Politics—All is quiet along the Potomac.

The road question—Entombed in memory.

The Tillamook railway is still agitated. Missourians must be shown.

"The Newcomer"—Where is the Civic Improvement Society's street signs?

Has Forest Grove forgotten that the Fourth of July should be celebrated at home?

A salesman recently came to the Grove to sell pneumatic cushions to be used in vehicles running between the depot and the city. Our reputation has escaped.

At Corvallis another life of uselessness departed this existence, but not until it robbed us of noblemen. Why will young men drink and gamble away their souls when pure and upright lives bring certain reward?

The far east is still shrouded in darkness as far as real knowledge is concerned. At present we are expecting news of an engagement on land of some importance. Kuropatkin is an active, aggressive opponent and the Japanese will have no easy task making headway against his strategy.

Merchantile Change

Mr. Dugan, of the firm of Dugan & Watrous, has sold his interest in that big department store to M. S. Allen, who recently came here from Arnold, Nebraska. Mr. Dugan has been planning for some time to retire from the active business field and his withdrawal at this time was no surprise to his many friends. He has been actively engaged in business for many years and deserves the rest he has planned. Mr. Watrous who remains with the business is well-known here to everyone and his energetic and progressive ideas have placed him foremost among the city's live, up-to-date merchants. His persistent and honest methods and hustle have won for him an enviable reputation as it will be remembered that he has been associated with this business in its present location for several years, the firm originally being Dugan, Watrous & Haines. Later Mr. Haines retired to enter the banking business.

Mr. M. S. Allen, the new stockholder is a man who comes to us with the highest recommendations as a progressive and reliable business man. He has for years been engaged in merchantile pursuits as well as an owner of large interests in live stock and lands. We owe his removal to our county to a visit paid to friends here last fall at which time he became impressed with our country and climate and decided to make this his future home. We are more than pleased to welcome him to our business life. The new firm will be known as the Watrous & Allen Co., (Incorporated), with a capital stock of $25,000 and will continue with the brightest prospects for advancement. Their rank as merchants will be upheld by the same enterprising methods which have marked their past prosperity.

At the hotel last week a traveling salesman pronounced their stock of goods to be one of the most complete and up-to-date stocks on the coast.

Corea

In the college chapel, on last Tuesday evening, Dr. Wells gave a very interesting lecture on Corea. Dr. Wells has spent the past nine years in Corea, and is well versed in the Corean habits, customs, and development. He said that Corea had made no material growth until 1866, when some American sailors became acquainted with the fact that Corea possessed wealthy gold mines. However, the intellectual development did not begin until 1883, when Dr. Allen began his missionary work in Corea, assisted by other workers, the most prominent of whom is Miss Best of Forest Grove. The religious awakening has been the greatest in the world for ten years ago there were only a little over a hundred converts, they now numbering into the thousands.

Dilley

Mrs. Dunbar, of Buxton, is visiting here with her many friends this week.

Earl VanMeter of Portland, spent Sunday at home with his parents.

Lennie Wilks returned from Washington last Friday.

Rev. Anderson of Cornelius, preached in the Advent church Sunday.

The ice cream social given in the Artesan hall last Friday evening, was well attended. After the ice cream was served, the young folks played games until a late hour.

Mrs. Mattie Miller and daughter Minnie, are visiting on Gales Creek.

Earnest Hubbert of Banks, was in town Saturday.

Hazel Hughes, who has been quite sick with pneumonia, is able to be out again.

Eva Alexander is visiting friends in Hillsboro.

Mrs. Maury and Merle spent Sunday with Mrs. Rice, on Gales Creek.

Claude Wiles' baby, who has been quite sick, is better.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen have returned home from their long visit in Portland.

Newton Hoover, from Harney, Oregon, is visiting Mrs. Sallie Hoover.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. have arranged for a union service of all the city churches at the Congregational church, the Sunday before Memorial day. Every one is cordially invited. The speaker will be announced later.

Cream As A Crop

Harvesting Machinery

There are two machines necessary for harvesting a crop of cream or butter. Each of the two is essential. Each one is as necessary as the other if the full results are to be obtained.

Machine No. 1 is the cow, the grass machine.

Machine No. 2 is the separator, the skimming machine.

You would not think of putting in wheat if a flail was your only threshing machine. It is just as ridiculous to think of getting big re-

Any Better Than None

turns from a crop of cream without a skimming machine as it would be to get value out of a crop of wheat without threshing it by up-to-date methods. Any harvesting machine, even a self-rake, is better than none at all. Any hand separator is better than none at all. A separator is as much a necessity as is the milker or the cow itself.

There is a big difference in separators, but the difference is not enough to make any of the standard makes a bad buy. Some separators wear longer than others, but almost any one will pay for itself before it gives any trouble, or wears out. Some Separators skim a little smoother than others, but all of them will skim from one-fifth to one-fourth more butter fat than can be obtained in the old fashioned way of skimming from pans. Some separators are simpler to operate than others, but there is none among the standard makes but what is simpler to operate than making butter on the farm.

We endorse the U. S. hand separator because it has convinced our cream patrons and ourselves that it is the best.

Gentlemen:—Please send me information about the U. S. hand separator. I have . . . cows.
