pleasing manner, with well modulated voice and graceful gestures next gave an able oration on "The Progress of Democratic Principles." Mr. Bauer traced the growth of democracy from its very beginning, showing how princes had been dethroned and nations had been despoiled and divided for its advancement. This was a polished production and showed hard study and a wide range of reading, was transparent in thought and clear in construction.

"The Fanatic" was the subject of the last oration delivered by E. J. Stewart of Albany College. This was an able production, clear, logical and original. Mr. Stewart showed how the men of one idea had figured in the great reforms, advances in the arts, sciences, etc. Mr. Stewart had a pleasing delivery and should have had second place. While the executive committee figured up the grades the P. U. Ladies' quartette were called upon for a song. The medal was awarded Mr. Fred Fisk by only one-third of one per cent over Mr. Bauer who took second place. Mr. Stewart was marked highest on composition, Mr. Fisk and Mr. Bauer being marked the same. But the judges on delivery had widely different ideas of oratory the difference in the markings of two judges on the same orator being twelve credits. Mr. Fisk was marked lowest by two judges but one marked him so high that he received the highest average.

AT THE 'VARSITY.'

Miss Marie Bailey is suffering from a very severe cold, which it is feared will result in pneumonia.

Miss Georgia Zinns left Wednesday for her home in Sacramento and does not expect to return this year. Her mother's declining health necessitates her departure.

Miss Ruth Scott left for Portland Saturday where she will begin work at St. Helen's Hall. Miss Scott leaves a host of friends who wish her pleasant work while pursuing her studies.

The north and south ends of the campus are being plowed and prepared for planting later on in salom tuberosum. While it is hoped a sufficient crop will be harvested to pay expenses, yet the main object is to clean the soil.

The following question will be debated before the Gamma Sigma society Saturday night; Resolved, "That the European powers should prohibit the annexation of Crete by the Hellenes." Affirmative, Myers and Pratt; negative, Dennis and Schoch.

An inter-collegiate debating association is about to be organized, with University of Oregon, Willamette University and Pacific University as charter members. The debates are to be conducted in a manner similar to that in vogue in the eastern schools.

The Basket Ball club met Tuesday afternoon and elected Miss Baber, president; Miss Lieser, secretary and treasurer. Four new members were taken in; a committee was appointed to purchase apparatus. A motion to meet three times a week in the gymnasium building was unanimously carried.

Rhetoricals of the Freshmen and Sophomore classes will take place in the auditorium Friday afternoon at three o'clock. Messrs. Haskell and Luelling will read essays; declamations will be given by Misses Baber, Lanceland and Lieser, and Mr. Sweek. Excellent music will be furnished by the conservatory.

A delightful reception was tendered Mr. P. E. Bauer at Herrick Hall last Monday evening, the occasion affording an opportunity for his many friends to show their due appreciation for the honor and esteem which he won for himself and for the school, at the Inter-Collegiate Oratorical contest held at Newberg last Friday. The Herrick Hall parlors were beautifully decorated with evergreens and potted plants and presented a charming appearance. Music of a high order was given by the college quartette, each responding to a hearty encore. Miss Emma Stewart sang prettily a vocal solo, which was followed by a charming instrumental solo by Miss Lee. Reports of the trip to Newberg were given by Dr. McClelland, Professor Ferrin and Principal Bates. Mr. Bauer made a short speech, in which he thanked his many friends, especially the members of the faculty, for the sympathy and encouragement he had received.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

After having been confined to the house for eleven days and paying out $25 in doctor bills without benefit, Mr. Frank Dolson of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Expectorant 25 cents and has not since been troubled with that complaint. For sale by J. C. Clark, Druggist.

An old book quaintly says that "when the whole system is pre-ved by well-oxygenated blood, vigorously propelled, life and activity are copiously communicated." Which means that when the blood is purified by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, perfect health is the result.

Patriotic Meeting at Dilley.

The leading citizens of Dilley requested Gen. Thorp to address the people of that village and last Saturday night he appeared before a fine audience assembled for that purpose who listened most attentively to one of the finest speeches ever delivered in that town.

The subject was the "Perils to Municipal, State and National Government." The General made a most thorough analysis of the dangers which threaten civil liberty, dangers which threaten constitutional liberty, the freedom of speech and of the press. He also gave his audience an extended review of the struggles which the civilized nations have made to establish the freedom of speech, the freedom of the press and the liberty of action which resulted in bringing out our republic with her constitution founded upon the doctrines of the declaration of American independence which he urged his audience to maintain by the will of the majority and resist to the last extremity the encroachments and interference of every foreign influence and power, especially the growing power of the political theocracy of the Pope of Rome which the General demonstrated was a serious menace and peril to our municipal, state and national government. He called the attention of his audience to the dictatorial spirit which political theocracy of Rome has manifested in the domination and control of political parties in the formation of platforms of principle and gave illustrations and proofs of the cowardice of the leaders of political parties, especially of his own party who had left a record of their desertion of the very principles advocated by James G. Blaine and other eminent statesmen from Lincoln to this day.

The General's speech was not a partisan speech, but a patriotic appeal to our citizens to stand by our government and insist upon the supreme right of the majority to rule this state and nation.

No audience ever listened with more marked attention than the people of Dilley who expressed their gratitude by an elegant resolution of thanks for his very able address.

It is impossible to reproduce the eloquent speech of Gen. Thorp who must be heard to know the depth and power of his patriotic devotion to our country and government.

From Cripple Creek.

After the big fire in Cripple Creek, I took a very severe cold and tried many remedies without help, the cold only becoming more settled. After using three small bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, both the cough and cold left me, and in this high latitude it takes a meritorious cough remedy to do any good.—G. B. HENDERSON, editor Daily Advertiser. For sale by J. C. Clark, Druggist.
