Neighborhood Notes—McDaniel Burial.
Buxton, Sept. 2.—Mr. F. M. McDaniel, who died near Albion last Saturday, was buried in the Buxton cemetery Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock.
—Miss Mack, of Dilley, is visiting friends at Buxton this week.—Mrs. Gladys Buxton is visiting friends at Forest Grove and Lenox.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stephens, who moved to Forest Grove this spring, are spending a few days at the old home place.—Mr. T. J. McPharland, who has been working at Svensen, is visiting in the neighborhood.

EAST OF GREENVILLE.

Threshing Still On—Ex-Representative Edson to Return—A Successful Young Farmer.

East of Greenville, Sept. 2.—From hand to thrasher the golden grain is being very rapidly thrown, although there is quite a bit yet to be threshed.
—Mr. Henry Vanderzanden has all his spring crop in the shock and hopes for good weather for a while yet.—It is reported that ex-Representative O. E. Edson, who left the grist mill at Harrison, is coming back to stay.—Mr. Frank Parrenboon was around last week in search of more milk for the Condenser, but some of the farmers hate to hear pigs squeal.—Mr. George Roy made a call last week on some of his old friends as he returned from the funeral of his uncle, Ira Cunis.—Mr. Chas. Kelling harvested his first crop this year and it made a good yield, quite an encouragement to the young farmer.

CORNELIUS.

Back from 'Frisco Encampment—Building Active—M. E. Quarterly Meeting—Fewer but Larger Potatoes—Hoppicking—New Arrivals.

Cornelius, Sept. 3.—Mr. S. B. Haycock has just returned from San Francisco, where he attended the National Encampment of the G. A. R. He reports a grand time, with lots to see and living on the fat of the land. That always suits an old vet. They are not hard to please.—Mr. G. W. Miller, who has lately moved to this place, has been in Oregon about a year, coming from Kansas. He has bought 1 1/2 acre tract in the south part of town, and will settle here permanently, which proves conclusively to our minds that he is a man of good judgment. It doesn't blow the wool off the sheep and the hair off the cattle in this country.—Mr. L. Bailey's new warehouse is being filled with fine hay. The teams come from all directions.—A fine crop of hops is reported from J. Buchanan's hop yard; also from the other yards in the vicinity, and the people are preparing for the annual onslaught, to gather in the shekels as well as the hops. Our hopmen distribute a great many dollars through the community that we all have a place for.—Geo. Kinton is putting up a good house and barn on property that he bought from Mr. Kay in the western part of this city, and will soon be a couple of blocks nearer town.—The usual quarterly meeting was held at the M. E. church of this place. Business meeting Saturday, Sunday evening the Presiding Elder, Dr. D. A. Watters, preached to the people; text, 1 Cor. xiii:4.—The effect of the late rains will be to spoil all the small potatoes. But we accept the conditions cheerfully, as we would just as soon eat a large one.—We should like to hear something about our electric road. Even a grape-vine dispatch will keep our spirits up better than nothing. The silence seems ominous.—A son of our townsman, Lewis Rogers, with his wife have just arrived from Wisconsin. Whether on a visit or to settle permanently we have not learned.—Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who have lately settled among us, have just returned from Kist, Ore., where they went to attend the funeral of their son-in-law, Marion McDaniels, who died from asphyxiation while working in a well.

Visitors Return from Eastern Oregon—Hoppicking—Carload of Wood Shipped to Portland—Real Estate Moving—Threshers Move to Farmington.

Cornelius, Sept. 3.—A. A. Phillips, wife, daughter and son arrived home from a visit to Eastern Oregon. While there at the home of Geo. Sanders and wife, Mr. Phillips' son-in-law and daughter, they visited what is called Tamarack Falls, about 400 feet high. Those who accompanied them were Miss Ruth Koehler and Mr. Ed. Styles. They reported a pleasant trip.—C. B. Buchanan will commence on his hop patch Friday.—Geo. Susbauer will also commence picking same day, while Pollock commenced Tuesday.—M. Klinger is loading a car of wood today to be shipped to Portland.—Mr. C. Peters' daughter arrived from Mrs. Grace Walton-Haynie, whose husband, H. W. Haynie, is in a Seattle jail charged with a number of hold-ups in that city, as well as suspected of having operated in Portland, was in Forest Grove the fore part of the week to see his parents regarding his defense. It appears that the case against him is by no means as strong as at first represented, and Mrs. Haynie has pluckily set to work to get funds for fighting the charges.

