Sandford.—The Women of Woodcraft are going to give an ice cream social on the evening of the 26th inst.—Mrs. Margaretha Rice has sold her place on Pumpkin Ridge and will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. John Loftis, in the future.—Miss Grace Harris and Fred A. Northrup, of Shady Brook, were married in Hillsboro Monday, the 8th inst.—J. C. Miller and family will start for Eastern Oregon in a few days, to be gone all summer. Is Still Doing
Business at the Old Stand.

Dilley, June 11.—Mr. W. T. Patton, of Patton Bros. Mill Co., who are now having a very prosperous business, passed through here last Monday on his way to their saw mill near the upper end of Scoggia Valley. His family moves this week from Cornelius, where they have lived the past winter. Their little daughter has been dangerously sick lately, but is well again.—Funeral services of little James Johnson, aged 6 years 4 months and 4 days, were held in the M. E. church last Friday at 2 p. m., the pastor, Rev. I. Putnam, officiating. The little body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Forest Grove. A very uncommon thing occurred in this case. Two or three days before his death he dreamed he saw his grandma, with his little brother (both deceased) in her arms, and Jesus close by them, saying to him, "Come." Next day he wanted to go and tell some of the neighbors that he was going to see his grandma in a few days, and when permission to do so was refused, he broke out in sobs and cried like his little heart would break. The father and mother both sought Christ the night of the day of the funeral, in the revival conducted by the Brigade in the tent at the Grove.—Mrs. W. C. Gray, one of the most refined and intelligent women in these parts, for many years a leader in every good work, and a faithful member of the M. E. Church, greatly respected by all, is lying very low on her bed of sickness, but we all sincerely trust she may be spared yet much longer to bless the community in which she lives. Mr. Gray is past 75 years, and has had a stroke of paralysis. These old people have lived here for many years, always to the front in every noble enterprise. Successful in business, they are, so far as we may know, with a record of which they need not be ashamed, and which would be an honor to any. We feel that these words, not of flattery nor praise, but recognition, an appreciation of long and faithful service for the right, will be more appreciated by them now than when they sleep in their silent tombs.—Mrs. Grace Newton is visiting her family in Washington.—Rev. Joseph Patton preached his last sermon here for the summer, last Sunday.—Mr. Richardson's people have had much sickness for quite a long time, but are better now.—Thomas Schoolcraft and Dora Hubbert were married last week.

A pretty lawn needs a little attention, a reliable lawn mower and a good hose, and we can furnish our part at prices you won't miss. See how much pleasanter summer will be with a smooth-shaven, grassy lawn for the hot days. J. H. Westcott.

Cornelius, June 11.—Wm. Charles, agent for the Portland Journal, was in Cornelius today in the interest of the paper. While in town he called on D. T. Phillips, who came from the same state. They were boys together. Mr. Charles was born and raised in Illinois and is a cousin to Mr. C. H. Thompson, of Portland, while Mr. Thompson is a first cousin to D. T. Phillips, of this place.—Hon. Ben. Scholfield has the foundation laid for his new house.—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Montgomery, of Junction City, are visiting relatives and friends in Cornelius this week.—The Woodmen are expecting a big time here June 20th.—Frank McGinnis has his barber-shop and confectionery store completed, and there you can now get a nice plate of ice cream or a cool drink of soda.—The City Jail looks much better (from the outside) since it has been painted.—C. C. Hancock made a flying trip to Portland yesterday.—Will Patton's little daughter, who is quite sick, is reported just now a little better.—The old folks' social last Saturday was a decided success and the receipts back up the statement, $17.65.—News is scarce this week, but the best news is the gentle rain on the late sown grain, whispering as the drops gather that seed-time and harvest do not fail in Oregon, especially around Cornelius.—Farms are being sold dirt cheap by D. T. Phillips, the real estate rustler.

Just one line, but that complete—everything in hardware and agricultural implements, bought right and will be sold right, for we give our exclusive attention to getting the worth of our money, so you can get the worth of yours. J. H. Westcott.

Seghers, June 9.—Mr. G. W. Beal, who has received $1750 from 30 acres of timothy hay, has felt himself rich enough to take a pleasure trip into Idaho, perhaps, it is surmised, to secure a partner to share his prosperity.—Tolson Bros. are busy buying up all the calves they can get, to put on their various ranches.—Mr. August Roth has nicely recovered from his late and serious accident, but will always have a weak and crippled shoulder to remind him of the past.—The Catholic church here is promised some fine decorations and paper inside soon, hoping to receive a few more settlers of the same fold to help along the good cause.—Frank Domlin, Segher's rustling gardener, employs steadily three to five hands, expects to clear up $2,000 from three acres of onions this year.—Mr. George Beal deserves the thanks of the neighborhood for the pleasant entertainment he is affording them with his new phonograph.

