TO HONOR THE DEAD

Memorial Services by the G. A. R. Post and Ladies Relief Corps Next Tuesday

Judge W. H. Hollis Will Deliver Address at the Congregational Church

Forty years have come and gone since the grandest volunteer army that was ever marshaled under any banner, disbanded after a service of four years. They had demonstrated to the world that the United States contained a people so patriotic and so heroic that they were capable of maintaining the integrity of the Republic under the severest tests possible.

The victories won by that army were world wide in their influence upon the nations of the world.

Hundreds of thousands of that Grand Army laid down their lives on the battlefields for their country and many more hundreds of thousands were disabled by wounds received on the line of battle or by disease contracted in the camps and filthy prison pens to succumb only a little later and surrender up their lives, a patriotic sacrifice on the altar of their country.

The survivors of this Grand Army instituted Memorial Day as a day upon which they would meet in their respective neighborhoods and go in a body to the cemeteries and strew flowers upon the graves of their comrades, who had perished that their country might live.

To these gatherings all loyal people have ever been invited.

This day, May 30, of each year has, by Act of Congress, been set apart to honor the memories of the dead heroes.

The veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold their Annual Memorial Day exercises, on May 30, all over the broad land, in memory of the service rendered by their comrades and for the diffusion of the principles of a more stalwart patriotism. The Day is not theirs alone, it belongs to the Nation, and all truly loyal citizens should join in the promotion of these patriotic exercises for the purpose of inculcating a spirit of patriotism more firmly in the minds of the rising generation.

The organized army of the United States, even if we include the militia of all the States, is of insignificant proportions when put in contrast with the armies of the other great powers of the world.

Our strength is not in standing armies but in the great reserve to be found in the young of our land, who come to the defense of their country in its time of peril.

The strength and defense of our institutions, not only in peace but in war, is to be found in the young of the land who have received from the lips of patriotic teachers the story of the sacrifices which our fathers made to establish our civil institutions and which service their sons have repeated on hundreds of battlefields.

This Post and the Woman's Relief Corps will meet at G. A. R. Post room at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Sunday, May 28, 1905, and march in a body to the Congregational Church where services will be held at 11 o'clock sharp, as previously announced. On Tuesday, May 30, 1905, this Post and the Woman's Relief Corps will meet at G. A. R. Post room at 10 o'clock a. m. and march to the Naylor Cemetery, and after decorating the graves of comrades will assemble at the Monument to the unknown dead where the usual ritualistic services for the dead will be held.

The procession will then return to the Post and disband until two o'clock p. m. when they will reassemble at the Congregational Church where Judge W. H. Hollis will deliver the Memorial Day address.

We earnestly desire the children of the schools and all patriotic citizens to join with us in these services so that what we call Memorial Day may be to our dead their day of Coronation.

We also earnestly desire that all business houses of the city will close from 10 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday, May 30, 1905.

J. W. WHEELER,

Commander.

Will Build Parsonage.

The trustees of the Congregational church met at the church Monday evening and decided to build a $2,000 parsonage. A lot has been bargained for from Mrs. Percus Chandler, which is located on Second avenue between First and Second street. A committee was appointed to secure plans, etc., and the building will soon be commenced.

Another important decision of the trustees, was that of turning the church square over to the Civic Improvement Society for a period of ten years, same to be used as a park. The society will have to bear all assessments for street and sidewalk improvements adjacent to the portion to be used for park purposes.

The charge is brought by the children of Mrs. Darling Smith, the co-defendant, and connected with the arrest is the fact that in his will Mr. Smith stipulated that his widow should have a life interest in the $20,000 estate as long as she remained unmarried. It is reported that Ives and Mrs. Smith were married while visiting the Omaha Exposition.
