The City Laundry packed its machinery and left on the Wednesday morning train for Chehalis, Wash., where they will again install for business. The field there offers a much larger yield than here, hence the move.

We'll put Washington County against the world when it comes to raising gooseberries. Our friend G. W. McGraw, who resides in the thriving settlement of Kansas City, brought to this office Saturday a small sackfull of the largest gooseberries we ever saw. The largest one actually measured 3½ inches in circumference, and Mr. McGraw says they are plentiful in his neighborhood.

Friday night's south bound train knocked a man off of the bridge near Bertha, and he was instantly killed. He was on a trestle when the train came along and was unable to reach either end, but laid down on the guard railing and would have been safe had he not raised up just in time for the steps of the last car to strike him. He was taken to Portland but could not be identified.

Miss Wavelle Cunningham of Pendleton, and a former student of Pacific University, committed suicide in a Portland rooming house, last Friday. She had been arrested in San Francisco a few days before on the charge of passing a worthless check, but the matter was settled by her father. She took a pillow from the bed and placed it at the foot, and then connected the gas jet by a small tube, and after placing her head under the pillow she turned on the gas.

A booklet issued annually by the Oregon Pioneer Association which is just out contains a diary kept by Mrs. Cecelia McMellen Adams, sister of Mrs. Stephen Blank of this city. The diary is complete from Wednesday, May 26, 1862 until Sunday, October 24 of the same year when the party arrived at a farm near Reedville this county. The accounts are accurately connected and extremely interesting. One of the most noted incidents following this story is the fact that each day was counted from six to eighteen graves, filled by emigrants who lost their lives from cholera and smallpox which infested almost every train.

Development League Meeting.

The Willamette Valley Development League held the second convention at Independence Monday and Tuesday. A good program was had and many prominent men from over the state were present. Judge W. H. Hollis of this city was present and delivered an address on, "Ownership of Public Utilities." Col. Haynes was on the program but could not attend. The meeting appointed only one committee and of which Mr. Hollis had the honor of being chairman. The committee is for the purpose of an open free harbor on the sea and is composed of the following: Judge W. H. Hollis, chairman, Washington Co.; L. M. Gilbert, Marion; I. H. Bingham, Lane; Geo. A. Hurley, Polk; Punderson Avery; Benton; B. F. Jones, Lincoln; Chas. Grissen, Yamhill; W. P. Elmore, Linn; Frank Jagger, Clackamas.

The next meeting will be held at Eugene. A barbecue and clam bake were the principal features of Monday night's entertainment.

WASHINGTON'S BIG TREE

Mammoth Fir on Gales Creek Will Probably Be at Lewis and Clark Fair

The Board of Trade together with other interested parties are endeavoring to exhibit the big fir tree, which has its abode on Gales Creek, at the Fair. There are perhaps a great many people both in this county and city who do not know about this mammoth monarch of the forest and were it stated that it is perhaps the largest fir in the world, would take it with so many grains of doubt, but it is true nevertheless. The tree is 41 feet in circumference, 13½ in diameter. Its height has never been measured but it is said that it maintains its enormity to a remarkable height before tapering. It contains enough lumber to build 17 good sized two story houses; every 5½ inches in height measures 1000 feet of lumber. It is calculated that it will take ten days to fell it, and four feet at the base is estimated to weigh 5 tons.

Mr. Patton of the Base Line Lumber Company is deeply interested in exhibiting the tree at the Fair and has offered to build an extra half mile of skid road in order that it can be moved. Should the effort to move it prevail it will be a wonder, even to the oldest Oregonian.

Miss Shannon as Teacher.

Miss Maud Shannon has been chosen vocal teacher in the conservatory of music at the Pacific University in the place of Miss Linehan who has resigned. Miss Shannon is one of Forest Grove's most popular young ladies, who bears the reputation of a high class musician besides being the possessor of a sweet, voluminous voice. Her many friends are pleased to note her new position.

Toothbrushes.

The Buffalo Commercial records that a customer asked one of the women at the counter in a Main street drug store if he could take home some toothbrushes "on approval." The somewhat astonished young woman answered that she did not believe that the firm would allow it. "Now, possibly that strikes you as improbable," said the man in charge of the pharmacy counter, "but only last week I personally sold to a woman a toothbrush. Yesterday she brought it back and said it hurt her mouth and asked if we would be willing to exchange it."

Satisfaction.

Mrs. Upmore—You found a house to suit you at last, did you? Mrs. Highmuss—Yes, I found one yesterday morning, and I amused myself the rest of the day by going around among the real estate agents and asking them if they had an eligible flat to rent to a family with fourteen children. You don't know how much fun it was to watch them go into convulsion fits.—Chicago Tribune.

Still in Service.

"Can't yer do a little somethin' fer an old soldier?" whined Tired Tiffins. "Well, I don't know," replied the portly citizen. "If you can show your discharge papers, I may do something for you."

"I hain't been discharged yet, boss," replied the hobo. "It's soldier of fortune I am."—Pittsburg Post.

Wasn't Wise.

J.—So you told Mrs. Cunningham that she looked as young as her daughter. I suppose that caught the old lady? B.—Yes, but it lost me the daughter.—Stray Stories.

When the fool has made up his mind the market is gone by.—Spanish Proverb.

The worst bankruptcy is to lose heart.
