Forest Grove should be well pleased with the advancement that the conservatory of music has made under the efficient direction of Prof. Chapman, assisted by his talented wife. A city which has musical advantages is much more desirable as a home than one without such refining influence.

The concert which Watrous & Allen Co., gave Saturday afternoon and evening was highly appreciated as was evidenced by the crowds which thronged their big store from noon until they closed the doors late in the evening. The best musical talent of the city was secured and on every side compliments could be heard relative to the fine vocal and instrumental selections rendered and commending the Watrous & Allen Co. for the courteous treatment they accord their patrons. Live and energetic firms like Watrous & Allen Co. are a credit to any city.

JOHN FALKENHAGEN,
Cornelius, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bagwill and his son C. W. Bagwill have purchased the Newton ranch and other property southwest of the Grove and will make it into a pleasant home. For years Mr. Bagwill and later with his son has been associated with the active business life of his Nebraska home in banking and other business lines. We are glad to have them enter our community, being estimable gentlemen and a credit to our social life.