W. K. Newell, of Dilley, is putting a big silo on his farm. The Ladd & Reed farm at Reedville has two silos, and John Harrison, on the Hill farm, another. These have been giving good results, but the condensed milk factory is understood to discourage the feeding of ensilage upon the part of their patrons, on the ground that it imparts an unpleasant flavor to their product. Mr. Newell is one of the most progressive farmers in the county, and his dairy experiment will be watched with interest. Already he has established a reputation as a safe guide in horticultural matters, and is commissioner for this district.

Ex-County Commissioner T. G. Todd, at his farm west of town, named "Groveland," from his New York home, has some of the best stock in the county. "Groveland" has long been famous as a model farm, up to date in all its appointments and always showing a handsome profit from its products, but Mr. Todd this year especially has cause for contentment. The team from his farm which Mr. Doane drove Sunday to the Woodmen's monument unveiling at Cornelius, would delight any horseman, a span of bright bays. They were beauties, as good stock as there is in the state, and, by the way, not for sale, though $500 has been offered for them. For another of his horses, a yearling colt, he recently refused $125.

Byron Lamont is building a barn on his farm one and a half miles west of town. It will be 40 by 42, with 20 by 40 sheds. Mr. Lamont is improving his property and has cleared 15 acres the past year. Also he is furnishing for Salt Lake City 1,000 piling of finest timber, 40 to 75 feet in length and two making a load. One-fourth of the contract has been gotten out. Mr. L. E. Jones, who owns a nearby nicely improved farm, has been assisting him with the work.

J. Mizner, who lives on the Prickett road, has for several years furnished Forest Grove with its best pie plant and asparagus. So far this season he has sold $27 of asparagus and $34 of pie plant.

Ex-Judge Crandall, Mayor and Mrs. Wm. Barrett, Mrs. Geo. Wilcox and Mrs. H. V. Gates, all of Hillsboro, and ex-Senator and Mrs. E. W. Haines, of Forest Grove, attended the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star in Portland the fore part of the week. Mr. Haines is a past grand patron of Oregon. Washington County has two chapters, Tualatin at Hillsboro, and Forest at Forest Grove. The order is an adoptive branch of Masonry for Masons, their mothers, wives, sisters and daughters.

E. A. Ives, formerly in business here, but who now lives on his ranch near Glenwood, has been having exciting experiences with bears lately, but so far has escaped unhurt.

S. A. D. Puter, who has been identified in the newspaper reports with the timber troubles of Miss Ware and Horace McKinley, now under investigation in the Federal Court, is well known in this vicinity and has operated for a number of years in the Wilson River timber.

The rural free delivery mail boxes and telephone poles make the roads on which they are placed look fitted, and with daily mail and telephone connection with towns, the country is more attractive than the town to live in.

Several bad cases of pneumonia are around, a warning not to be in too big a hurry to dress lightly.

Who reads the papers need not talk of having such terrible amounts of rain here in Oregon.

Some of the fall grain is heading now and will soon be ready to harvest.

From the looks, people are laying in a supply of farming machinery, so when hard times come again they will have plenty. Washington County farmers are progressive and prospering.

Captain Williams and Messrs. Chas. Vaughn, Ziegler and Krieger have been allowed their shares in the Indian War veteran appropriation by the state, receiving from $150 to $500. Only 25 from all over the state have so far been successful. Washington county has another commissioned officer veteran, Lieut. W. H. H. Myers.

Wood is scarce in Portland, so it will probably be higher here before winter comes again.

Myron Beard, who used to live at Greenville, has returned after having completed the circuit of the world, seeing in his voyaging the principal ports in civilization during his three years' absence. He shipped out of San Francisco in the British steamship St. Bede, and enjoyed the variety of life at sea, but now is content to live ashore, having satisfied his curiosity to see the world, and will follow his trade of carpenter in Portland.

R. F. Ulm and Mrs. Vall were married by Rev. M. M. Anderson at Dilley Sunday night.

A few second-hand sewing machines in first-class order for sale cheap at The Bazaar, Forest Grove.

A. J. Wilks, of Dilley, has sold out to his son Hubbert his town property, and expects to locate elsewhere.

Briggs' Bros.' big store at Dilley is doing a thriving business, as the popularity of the firm and their years of square dealing in that community deserve. The postoffice and depot agency are also under charge of members of their firm.

Billheads, envelopes, letterheads, business cards, all at short notice. See how nice for the price. The News.

Henry Wolf, S. P. section foreman, Wilbur Hughes and Frank Ulm, of Dilley, with E. J. Hubbert, the owner, appraised the three horses recently killed on the railway, the various estimates being $550, $575 and $600, and this last was also Mr. Hubbert's figure.

A BARGAIN

We are not short of money, do not require the shelfroom, but simply desire to dispose of a few more pairs of our $4.00 Men's Shoes. Fact is, we bought too many of them.

You can have them for $3.35. I would like to have that 65 cents, but if you get a pair of them, you may be so well pleased that you will come in some day and give it to me. However, that's up to you, after you have worn them. They were made for a $4.00 shoe, and everything was put in them that could be. But you can have them this time.
