

General—General Himes at Little Round Top, Gettysburg, and later as commander of the Fifth army corps. At the time of the assault made by his troops upon Lee's intrenchments at Spottsylvania in 1864 Warren marched bravely in front of the host, resplendent in a new uniform. He was the idol of his men.

1892—Porto Rico devastated by a hurricane; deaths estimated between 1,000 and 4,000 and the property loss at $20,000,000.

1893—John H. Twachtman, famous American landscape artist, died at Gloucester, Mass.; born 1852.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed by the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Washington County, administratrix of the Estate of Asa Williams, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same to me properly verified, as by law required, at Forest Grove, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof.

Dated this 16th day of June, A. D. 1903.
SARAH E. CROW,
Administratrix of the Estate of Asa Williams, deceased.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.
Department of the Interior, Land Office at Oregon City, Oregon, June 20, 1903.
Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Register and Receiver at Oregon City, Oregon, on August 4, 1903, viz: Moses Middaugh, H. E. No. 14,106, for the south east quarter Section 5, Township 3 north, Range 6 west.
He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Rice Montague, of Timber, Oregon; Robert T. Simpson, of Buxton, Oregon; William Middaugh, of Portland, Oregon; Amos Bradshaw, of Rosland, Oregon.
ALGERNON S. DRESSER, Register.

STRAWBERRIES, MANY OF WHICH WEIGH A POUND.
Washington county is the richer by $12,000 for this season's harvest from its 50-acre strawberry patch. And it doesn't take so many of its strawberries to weigh a pound as are required in most regions.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME—THE SUCCESSFUL DEER-HUNTER

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME—THE MAN WHO KILLED THE BEAR

SOME BLACKBERRY PIES AND A WEDDING OF 50 YEARS AGO.

The News force Monday was feasting on wild blackberry pie and cake, and with this departure from the ordinary diet of newspapermen goes an interesting story.

Secretary George H. Himes, of the State Historical Society, had been mailing to pioneers clippings from early papers relating to them. A happy coincidence occurred in the case of Mrs. Z. Large, who is a pioneer of 1845. Through the inclosing of the wrong slip in an envelope to her the mistake had to be rectified, and the trifling error brought the notice to her on the semi-centennial of the event it chronicled. The paper read: "Married—at high noon, in Chealem Valley, by Dr. James McBride, July 27, 1853, Miss Zerulah Bayley and Francis Large." The Dr. McBride mentioned was the father of ex-United States Senator George W. McBride, Judge T. A. McBride and the rest of the family, which has furnished so many distinguished public men to the Pacific Northwest. Mrs. Large is one of five sisters, all in advanced years, whose portraits appeared in the Oregonian a few years ago as an example of an unbroken pioneer family. Mrs. Large was ten years old when, with her parents, who had left Clarke county, Ohio, for a home in the far West, she shared the hardships of the unfortunate expedition by Meek's cut-off, who lost their way and suffered so for food. Mr. Large died three years ago, so the day which would otherwise have been so happy an anniversary comes with somewhat of sorrow to her.

Mrs. Large is the mother of Coroner C. L. Large and Mrs. Lizzie Harris, both of her children residing in Forest Grove. The lapse of 50 years has effectively banished all trace of the proverbial unskillfulness, if any there ever was in her case, usually attributed to young wives' cookery, to judge from the toothsome samples with which the News was remembered.

DEATH OF JOHN WILSON, OF GALES CREEK.

John Wilson, aged 76 years, died Monday at Gales Creek, where he had lived for the past 42 years. He was born in Missouri, coming to California in 1851, and ten years later to Washington county. A wife and the following children survive him: Mrs. Laura Allen, Beaverton; Alonzo Wilson, Grants Pass; William, Walter and Fred, Gales Creek; Mrs. Ella Casteel and Edward Wilson, Springfield; Mrs. Sarah York and Denny Wilson, Kelso; Mrs. Reales Taylor and Mrs. Emma Stanton, Portland.