She will appear in vaudeville in Portland for one week as the star at Shield's Park, having been successful as an elocutionist and in amateur theatricals, and feels confident that with good lawyers they will be able to prove his innocence. Mrs. Haynie was at first held as an accomplice, and many extravagant tales were told of her having masqueraded in male attire, carried knives and pistols, and figured as a highwaywoman, but these stories have dwindled to nothing. It is likely Mr. Haynie's case has been equally exaggerated and will prove no more serious.

the East one day last week, and her husband is expected later on, as they are intending to make their home here in Cornelius.—The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Shamy, returned from their wedding tour last Monday. Mr. Shamy is engaged in business in Cornelius.—Louis Kuder, of Greenville, was here on Tuesday on business.—Holts & Kraher went to Farmington with their threshing outfit yesterday.—A. A. Phillips, the live real estate agent, made another sale of one-half block in town to D. J. Barrett for $150, and still has a few more choice lots for sale.—F. Seidler, formerly of Cornelius, but now of Portland, is visiting Cornelius this week.—A. A. Phillips says he has one of the finest dairy ranches to be had, of 256 acres near Cornelius, one hundred acres in cultivation in the bottom, new house, barn and out-building; good road, within 1 1/4 miles of the condenser at Forest Grove; he will sell it reasonable if sold right away.—Lawrence Bailey, the warehouse man, is not feeling well this week; he has something the matter with one of his legs.

SHERWOOD.

New Primary Teacher—Onion Crop Short—Trains Loaded with Hoppickers—Four Rural Mail Routes Start—Hoppicking Prices Raised.

Sherwood, Sept. 2.—Lillian Briggs, of Portland, has been engaged to teach the primary department of the Sherwood school for the coming term.—Quite a number of the onion growers in this section have recently started to pull their onions. It is reported that owing to worms working in the growing crop this spring, the yield will be considerably below the average.—The Tuesday evening passenger train out from Portland had two extra coaches and one box car in order to accommodate the hoppickers billed for this place. Most of the yards started in by paying 40c per box for picking, but owing to scarcity of pickers and a little rivalry between some of the yards for hands, the price was advanced to 50 cents.—On Tuesday morning quite a large crowd congregated around the post-office for the purpose of seeing Uncle Sam's mail carriers make a start. This being the date set for the rural routes to start up from this place, the boys were on hand and presented quite a nice sight with their four new mail-wagons glistening in the morning sun.—Rumor has it that the Sherwood hotel will have a new landlord in the near future, Mr. R. Jones, present proprietor, retiring.—N. Nelson, who lives about two miles north of town on the Tualatin River, has worked up quite an industry in the crawfish business. He ships now to the Portland market about 400 dozen per week, receiving from 15 to 25 cents per dozen, according to size.—Mr. C. True, who has just recently completed a large prune dryer in Middleton, was a business caller a few days ago. Mr. True states that he is now very busy getting in his hops, and he expects to start up his prune dryer just as soon as the hops are out of the way.

GALES CREEK.

Farmers Painting Up—First Lumber Shipped from New Mill—Grain Yield Disappointing—Visitors.

