A Nuisance.

What? Who? Any one who rings the door bell and leaves a handbill wound about the door knob. A man or boy may not be seriously thought of who ventures upon private property and noiselessly leaves his advertisement; but he who comes to the door, rings the bell, takes one from their work, simply to find the program of a minstrel troupe or even a sacred concert, takes an unauthorized liberty, and, as the matter stands now, through an almost deily repetition, becomes a nuisance. Whoever you are, man or boy, remember this, you have no more right to pull a door bell for the purposes of advertisement than you have to pull a person's nose.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Unless a man is rich he ought to be regarded as a criminal if he permits his sons or daughters to become musicians. In the musical profession there are a few prizes not of the largest, but for the largest number of interpretative artists the life is one of drudgery-the drudgery of learning. the drudgery of pushing one's self into notice and after all the continual drudgery of playing or singing just the music the public wants. I recommend no one to enter such a profession unless he or she loves music to such a degree that the drudgery is a pleasure.-John F. Runciman in Saturday

Censorship in Russia. A correspondent tells the following story of methods of censorship in Rus-

I was at an evening party of the local press censor in a south Russian town. About midnight I had strolled from the music room into a card room, | and was watching a game of cards, one of the players being our host, the censor, when the hostess approached her husband.

"I wish, my dear, you would step behind. There are three poor devils -Yes, he struggled all right, but he there who have been waiting for you couldn't get away. a couple of hours. I did not wish to disturb you sooner.'

His Greatest Work.

"I suppose you saw the Venus of Milo," said the eager art student to the young man who had just made a rapid tour of the European continent.

He nodded, after a slight hesitation. "I did," he said, cautiously, "and I thought 'twas about the best piece of art over there. Of course that's only my idea."

"Many people agree with you," said the art student, approvingly. "It is

A Disappointed Cannibal.

A pathetic story of a disappointed cannibal is told in an English religious paper. "One day," says a missionary, "I was eating some canned sheep's tongues that had been sent from home One of my natives, seeing me, jumped with delight. He thought they were men's tongues. His gloom on discovering that it was not a religious revival, after all, and that the missionary remained unconverted would have touched the hardest heart."

> Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher. Dr. F. Gerald Blattner, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "Your Castoria is good for Edren and I frequently prescribe it, always obtaining the desired results."

Dr. Gustave A. Elsengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your storia in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use." Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of coile in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it." Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Albert J. Weston, of Cleveland, O., says: "I have used your Castoria in my practice for the past eighteen years with the utmost success."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."
