

CORRESPONDENCE.

Horne-Cain Wedding — Sidewalk Repairing — Many Off to the Hop-Fields—Sunday Visitors — Early Onions—Drainage Ditch Cleaning.

Beaverton, Sept. 2.—Rev. E. R. Horner and Mrs. E. R. Cain were married Sunday, August 30, at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. S. L. Lee officiating. Daniel Bailey having disposed of his household goods at public auction last Saturday, with his family is visiting friends in Forest Grove, and will leave the latter part of this week for the East, where they will make their home. The city marshal is doing some good work in the shape of repairs to the sidewalk from the post-office to the school house. Among the people who have gone away to pick hops are Mrs. Dr. Robinson and children, Joseph and Julia Frohauer, John Byrne and family, Claude Chamberlin and family, Alfred Davies and family, Mrs. Rolfe and children, Mrs. R. Kennedy and family.—Hop picking in the Mott yard began Sept. 2. At noon of the first day the pickers struck for a 10-cent per box raise. They were getting 40 cents and wanted 50. No decision as yet.—Among the visitors who spent Sunday in Beaverton were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilmot, Albert Bagley, Miss Louis Vincent, Misses Daphne, Winifred and Francis Hills, Louis Bougher, Fred Foster and friends.—A number of Beaverton young people attended a dance at Cedar Mill last Saturday night and report a fine time.—C. L. Mittel left last Saturday for a visit to Eastern Oregon in the hope of benefiting his health.—The family of G. W. Tefft have returned from Carrolton, Wash., where they have been spending the summer at Mr. Tefft's sawmill.—Wm. Tucker departed Saturday last for another visit to his son Thomas in the Prineville country.—Robt. HILLSIDE.

Profitable Ice Cream Social — Summer Boarders Going Home—Satisfactory Harvest—Drier to Start Up.
Hillside, Sept. 3.—The ice cream social given by the Christian Endeavor last Saturday night well rewarded the efforts of those who bore the burden of getting things ready, as $10 was cleared after expenses were paid. We were glad to see Thatcher, as well as other neighborhoods, represented, and hope they had a good time, although it is hard to entertain so many.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Catto and daughter, Marcella, spent their week's vacation with Mrs. Curtis. As all vacation weeks, the time was spent in rustication and wearing a small cap to get as badly sunburnt as possible. Falling trees, making apple cider, and hunting chipmunks, etc., was the program of the short week.—Mrs. Watkins has moved to the Grove, and has rented her place in Hillside.—Mrs. Fithian, who has been boarding with Mrs. Curtis, was called to Pennsylvania on account of her father's illness.—Mrs. Woods and daughter, Mabel, are the only boarders left now, and they expect to go soon.—Threshing is nearly over at our little neighborhood, and everybody is well pleased with the harvest.—Miss Eva Curtis is now visiting with her sister in Kansas. She reports that she is having a good time and spending a pleasant vacation.—Willie Claysohen is able to get around nearly as well as ever.—Will Dunsmore will soon start his drier.—Mr. Peter Crook, from Illinois, is visiting with his sister, Mrs. Henry Bamford.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bamford left for a short visit in Portland Thursday.

The vehicle was quite badly broken by colliding with a post.—Rev. I. He is an industrious, intelligent, Christian gentleman, and just such we want in these parts.—Miss Mack has returned from her visit to Portland.—Chas. McClanghery from Patton's mill, was down on business last week.—Mr. Schoolcraft is building a new house.—Messrs. Geo. Briggs, Chas. Odell and their families have got back from a two weeks' trip to their homesteads in Lincoln county. They caught 50 of the speckled beauties in one day.—Mr. Reed was at Hillsboro last week.—It is reported that some one has, or is soon to start, a saloon here, but it is most sincerely hoped by the respectable part of the community that the report is unfounded. We have corruption enough already without the stench of one of these vile dens in our nostrils.

Dilley, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Misenhamer and Mrs. Branaman are visitors at the home of Mr. Wm. Stephens.—Elder Dunlap, of Seattle, is holding meetings in the Advent church. F. Van Meter made a flying trip to Portland last week to see his sister, who was going East.—Mrs. Hattie Burchel, of Eastern Oregon, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buckenbaum.—Mr. Newt Miller and family have moved to Aberdeen, Wash.—We are very sorry to hear that we are going to have a saloon in our little town. That is something we could very well do without.—Mr. Al Steward has moved into the Frank Uim house.

KANE-CONTRIS WEDDING.

Married—At their future home in Forest Grove, at high noon Wednesday, by the Rev. Daniel Staver, Miss Florence Contris and Mr. Frank T. Kane, in the presence of the members of their families and near relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Kane left on the afternoon train for Portland for a brief trip, as Mr. Kane's duties as cashier of the bank and mayor make an extended absence impossible. There were no attendants, and the ceremony was marked by simplicity, but Miss Helen Gebbie, of Portland, played beautifully Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride was gowned in a white swiss organdie, with trimmings of red lace and carried a handsome bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Kane's popularity in Forest Grove was shown by a large array of lovely wedding remembrances of cut-glass, tableware and china, while four elections as mayor attest Mr. Kane's standing in his home city. The news regrets that the fault of the Portland postoffice in delaying photos made it impossible to present the portraits of these popular young people, to whom, with the rest of the city, it joins in wishing long life, happiness and ever joy. Mr. and Mrs. Kane will be at home in the cottage just vacated by Dr. and Mrs. Hovey, who have gone to Mexico, after September 17th.

DEATHS.

Mr. Hake served in the Confederate army, enlisting in a Virginia regiment, but had won the esteem of all the old soldiers and his last request was that he be buried by the Union veterans. He was a member of the Cong. church, but felt that he had not received the attention to which he was entitled, so requested that the church should have no part in the last rites over his remains.
McDaniel—At his late home near Kist, in Columbia county, on August 29, Marion McDaniel, aged 69. He succumbed to the poisonous gas in an old well he was cleaning out, and never recovered consciousness. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. It will cost about $2,000,000 to build the line proposed from Oregon City through Oswego, Willsburg and Milwaukie.

An expensive bride will have to be built across the Willamette, and a steel viaduct across a part of Kellogg Lake, near Milwaukie. Orders will probably be given within a short time for the survey of the proposed Hillsboro cutoff, a piece of work that includes 15 miles of railroad building. He was recognized by the ladies as the educated burglar who took $7.50 cash, two valuable rings and a gold watch from the home of E. H. Warren, near Hillsboro, Tuesday morning. Mrs. McKinder, a guest from California, was awakened by an attempt to chloroform her, and her cry awakened Miss Minnie Warren, who, in an attempt to uncover the burglar's mask, disarranged it enough to see brown eyes and his curly hair, while the voice left no doubt in the ladies' minds that it was the preacher who had been their guest a week before. Mr. Warren came up from downstairs and tried to use a rock on the intruder, but was driven away by a shot from his revolver. While he was arranging his disguise the ladies disappeared through the window onto the porch, slid to the ground and called the neighbors. Kennedy showed up home the second day, claiming to have been timber cruising in Clackamas county, but Sheriff Sewell followed his trail and found enough other evidence, with the ladies' identification, to justify the arrest. A roll of $50, greenbacks, in the same hand satchel from which he got his plunder, was overlooked by the housebreaker.
