The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Current on the street the past week has been the following conundrum: Why are three lonely girls in a ball room on a warm summer evening like the citizens of Forest Grove? Because they want A. (P)anner. School rulers free at Gregg's Shoe Store. The postoffice is doing considerably more business since the closing of the bank. The international money order feature is also well patronized and people are coming in from all directions to send money to almost every known country, revealing that Washington county has a very cosmopolitan population. A. T. Boos has just received a good stock of dry goods, notions, hats and shoes. Jonathan Tice who was arrested in this county near Dilley, now is undergoing his second trial in Portland having been convicted the first time and then granted another hearing. The matter was the forgery of a will and though the notary who purported to acknowledge the will declares it false and two accomplices have confessed, Tice stoutly maintains it is genuine. Another inconsistency is that the mother in making her will forgot the name of one of her daughters and called her Matilda instead of Melinda. One can admire Lee's nerve in sicking to his story in the face of such proofs of its falsity. Elocutionary Recital. On next Monday evening June 28, at Verts Hall, Miss Marie Vandersal, assisted by her elocution pupils will give a very pleasing recital. The laughable little comedy, "Courtship under Difficulties," will be presented. Miss Vandersal will recite in costume, "Jingarella the Gypsy Flower Girl."
