A pleasant social dance was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson near Gales Creek last week, about twenty-five guests were in attendance and after the dancing a splendid supper was served which was greatly enjoyed by all. Sam Varley and Ben Bateman furnished the music.

Mrs. Wilber McEldowney, one of the best talented and most popular vocalists in town, has a large class at North Yamhill. As a vocalist Mrs. McEldowney has an enviable reputation here and the people of North Yamhill are fortunate in having such an able instructor in their town.

Mr C. C. Hooper of Gaston, a war veteran of nearly 70 years of age, can hold down the shooting record against the younger generation. His targets are gophers which are very annoying to himself and neighbors, who have offered him ten cents a piece for all he will kill upon their premises. His income is no small sum from this source alone. One day last week out of 15 shots he bagged 14 gophers and it is but fair to say that he did not see the one he missed, but saw only the motion of the grass through which it was running.

Wm. Nelson of Gales Creek, a thrifty and energetic farmer and dairyman of that locality, made a splendid record in the dairy business this season. During the past five months he milked 15 cows selling the milk to the P. C. Condensed Milk Co., and realized a total of $546 or $10.92 for each cow per month. Considering the labor and amount invested it is apparent that the dairy business is one of the best in the country.

Henry E. Cheneey, son of Elbridge Cheneey, who has been serving Uncle Sam in the Philippines for over three years, arrived at San Francisco Monday on the Transport Sherman. For the past few months he was not in the army but has been an able assistant in the quartermaster department of the service as a civilian. He will arrive home in a few days.

The much advertised 4 George Company appeared before a well filled house here on Monday night. The lady violinist and lady contortionist were the only features of the program partially worth the 50 cents charged for admittance. They exercised their nerve in springing a bunch of antique gags and worn out songs on the house. They might be called a fair two bit show.

George Armentrout is a firm believer in mutual insurance. His country home burned down last Wednesday and in five days the inspection had been made, the loss adjusted and the insurance paid. He carries his insurance in the Oregon Fire Relief Association and will have no other.

Sunday services at the Christian Church, subject of morning sermon: "The Church of Christ and its Privileges." Evening: "The Road to Heaven." Evening sermon from black board diagram. Everybody invited to attend these services.

Miss Manche Langley entertained a number of friends at her home Friday evening with an impromptu musical program after which a dainty luncheon was served. Everyone present had a jolly good time.
