Pacific University, at Forest Grove, has won ten out of fourteen debates in which it has participated. This is a record of which the school may be proud even though it should lose every foot-ball contest in which it may engage. The debating societies of the colleges are admirable training schools for future public men and that institution which develops good debaters may feel assured that it is accomplishing practical results. To become a good debater requires quick and accurate responding, good command of language, breath of reading, aptness and illustration eloquence of speech, graceful of manner and an understanding of human nature.—Oregonian.

Charged the Jury.

Congressman Sydney Mudd of Maryland is said to have told this story about an old negro who by some peculiar election twist was elected a justice of the peace in the back woods of Georgia.

His first case happened to be one in which the defendant asked for a trial by jury. When the testimony was all in and the argument had been concluded, the lawyers waited for the judge to proceed with his instructions to the jury. The justice seemed somewhat embarrassed. Finally one of the lawyers whispered to him to charge the jury.

Looking at the jury with a grim, judicial air, the judge said:

"Gentlemen ob de jury, sense dis is a very small case, I'll jes' charge y'all a dollar an' a ha'f a piece."—New York Times.