GATHERING OF RELATIVES AT CENTERVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heesacker gave a most delightful party last Sunday to relatives and friends. The afternoon was spent in games and other amusements. About 5 o'clock refreshments were served and all spent a very pleasant afternoon.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Anton Meemosen, Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Van der Zanden, Mrs. and Mr. Aug. Van Loo, Mr. Peter Evers, Mrs. Heesacker, Jno. Van Lom, Mrs. Gable, Mrs. and Mr. Riverman, Messrs. P. Vandehey, Albert Evers, Jno. Krieger, Ben, John Henry and Joseph Heesacker, and the Misses Christian Heesacker, Rose Riverman, Alice and Anna Evers, Mamie Meemosen and Theresa Gable.

J. Q. Jackson, of Forest Grove, whose little girl was so severely burned last winter, has taken her to Portland to the North Pacific Sanitarium to have a surgical operation performed and she has returned very much benefited.

Woods & Adams' new store building will be roofed with the latest and most up-to-date roofing. It is the P. & B. Ready Roofing, manufactured by the Parafine Paint Co., Berkeley, Cal., who have their office in the McKay building, Portland. This roofing is especially adapted for this climate and has proved a success throughout the Coast states.

PLAY AND PIE
Both Good, but It Isn't Wise to Make a Meal of Either

Of course all this is going to take so much time and thought that you won't have a very wide margin left for golf—especially in the afternoons. I simply mention this in passing, because I see in the Chicago papers which have been sent me that you were among the players on the links one afternoon a fortnight ago. Golf's a nice, foolish game and there ain't any harm in it so far as I know except for the balls—the stiff balls at the beginning, the lost balls in the middle and the highballs at the end of the game. But a young fellow who wants to be a boss butcher hasn't much daylight to waste on any kind of links except sausage links.

Of course a man should have a certain amount of play, just as a boy is entitled to a piece of pie at the end of his dinner, but he don't want to make a meal of it. Any one who lets sinkers take the place of bread and meat get bilious pretty young, and these fellows who haven't any job except to blow the old man's dollars are a good deal like the little niggers in the pie eating contest at the county fair—they've a plenty of pastry and they're attracting a heap of attention, but they've got a stomach ache coming to them by and by.—From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer.

GOING THE WHOLE HOG
You Must Do It to Win In Pork Packing and Other Things

You've got to believe that the Lord made the first hog with the Graham brand burned in the skin and that the drove which rushed down a steep place was packed by a competitor. You've got to know your goods from A to Z, zard, from snout to tail, on the hoof and in the can. You've got to know 'em like a young mother knows baby talk and to be as proud of 'em as the young father of a twelve pound boy, without really thinking that you're stretching it four pounds. You've got to believe in yourself and make your buyers take stock in you at par and accrued interest. You've got to have the scent of a bloodhound for an order and the grip of a bulldog on a customer. You've got to feel the same personal solicitude over a bill of goods that strays off to a competitor as a parson over a backslider and hold special services to bring it back into the fold. You've got to get up every morning with determination if you're going to bed with satisfaction. You've got to eat hog, think hog, dream hog—in short, go the whole hog—if you're going to win out in the pork packing business.

That's a pretty liberal receipt, I know, but it's intended for a fellow who wants to make a good sized pie. And the only thing you ever find in pastry that you don't put in yourself is by.—From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer.

An Animal Story For Little Folks
The Funny Duckling

There was once a funny little duckling who was always going about doing something curious that made everybody laugh at him. Somebody told him that if he did not want to get wet when it rained he had better buy himself an umbrella. So off Mr. Duckling went to the umbrella store and bought him-

HE CARRIED THAT UMBRELLA AROUND self an umbrella. He stuck it under his arm and walked down the road just as proud as ever he could be.

It made them all laugh louder than before, for none of them could see what use a duckling would ever have for an umbrella. But the duckling did not know any better. He carried that umbrella around under his arm day after day, hoping it would rain.

Well, finally one day it did rain. It rained in sheets, and the wind blew as it had never blown before. Mr. Duckling went out into the road, and, of course, everybody was there to see.

Up went the umbrella, and up went Mr. Duckling with it, for a big gust of wind just lifted them both in the air and swept them over the heads of the spectators and into the top of a tree about a mile away.

It took the little duckling half a day to untangle himself from the limbs of the tree and get down to the ground. Moral.—Do not hamper yourself with things that are unnecessary.—Chicago Tribune.
