

TO..... OUR READERS BOOTH TARKINGTON'S Great American Story

THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA

Will be published in this paper beginning in a few days. We are not going to say much about it and we will tell you why.

If we describe the story as it is you will say before you have read it that we have greatly exaggerated. After you have read it you will say we failed to do it justice.

It is the story of a fearless editor who incurred the hatred of white caps and was murderously attacked by them, and—but we must not say what came of it, for that would be telling, and would take away from your pleasure in reading it.

It pictures vividly a phase of life which is too common in America.

It ought to be read by every man who loves his country and by every person who loves a lover—for the hero is a passionate lover, whose love making is superb.

We know you will read it if you dip into the first chapters—and our word for it, you will enjoy it as you have seldom enjoyed a story.

MUST BE IN STYLE.

A woman lives across the street
Who sews both night and day;
Her children are precise and neat,
Almost too nice to play,

For she's a machine,

As she stitches there,

A sewing machine,

With a bundle of care,

A human sewing machine.

She gets no time to read or play,
Her sewing's never done;

She puzzles over fashions gay
From morn to set of sun,

For she's a machine

As she works all day,

A sewing machine

As she stitches away,

A human sewing machine.

Her husband's sure to step on frills
If he approaches near;

He flinches when he pays the bills,
For fripperies are dear,

And his wife's a machine,

With a constant tread,

A sewing machine

Made of needles and thread,

A human sewing machine.

Unless her shroud is made with care
And in the latest style,

When dead she'll not rest anywhere;

She'll worry all the while,

For she's a machine,

Though she'll die some day,

A sewing machine

That runs away,

A human sewing machine.

Theory and Practice.

"It is the little things that annoy us, things which by force of will we can brush aside as we pursue the even tenor of our way,"

said the new thought professor or who was delivering a lecture to the Don't Worry club.

Just then the professor sat down on the smallest sized tack made, and his theories took flight in an instant.

He Is Your Enemy.

When gentle, health restoring sleep
Your tired form is winking.
The fish man then with accents deep,
His chosen task pursuing.

Comes round the atmosphere to jar
And spoil your dreams narcotic,
You wish to goodness you were czar Possessed of powers despotic.

What would you do to make him stop?
You'd have that harsh voice grated Or taken to the butcher shop
And rudely amputated.

A Sale of Change.

"I think these American hay presses would fill a long felt want in Columbia."

"Do they raise much hay down there?"

"I was thinking how handy they would be to bale hay so that change could be more easily made."

Had Use For Them.

"How many dentists does that college turn out every year?" asked the African monarch who was going about seeing the sights.

"About 400," replied the guide.

"I wish I had that college at home.
There is nothing I would like better than to be able to kill a dentist every morning before breakfast."

Thinking of the Present.

"Johnny, what becomes of little boys who tell lies when they grow up?"

"I don't know, but when they are small they escape half of the licks."

SUMMONS.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR WASH-INGTON COUNTY

Joseph S. Lilly, Plaintiff vs Martha L. Lilly, Defendant

To Martha L. Lilly, the above named defendant:

In the name of the state of Oregon: You are hereby commanded and required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, in the above entitled court, on or before the expiration of six weeks next from, and after, the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: The first publication of said summons being on December 18, 1906, and if you fail so to appear and answer said complaint for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the above entitled court for the relief prayed for and demanded in his said complaint, to-wit:
For a decree dissolving and annulling the marriage and marriage contract now and heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant and for such other and further relief as the court may seem just and equitable in the premises.

This summons is served on you by publication by order of Hon. T. A. McBride, Judge of the above entitled court, which said order was made and dated at Hillsboro, Oregon, on December 12, 1906, and directs that this summons be published for six successive and consecutive weeks in the Hillsboro Independent.

H. T. BAGLEY,
(31-37) Attorney for Plaintiff.
