Forest Grove residents were treated to a genuine electrical and thunder storm on Saturday morning at sunrise. At Portland the storm was the most severe and the rain came down in torrents, filling cellars and flooding the streets.

Geo. Wilcox of Cornelius, now interested in a large sawmill between that place and Scappoose, was in town Friday taking orders for lumber, among which was a bill for the beautiful residence to be begun immediately for N. L. Atkins.

Thos. McClelland, D. D., formerly president of Pacific University, but now president of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., and family, will arrive in Forest Grove shortly to spend the summer, and visit the Lewis and Clark fair. They will be guests at Herrick Hall.

July 12 will be Advertising Men's Day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association will be in session on that date. This association is working along very broad lines for the promotion of the coast and its products and for the elevation of advertising and the betterment of the craft.

Lars Neilsen residing 2 miles southeast of Reedville, committed suicide by shooting himself while in bed about five o'clock last Thursday morning. His little nine year old son was sleeping with him at the time. Neilsen brought his family here from Nebraska about a year ago. The cause of the deed is thought to be because Neilsen had a "vision" which he thought would eventually mean that he would lose his farm.

—Hats in all styles and prices at The Chicago store.

Dress Making

Mrs. Viola Lawless desires to inform the Ladies of Forest Grove that she has opened Dress Making Parlors on Fifth Ave., between First and Second. All work is done up to date and satisfaction guaranteed. Prices reasonable. 3

Haven Belknap will resign his position in Hines' drug store next week and after spending the summer vacation here, will attend a school of pharmacy in Indiana. He will be accompanied by Frank Meresse, who has been employed at the same place. Haven and Frank are two of Forest Grove's most popular and industrious young men and their many friends will be glad to learn of their future plans.

The State G. A. R. meeting held at Oregon City last week, besides electing Mrs. Lillian North of this city as junior vice-president, it also distributed two other good offices in Washington county. Col. R. W. McNutt of Cornelius, was made junior-vice commander and Mrs. Helen Gates, of Hillsboro, was elected one of the board of delegates on the Roseburg Cottage Board.

Attorney E. B. Tongue is having the abstract of record printed in the appeal case of Mayor Johnson of Forest Grove, asking the Supreme Court to set aside the decree of the circuit court when His Honor Judge McBride gave Pacific University a permanent injunction denying the right of the Forest Grove council to grant a liquor license. The brief will soon be written and published and the case will get to the Supreme Court early this Fall.—Argus.

After July 1, the salary law will change as to a portion of the Washington county officers. Sheriff Connell will receive $1800 per year, and his chief deputy, F. T. Kane, will receive $900. The office will also receive necessary expenses in serving both civil and criminal papers. Assessor Wilcox will receive $1200 per annum; Deputy Recorder Ireland will receive $600 per year; Deputy Clerk Smith will receive $900 per year. Field deputies in the assessor's charge will get $3 per day.

Is He Sneaking from Experience?

Brothers Woods and Long may take hope that they will get off with as short a term as a Texas Editor who was sentenced last week for the same kind of offense as theirs. He got one year in the penitentiary for criminal libel. With good conduct they can shorten that to nine months and so will be out by time cherries are ripe again.—Times.

We think Brother Hoge might have gone a little further and told us how he succeeded in getting his own case of criminal libel reduced from a term in prison to a fine of $100. We'd rather scrape up a hundred any day than go to jail.

Wood for Sale

I have one hundred cords of first-class fir wood for sale 5 1/2 miles north of town. $1.00 per cord in the timber. H. G. KING, Forest Grove.

For Sale Cheap

A Smith Premier Typewriter in good repair or will trade for pony or good shot gun. T. H. ADAMS.

The Real Shillalah.

The shillalah, accounted Ireland's national weapon of defense, was originally a common blackthorn stick, but in modern times it has been replaced by the more wiry ash sapling. The real shillalah is a young shoot of the slow shrub or blackthorn pulled by the root from the crevice of some rock. After being trimmed it is placed in the smoke of turf peat, which softens the hard fiber, and when it has reached a condition as pliant as rubber it is straightened. When cooled in the air it becomes as strong and firm as iron. The trimming process is then continued, and when it is desired to make a particularly handsome weapon the spurs, so effective in a melee or faction fight, are ornamented with small brass nails.

Natural Preference.

Miss Violet had made a rapid tour of the European continent and found little to impress her, either favorably or otherwise.

"You say you saw all you wanted to of Italy," said a friend on Miss Violet's return to her native heath in Kansas. "What did you think of the lazzaroni?"

"Don't talk to me about it," said Miss Violet briskly. "I'd rather have a good dish of plain American macaroni baked with cheese any time."

Mistaken Kindness.

Jack—Hello, old man! Awfully glad to see you. Here, take off that coat and put on this smoking jacket and make yourself comfortable. Dick—Deuce take it! Do you mean to insinuate that I don't feel comfortable in a dress suit?

Simplicity has always been held to be a mark of truth. It is also a mark of genius.—Schopenhauer.

Jack London, the author of sea stories, not only writes like a sailor and lives like one, having his literary den on shipboard, but dresses and slouches about like a real bo'sun's mate and so looks the part.
