Last year, although handicapped by an injured knee, he won four first places in the meet with the University of Oregon. He is a sprinter with excellent records in all the dashes, and also has done the half-mile in 2:03. In the broad jump he has cleared 21 feet 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. No man in school is more enthusiastic or better able to help in putting out another team that will win the state championship.

Epworth League Meeting

Last Friday evening about thirty-five young people gathered at the home of Miss Daisy Morgan, and spent one of the most delightful evenings it is possible for one to enjoy. The occasion was a business meeting of the Epworth League. The following officers were elected: Pres., Haven Belknap; 1st. vice pres., A. J. Prideaux; 2nd vice, Prof. Woods; 3rd vice, Lorena Belknap; 4th vice Maud Hollinger; sec., Daisy Morgan; treas., Loyd Baldwin, Organist, Miss Jackson; Choirister, Mr. Prideaux. Eleven members also were added to the League, ten active, and one associate. It was voted to hold the business meetings monthly hereafter, the time named being the first Friday of each month. After the business was transacted, came the social part. The Misses Morgan and Hoffman were the hostesses, and the efficiency of these young ladies as entertainers was abundantly proven by the splendid manner in which everyone enjoyed himself. The amusements were ideal. Three poems by different authors were written on cards, one or two lines on each card, and distributed among the guests. Each one was required to find the rest of the poem of which his lines formed a part. The Longfellows certainly deserved their name, judging from the time they spent at the table. "Fizz" and "Buzz" also had a prominent place in the amusements. Misses Morgan and Hoffman and Haven Belknap favored the company with several piano solos. At eleven o'clock the company broke up, everyone feeling that he had spent a profitable evening.
