Cornelius

Received too late for last issue

The grand barbecue came off according to the plan laid down, and was carried through without a jar. A cordial welcome was accorded to all without reference to their political affiliations.

D. J. Malarkey of Portland, M. O. Toole of Salem, Binger Hermann, our esteemed member of congress, and Wm. Barrett of Hillsboro, spoke at considerable length, reviewing the past measures of the opposing political parties and comparing results, also present conditions as compared with those existing under other administrations. The candidates for the different offices on the republican ticket were presented to the audience and each one made a few appropriate remarks. The exercises were interspersed with music by the Verboort band and a choir made up from local talent, also a flag drill by the children, which was executed in a manner which was creditable to both children and teacher. Everything passed off in a pleasant and harmonious manner.

We have a good clean ticket. Don't forget to vote June 6th.

Gales Creek