Gales Creek, Sept. 2.—Mr. Adkins' daughter is visiting her parents this week.—Mr. J. P. Lilly started for Southern Oregon and California Monday to visit his daughters and sons in that vicinity. He has been having very poor health and it is hoped the trip will help him.—Mr. J. D. Short has been giving his house a white coat for winter. We are glad to note people painting their houses, as it beautifies the home.—Mr. Clarence Miller has just finished sawing a carload of lumber for the Omaha Bridge Co. It will be a sample, and the first from his new mill. We hope many more carloads will follow.—The newest thing out is Sargent's shooting gallery.—Messdames Sargent and Bateman have just returned from a visit to California.—Some of our neighbors, who have been threshing were rather disappointed in the yield, although the grain standing in the field looked well.—People are preparing to go hop-picking and the general conversation is: Are you going to pick hops? Where?—Mrs. Mary Ranes is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heisler.

Many Visitors—Off to the Hop Fields—Expert Lady Bicyclist—Gales Creek's Good Roads.

Gales Creek, Sept. 3.—Farmers are hustling their grain through the machine at a rapid rate.—The recent rains found considerable grain in the shocks, and some uncut. Another rain would spoil the best part of the crop.—Mrs. John Rains, of Pampa, Wn., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Heisler.—Miss Hazel Sovereign, of Portland, is the guest of Mrs. John Proctor.—The unusual sight of a lady riding a wheel and carrying a watermelon was witnessed by a few Gales Creek people on Sunday last. This is something which few ladies could do. It also spoke well for the excellent condition of our roads.—Mrs. Will Burchell, of Eastern Oregon, is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.—Several wagonloads of hop pickers have left here for Yamhill county.—Will Pool, of Hillsdale, will commence picking his hops the first of next week.—Mrs. A. C. Sargent, who has returned from her California trip, reports a pleasant visit.—Last Sunday Attorney Hoffman, Tom Brown, J. T. Fletcher and Mrs. O. C. Hiatt, of Forest Grove, were Gales Creek visitors.—On Tuesday Grant Hughes and wife passed through our city on their way to Forest Grove.—On Thursday of this week Mrs. Guy Thrapp goes to spend two weeks with her father at Hopewell.

BEAVERTON.

Marketing Onions—Railway Burning Coal on Hill Engine—Sick People Improving—Masonic Lodge Has Work—Hoppickers Strike.

Beaverton, Sept. 3.—The gardeners have begun to put their onions on the market. They report their crops as being about up to the average yield.—Threshing is mostly done in this vicinity. The farmers all report a good yield this year.—Harry Morton took a load of fruit into Portland Monday for S. N. Fuller.—C. E. Hedge was in Portland Monday on business.—On account of attending school, Miss Jennie Thorn will not give music lessons to her pupils here any longer.—Are you going to pick hops? is the question of the day, and most every one answers, "Yes."—Rev. Mr. Horner says he isn't going to walk with a "Cain" any longer.—The S. P. Co. seems to realize that wood is getting scarce, as they have changed the hill engine which comes to this place into a coal burner.—The hop yard east of town on Mr. Mott's farm, run by a Chinese, was begun on Wednesday.—Mr. J. N. Fischer's family are reported to be on the mend, except Miss Dora.—The hop pickers in the yard east of town all went on a strike Wednesday noon. They ask for 50 cents a box; as the hop growers are getting a good price for their hops, they think they deserve more for picking.—Mr. Henry Fuhrer, a prominent dairyman from near Ralleg, passed through town Wednesday.—Mr. Ralph Wahn, from Cedar Mills, passed through here Wednesday on his way up the valley to weigh hops.—Mr. Grangeorge and wife, Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. Meagher, Chas. Johnson and wife, Mrs. E. M. Woods and Calvin Barnes, all left for the hop yards up the valley Wednesday morning.—The Masons met in regular session here Tuesday evening. We are informed that they will have work in the E. A. degree at their next regular meeting.—It is getting very smoky again this fall. According to the old adage, "Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire," there is fire nearby.

Family Reunion at Centerville.

An interesting family reunion occurred Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Lom, of Centerville. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vandehey and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and family, Mrs. Kaiser and two children, Mrs. Wm. Green and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vanderzanden.—Messdames Green, Kiaser, Vandehey and Smith are sisters of Mrs. Van Lom, and Mrs. Vanderzanden is their mother.
